Main activity will take place on Wednesday, however, when the high school band is expected to play a concert downtown in the afternoon and a program is planned for 8:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Featured performer for the evening program is Claude O. Ebling, general agent for the Soo Line railroad.

Heart-of-Home Classes Begin September 11

Physical Limitations Required for Women Enrolled in Program

First class of the Heart-of-the-Home program will be held from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on September 11 in the Northwestern Hospital cafeteria in Thief River Falls, according to Laura Hanson, Heart-of-the-Home chairman. This will be the first in a series of four classes that will continue on each successive Wednesday at the same time.

Any homemaker with physical limitations may enroll. The program is being brought to this area in cooperation with the Minnesota Department of Health, University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension service and the Minnesota Health association.

Homemakers are given free instructions in practical ways of making their housekeeping simpler by the demonstration of work simplification techniques.

"Buying expensive appliances for the home is nice," explains Mrs. Marion Melrose, class instructor, "But everyone cannot afford them. We emphasize the little things which will conserve a homemaker's time and energy. Sometimes a small rack can save a lot of steps, or the addition of a shelf that can be made for almost nothing, can save a tremendous amount of reaching and bending." Mrs. Melrose represents the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service.

Simple reorganization of kitchen utensils and equipment into efficient work centers can save a homemaker who attends these classes as much as sixty-seven miles of walking per year in preparation of just one meal per day.

Any women in the Thief River Falls area who would like to attend these classes may write Laura Hanson, Pennington county home agent, or call 681-2116.

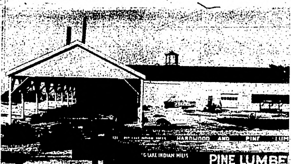
Red Lake Dedicates Its Fifth Sawmill Thursday



EXTERIOR view of the new sawmill at Redby on the Red Lake Indian reservation is shown above. The mill building and equipment is valued at about $300,000 and was paid for entirely by the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians out of earnings from the old mill. No government assistance was provided for the project—a tribute to the progressive action of the people on the reservation. Logs enter the mill at the extreme right, are cut to rough boards and leave the mill via the covered loading area at left. The planing mill is to the rear of the vantage point from which this Times photo was taken.

New Mill at Redby Costs $300,000 in Bands Own Money

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Members of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians received a transfusion of their financial lifeblood Thursday when dedication ceremonies were held for the new sawmill at Redby. Built entirely at the expense of the band with profits from the old mill, the $300,000 plant has increased efficiency by 60 per cent.

In addressing the crowd assembled for the dedication service, W. R. Dickenson, mill manager, stated that the old mill had become obsolete. "The old sawmill has character and personality and has been a good friend to the Red Lake people," he said. "In its 38 years of operation it has paid, in wages, stumpage and net earnings, a total of $8,311,948 directly to the residents of the reservation."

"Nothing is as modern as tomorrow," Dickinson continued. "This mill we are dedicating today is only as modern as today—but it is so constructed as to be able to take advantage of the developments of tomorrow. We must be alert to new innovations and methods. Business is like a bicycle; we must keep it moving or it will fall down."

Dudley Reminisces

Roger Jourdain, chairman of the tribal council, served as master of ceremonies for the dedication program. One of its first speakers was Bill Dudley, 77, a worker at Red Lake Indian mills for 55 years. He told of walking to a knoll near the mill that morning where May-dway-Gon-No-Nind (One Spoken To) one of the early chiefs, had lived and could survey all of Red Lake. Buildings now obstruct the view.

Dudley told of the first boiler-operated mill at Pike Creek and noted that the boiler there had exploded. He said the second boiler had been brought to Shell by oxcart with the road being built ahead of the oxen. Later he helped build a mill at Red Lake and helped build a steamboat to tow logs across the lake from Ponemah. Thirty-eight years ago a mill was built at Redby and the new mill dedicated Thursday was the fifth sawmill for the Red Lake band.

Milton Mater of Corvallis, Ore., whose firm built and installed the mill equipment, stated that the mill was in the best tradition of the American spirit of free enterprise and profit. ". . . and who should have the American spirit any more Business firms, organizations and individuals in Pennington county have been invited by the Pennington County Rural Areas Development organization to become members of the RAD group. The invitations was extended in a letter last week from Cy Carpenter, Thief River Falls, county RAD president.

"The group is designed to study the resources of the county," Carpenter said in the letter. "RAD is also an action group which activates projects to further develop and employ the natural and human resources of the area. We are at the present time studying two projects for Thief River Falls."

Projects mentioned were an alfalfa dehydrating plant and a truck stop. Committees from the RAD group are also working on junior college location, rural housing development and poultry processing.

"Every business firm and organization in the county can, and we hope will, be a member of RAD," Carpenter said. "Membership entitles each firm and organization to vote in RAD. Summer Sessions For Retarded Are Concluded

The regular Monday, Wednesday and Friday sessions of the Penn-Red Lake Recreation Center for retarded children closed Friday, August 23. New schedule for the school year has been established, hours for which are announced elsewhere in this issue.

The summer sessions were well attended; with the help of girl scouts and 4-H members, several interesting projects were completed. Troop No. 87, with Mrs. Donald D. Olson as leader, assisted by Mrs. Byron Sagmoen, continued all summer preparing craft materials, and members of the troop worked at the center. Girls from this troop who spent time there in recent weeks were Susan Knutson, Kristy Helm, Nicolette Kloubec, Charlotte Lemky, and Karen Charlson. In addition to assisting with the regular daily activities some of the volunteers completed individual projects. Barbara Wold of the Sanders club made an interesting bulletin board illustrating the study unit, "Come, Visit the Farm." On Fridays, Faye Stucy of the Deer Park 4-H made several interesting presentations during the craft period.

Cathy Simon, from Mrs. Moville Simon's troop No. 64, assisted in like manner on Mondays and Wednesdays. Holly Knutson, from the Smiley 4-H, made her contribution during the game period by preparing materials for a bean-bag game.

The assistance of this willing, helpful, and cooperative group and their leaders is much appreciated by Mrs. Melvin Grinde, instructor at the center, and members of the ARC. They extend a sincere message of thanks to the volunteers for the fine service rendered.

"Fun Day" For Retarded Held At Simon Home

As a fitting climax to the summer's activities of the program for retarded children, Miss Cathy Simon staged a "Fun Day" at the home of her parents, the Melville Simons, on August 23. The porch was decorated fittingly, with colorful balloons, and games were staged in the festive atmosphere. Prizes were awarded to the winners and consolation prizes were also given. Lunch was served in mid-afternoon, and this was followed by more games. Treats were furnished by Miss Simon, by the association for the retarded, and by Mrs. Melvin Grinde.

In attendance were the children in the special classes, their teacher, Mrs. Grinde, and the volunteer workers who carried out the summer program. Workers included a number of girl scouts and nine 4-H members. Party treats were furnished as a token of recognition of their unselfish efforts.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. ANDREW SCHIEFERT

Garden clean-up time is approaching, and somehow there are always a number of cucumbers you've overlooked in picking, and which have grown beyond the nice size for pickles. Here's a recipe that will utilize these larger cukes nicely . . . and tastefully, and if the day is hot you won't have to heat up your kitchen too long in making this relish, as it requires no cooking. Imagine how colorful it is, too, with its bits of red and green peppers interspersed throughout.

UNCOOKED CUCUMBER RELISH

2 doz. Med. unpeeled cucumbers	3 sweet red peppers
2 doz. medium onions	3 sweet green peppers

Grind fairly fine, and mix well with 1 cup uniodized salt. Let stand overnight. Rinse off salt in the morning, and drain well.

In separate container, combine:

2½ lbs. sugar	3 teaspoons celery seed
1½ to 2 qts. vinegar	3 tablespoons mustard seed

Heat to boiling point, and pour over vegetable mixture. Pack in sterilized jars and seal.

Mrs. Schiefert, also well known as Mrs. Victor Knoyer in the past, is the mother of nine children by her first husband, who died some years ago, and she and Mr. Schiefert have a 5-year-old daughter who with a 13-year-old son are the only ones still left at home. Four daughters and two sons are married. They have supplied 15 grandchildren to date. One son is a chauffeur for a five-star general in Germany, and his work takes him throughout Germany, Italy, and France. Another son is with the Air Force, stationed at Marquette, Mich. Mrs. Schiefert had twin girls, and each has a family, which adds to the sum total of four true sets of fourth generations of which Mrs. Schiefert is a part.

Our homemaker had ambitions of becoming a nurse, but never quite made it professionally. She has done a great deal of nursing at home, however, taking care of older members of the family. And with a family the size of hers, there was plenty of first-aid to be administered over the years; ten children can provide a number of minor catastrophies in the course of growing up!

She was an assistant girl scout leader at one time, and den mother for a troop of boy scouts. Her hobby is sewing, and she has done a lot of that too, including remodeling. Another hobby is interior decorating. Mr. Schiefert's hobbies are repair jobs, such as refinishing furniture, which he does in his garage workshop.

Mrs. Fred Monroe Host To O E S Officers

The annual school of instructions will be conducted October 9, with the worthy matron as instructor.

Open House Sun. For Robert Ericksons

Open house will be held on Sunday, September 1, to honor the Robert N. Ericksons on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. The celebration will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. in the dining room of the Zion Lutheran Church of this city. Hours are from 2 to 5 p.m. with a short program planned for 3 o'clock.

An invitation is extended to friends and relatives by the children of the couple to visit with their parents on this occasion. No cards have been sent.

VFW Aux. To Greet Dept., Dist. Heads

Ladies Auxiliary to VFW No. 2793 will meet this evening August 26, in the Post club rooms. Mildred Pallard, 9th district president, and Lucille Centervall, Dept. chief of staff, will be in attendance. There will also be special entertainment. Hostesses will be Donna Reed, Ardelle Wells, Vivian Hiebert, and Fern Bruggeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Smith left last week for Chinook, Mont., where they will be employed in the public school system as teachers. They spent the summer in this city, where Mr. Smith assisted his father, Charlie Smith, in the latter's business.

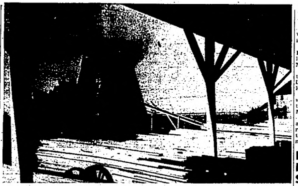
INTERIOR of the all-new electrically operated sawmill on the Red Lake Indian reservation is filled with a mass of automated equipment. With the construction of the new mill, sawing efficiency has been increased by 60 per cent, a mill spokesman said. The mill was in operation for a short time following the program of dedication on Thursday and a number of visitors, both residents and tourists, viewed the operation. After being cut to size on the mill floor, rough sawed boards leave the mill at the top rear of this photo.



SMOKE rising from a teepee-shaped structure on the Red Lake Indian reservation is still a sign of life in this modern age. The structure above, however, is the refuse burner at the new sawmill rather than family housing. At least part of the living of about 200 Indian families is derived directly from the mill and its associated industries. Rough lumber shown in the background is loaded on carts for transportation to the nearby planing mill. Negotiations are now underway with paper companies in Minnesota in the hope that waste materials now being burned can be converted into chips for the processing of pulp.

Red Lake Band Dedicates New Sawmill Thursday

Wants Allied Industry

Dan Needham, treasurer of the tribal council, said it was his "hope and wish that the powers that be will pull for new industry to go with the mill." He said that selling products in the raw is not the thing to do but that products full or partially processed should be considered.

James Hawkins, area director for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, lauded the Indian people for their initiative in building a new mill with their own money and keeping up with the times. "Red Lake will be a place of envy to others and a source of pride for all the Red Lake people," Hawkins said.

Timber cutting on the reservation is on a sustained yield basis. The reservation can stand the cutting of 10 million board feet per year, with about half of that total being saw-type timber. The remainder is sold as poles and posts. A "board foot" is equivalent to a board 12x12x1 inches.

Marginal Timber

Since the reservation is on the fringe of the timber area, it does not produce first-class timber. The new mill is built for cutting marginal timber. Beginning in September, the Red Lake operation will have its timber cutting crew trained for grade sorting at the stump. By bucking logs to proper length and placing defects at the end of a board rather than the middle, it is belived the value of hardwood cut can be increased 12 to 15 per cent.

Five species of hardwood are found on the reservation and include Aspen, Elm, Ash, Soft Maple and Basswood. Softwood species include red and white pine. Any tree with a broad leaf produces hardwood while only trees with Needle-type leaves produce softwood.

Capacity of the new mill, when cutting hardwood, is 3,500 board feet per hour. When cutting pine the capacity can be increased to 4,000 to 5,000 feet per hour under ideal conditions. The new mill was built at an investment of about $30,000 per employee while the mill built 38 years ago was constructed at a cost of about $6,000 per employee.

Planing Mill Next

Plans are being made for the revamping of the planing mill which now has the capacity to handle what the new sawmill produces but is not efficient by present day standards. The reservation people also encourage and invite allied industries which could use rough or partially-finished wood products to consider locating plants on the reservation. Private companies are welcome to locate on Red Lake land and may receive further information from the tribal council.

At present the council is negotiating with a manufacturer of children's furniture on the West Coast to attempt to bolster the reservation's economy.

Mill employees include Adolph Barrett, foreman; Johnson Loud, sawyer; Bill Dudley, filer; Leo Desjarlait, edgerman; McKinley Auginash, resaw; Maurice Thunder, trimmerman; Roman Sayer, hardwood inspection; and Simon Sumner, pine inspection.

In Memory

In loving memory of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Olaf Nordhagen, who passed away one year ago Aug. 26, 1962:

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are past.
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
Till God called him home, to suffer no more.

Keith Spindler, shooting even-par golf and taking control of the match by winning the first five holes, defeated Rollin (Ron) Solheim, 8 and 7, to win the championship flight title in the local club's annual tournament on Sunday afternoon. Jon Larson won the championship flight consolation honors by turning back a rallying Rick Thompson, winning by a 2-up margin.

Spindler, the pre-tournament favorite, carded four pars and a birdie on the first five holes of the championship finals against Solheim on Sunday afternoon, gaining a 5-up lead. Solheim, who had turned in fine golf in defeating Steve Embury in a semi-finals match on Saturday afternoon, was plagued by an erratic putter. The two finalists halved the sixth and seventh holes, going one over par on the seventh. Spindler, with pars on No. 8 and No. 9, won the holes as Solheim carded bogeys on the two holes, and held a 7-up lead at the intermission. The match was closed out on the eleventh hole as Spindler won the tenth with a par four and halved No. 11 with a par four.

In the consolation finals, Jon Larson, with a two-under-par 34, gained a 5-up lead over youthful Rick Thompson. But the former Prowler golfer came back on the second round to win No. 10 and No. 11, to pare Larson's lead to 3-up. Larson won the twelfth with a par 4, but Thompson scored a three on No. 13 and Larson's lead was again at three holes. Thompson won No. 16 with a birdie three, and won No. 17 with a par three. Larson's lead was one-up coming home.

Larson scored a birdie four on No. 18 to increase his winning margin to 2-up. For the two rounds of golf, Larson had a 34-38, while Thompson carded a 41-34.

Sixteen players began championship flight competition on Wednesday, with the losers of the first-round matches being moved into the first flight play. The results of the first-round of play, with the qualifying scores listed in parenthesis: Ron Solheim (76) defeated Jarvis Prichard (80); defending champion Ron Kvikstad defeated Jim Solsten (78); Rick Thompson (71) defeated Jerry Melgaard (79); Steve Embury (76) defeated Wally DuChamp (80); Stan Larson (71) defeated Bob Flynn (79); Larry Perkins (76) defeated Viv Kvikstad (80); Keith Spindler (72) defeated Bobby Stordahl (79); and Jon Larson (77) defeated Rudy Mehlhoff (81).

In second-round play, Solheim defeated Ron Kvikstad; Embury defeated Thompson; Perkins defeated Stan Larson; and Spindler defeated Jon Larson. And in semi-finals competition on Saturday afternoon, Solheim defeated Embury, and Spindler defeated Perkins.

In the championship flight consolation play, first-round, Thompson defeated Ron Kvikstad, and Jon Larson, with a sub-par round of golf, defeated Stan Larson.

CAPTAIN of the 1963 edition of the Lincoln High School Prowlers football team is Terry Nelson, a senior who bolsters the center of the offensive line. Terry was elected by his team mates last week. Twice daily workouts have been held to get the team in condition for the season's opener with Fertile on September 6. Richard Nelson was selected as alternate captain and is expected to handle most of the quarterback chores this season.

The Sectional Playoff

What could develop into one of the finest baseball games of the amateur season up in these parts is the sectional playoff game scheduled for the Warroad diamond on Wednesday evening, August 28, at 8:00 P.M.

The Cass Lake Lakers of the Paul Bunyan league, and winners of the Region 2B title, will meet the ever-powerful Warroad Muskies of the Lake of the Woods league and the Region 12B titlists. Warroad defeated Kennedy of the Northwest Border league to win the Region 12B title. It marked the tenth or eleventh time that the Muskies have won the regional title.

And Wednesday night's game at Warroad will find the Muskies favored to defeat the Cass Lake club and gain a berth in the state tournament that opens in St. Cloud on Friday. The winner of the Cass Lake vs. Warroad game will be pitted against Biwabik in a state tourney first-round game at 12:30 P.M. on Saturday.

My sentiments are in favor of Cass Lake and righthander Pete Barthelemy in the sectional game on Wednesday, but the odds are in favor of the tournament-wise Warroad club. Cass Lake turned in a surprising performance in winning the Region 2B title at Fertile last week, but in meeting Warroad and righthander Bob Evenson, the Lakers will be up against somewhat tougher opposition than they faced in the regional. Evenson, in scoring a regional win over Kennedy on Saturday, struck out nineteen batsmen and gave up but two hits. The former Grafton athlete, who has been a Warroad pitcher for the past several years, is perhaps the strongest hurler in northwestern Minnesota.

And it's not a certainty that Tony Stukel, the Warroad manager, will assign Wednesday night's pitching duties to Evenson. The Muskies have Don Ross, a southpaw, a draft choice from Roseau, and he may be given the nod. The Lakers, of course, will rely on Barthelemy.

Like a Tiger

One of the better matches in the championship flight play at the local golf club this past week was the first-round encounter between Keith Spindler, the pre-tournament favorite and ultimate winner, and young Bobby Stordahl.

Bobby, who is a 15-year old high school junior and weighs but 130 pounds, gave Spindler quite a tussle before being beaten. On the first nine holes of the 18-hole match Bobby drove real well and putted with great accuracy, and held a 2-up lead. Keith, who played a consistent brand of golf all week, caught the "young tiger" early in the second round, but Bobby refused to wilt under the pressure of tournament golf and hung in the match until the final hole. Coming up to the final hole, Spindler held a 1-up lead, and he won the last hole to gain a 2-up win over Stordahl.

Keith complimented Bobby on his play and said that "Bob's one of the finest young golfing prospects I've seen since I've been here." And coming from Spindler those words should have some meaning for Bob. Bobby has only been playing golf a year, but the results of this year of intensive play and practice is evident.

After losing to Spindler in that first-round match, Bob moved down into the first flight and it took par golf by Rudy Mehlhoff to defeat the youngster in a match. And Bob Flynn, in a first flight consolation match, also scored a win over Bobby; but these golfers had better savor those victories now for in a couple of years he'll be a "big tiger."

Filling the Deepfreeze

Roy and Dorothy Shetler and their family returned on Saturday evening from their two-weeks lake-trout expedition into Saskatchewan's Lac LaRonge. And they had eighty pounds of lake trout, all frozen, ready for the food freezer.

The largest trout that they caught was a 25-pounder, but Dorothy did hook into a trout that they believe would have tipped the scales up into the thirty or forty-pound class. Dorothy set the hook in the fish, and then realizing that she had a good-sized fish on the line she gave the rod to Roy. Roy admits that he made a mistake in not shutting off the trolling-motor, which would have made it easier to "pump" the stubborn fish. The boat moved around a reef, and the trout, perhaps hooking the line against a jagged rock, managed to cut the line. That fish will be bigger next year.

And it wasn't all a joy-ride for the Shetler's either. On the return trip, taking the Hanson Lake road, from Prince Albert to Flin Flon, Roy blew a tire on the station wagon and, four miles from Flin Flon, punched a hole in the gas tank on a boulder in the road that he tried to straddle. Fortunately he was able to plug the hole with rags and so was able to drive into Flin Flon. But that accident could have happened a hundred miles or so from civilization. But Roy and Dorothy are already making plans for next season's lake-trout trip.

F. U. Marketing Assn. Plans Lamb Grading Tour Here

The Farmers Union Marketing association will conduct its first fall lambing grading tour on September 5, 6 and 7. These grading tours are designed and carried out to give economic as well as educational benefit. Any farmer with sheep has the opportunity to have the marketing specialists from the South St. Paul and West Fargo markets stop at his farm, grade his lambs, and discuss his marketing and sheep producing problems.

This project is proving more popular every year with many farmers expressing appreciation and approval of a service that affords them the advantages of marketing their lambs on the earliest possible market, selling only graded lambs, and discussing their sheep problems with men closely connected with the business.

This first tour will be followed by others later in the fall approximately one month apart. Anyone wishing to take advantage of this free service, or to have lambs graded on some date other than the scheduled tours, is urged to send their name and address to the fieldman for the area, Mr. Cy Carpenter, 1101 N. Knight, Thief River Falls. All participants will be notified as to the time the tour will arrive at their farm.

Softball Finale Set for Tonight

The Bridgeman's and the Hamm's Beer softball teams have reached the finals of the double-elimination city league playoffs. And this evening, Monday, at 7:00 P.M. on the East Side diamond, the two teams will play. A victory for the Bridgeman's, who are unbeaten in playoff competition, will give the orange-and-black clad Bridgeman's the playoff title. A win for the blue-sky Hamm's would necessitate a second game, and this game would be played on Tuesday evening.

In semi-finals play last week, the Bridgeman's and the Hamm's marked up victories. In a game between a pair of unbeaten teams on Wednesday evening, the Bridgeman's, on Jerry Erickson's ground single past third base, edged out the V. F. W. team, 7 to 6. The Bridgeman's entered the final inning of the game trailing the league-champion Vets, but a three-run rally brought a victory to manager Dave Clough's club. John Drury hurled for the winners, while Frank Harger, in the absence of Wally Grovum and Joey Poole, pitched for the Vets.

On Thursday evening, the Hamm's Beer squad, with veteran Milt Reierson on the mound, scored a 5 to 2 win over the V. F. W. club and eliminated the league champions from further playoff competition. DelRay Offerdahl, playing with the short-handed Hamm's as a substitute (Offerdahl is a member of the Bridgeman's team), belted a two-run home run to pace the Hamm's in their "upset" win over the Vets.

Scotch Couple Visits at Farm Home of Bert Vigen

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

To receive a first-hand view of Americans and form their own opinions, Mr. and Mrs. James Vietch of Edinburgh, Sotland, are touring the United States this summer. One of their stops was at the Bert Vigen home near Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Vigen's father, A. C. Conrad of St. Paul, assisted the visitors on their tour by providing them with a station wagon and complete camping equipment. An instructor at Bethel Seminary in St. Paul, Conrad and his wife stayed at the Vietch home in Edinburgh a year ago while on Sabbatical leave to study at the University of Edinburgh.

"Our contact with Americans had been only through movies and military personnel before we met the Conrads," Mrs. Vietch said in an interview here last week. "We had never considered coming to the United States before they told us all Americans were like them (the Conrads) and we decided to see for ourselves."

Arriving in Montreal, Canada, about eight weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Vietch had the station wagon waiting for them and have now covered about 8,500 miles in their nation-wide tour. They have decided that Conrad was correct and have been favorably impressed with Americans. When they return to Montreal by way of the state fair and Ottawa, they will take their car with them to Scotland "as a curio". Their departure date is September 12.

Leaving Montreal on July 4, the Vietchs have visited Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Washington, D. C.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Hartford, Conn.; New York City; Roanoke, Va.; Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.; Phoenix and Flagstaff, Ariz.; the Grand Canyon; Las Vegas, Nev.; San Francisco, Cal.; Salt Lake City, Utah; the Tetons; Yellowstone and Zion National parks; and the Black Hills in South Dakota.

"We said we would meet in the Black Hills of South Dalota and that's what we did—only about an hour and a half late," Mrs. Vietch said. The Conrads met their Scotch friends there for a few days of camping and touring before journeying to St. Paul. Vietch has been a nurseryman at Edinburgh for 35 years and considered the DuPont gardens in Pennsylvania one of the most impressive places visited. Also considered impressive were the Grand Canyon, Zion park scenery and Niagara Falls.

Connecticut and the Catskill mountains were considered to be the most like their native country. When they return they will be speaking and showing pictures of their visit to the United States—a visit they would never have made if it had not been for the invitation from the father of a Thief River Falls resident.

Acquisition of State Park Lands under Way

The land acquisition program for Minnesota's state parks under the Natural Resources and Recreation Act of 1963 is now under way, it was announced today by Governor Karl F. Rolvaag.

A three-man team named by Commissioner of Administration Stephen T. Quigley has completed appraisal on one tract of 40 acres for expansion of Lake Carlos State Park in Douglas county. The owners have been formally advised of the state's election to purchase on the terms set forth in original option.

The three-man team of Raymond Matson, highway department appraisal section; Richard J. Dorer, former supervisor of game for the conservation department; and Lawrence Ritter, formerly with the U. S. Forest Service blister rust program in Minnesota, is now making appraisals on four other tracts totalling 385 acres in Lake Carlos State Park; and on three tracts of 141 acres for expansion of Big Stone Lake State Park, Big Stone county. Acceptance of the options on file will depend on the favorable appraisal value when compared with the option prices on file.

The Natural Resources Act also provides for expansion of 18 other existing state parks and establishment of 11 new state parks, and funds for land to be acquired by the Commissioner of Administration on behalf of Conservation Commissioner Wayne H. Olson. The program of land acquisition is based on land opinions obtained by local committees who sponsored the legislation.

"The establishment of these new state parks and expansion of present facilities will be a giant step forward fulfilling the need for more living room for recreation — one of the greatest challenges facing us today," Governor Rolvaag said.

"Too often we think of recreation largely in terms of the two billion dollars spent nationally per year by sportsmen and outdoor enthusiasts for equipment, or in terms of the tourist dollar. Even more important to our future as a progressive state is the part that well-planned recreation facilities can play in stabilizing population, in reducing turnover of employees in businesses, in attracting new businesses and industries, and drawing new wealth-generating organizations into a community. One of the major motivating forces that attracts people to one place over another is the availability of attractive recreation outlets."

Funds to finance the broad long-range conservation program provided for in the Natural Resources Act, signed May 20 by Governor Rolvaag, are derived from an additional one-cent-per-pack tax on cigarettes.

Gas Tax Refunding Procedure Cited

Refunds Thru October 31 to Be 5 Cents Per Gallon

Rolland F. Hatfield, Commissioner of Taxation, today reminded gasoline tax refund claimants of a limitation in the gasoline tax refund law which was enacted at the last session of the Minnesota state legislature.

Refunds of the state excise tax paid on gasoline used for nonhighway purposes are limited by law to five cents per gallon on refund claims during the period from July 1 through October 31, 1963, regardless of the rate of tax paid. The reason for this limitation is that it is impossible to compute the correct amount of gasoline tax refunds on gasoline purchased at two different tax rates when deductions are made for highway use.

Commissioner Hatfield indicated, however, that it is not necessary for any claimant to lose any part of the tax paid on gasoline used for nonhighway purposes provided he will withhold filing claims covering the six-cent tax invoices until November 1. Refunds on claims filed after November 1 will be paid at six cents per gallon.

It is suggested that gasoline invoices be sorted into two groups: one representing the five-cent tax rate and the other the six-cent tax rate. All claims involving the five-cent rate may be filed immediately or at any time within the four-month limitation.

The claims involving the six-cent rate should be filed on November 1 or any date thereafter which is within the four-month statutory period for filing claims. The Commissioner emphasized, however, that all claims must be filed within four months after purchase.

Tariff War?

U. S. farmers last year sold food and fibre to the Common Market countries of Europe for a total value of $1.2 billion. One big item was chickens of the factory production type. Now Europe is manufacturing its own fryers and has raised the tariff on American fryers to 13.5 cents a pound. President Kennedy has threatened to meet this increase by raising tariff barriers on items that the Europeans have in surplus. So, once again, we are snapping and snarling at each other.

Europeans are adopting the mass-production methods in both industry and agriculture that have enabled us to enjoy a high living standard. We shouldn't hate them for adopting our methods. Our problem is to develop new markets for our products, and a basic consideration in that procedure of course is to make available our products at prices the foreigners can afford to pay. Our immediate concern should be the problem of keeping our costs down, and Washington isn't giving us much help in that field.

Middle East Trouble

President Nasser of Egypt has reminded the Arab nations that they still are at war with Israel, stating that Egyptian armed forces are preparing to "wash out the shame" of that conflict. He told them:

> "You must prepare to restore to the Palestinian Arabs their usurped rights. We must put right the humiliation which the Arabs suffered in 1948."

This is an unpleasant reminder of a problem that in some respects involves us in what could be one of the world's most tragic struggles. Our guess is that Israel, as a nation, will not survive that struggle. Our country sponsored Israel as an independent nation in the United Nations debate, contrary to the advice of the British, who abstained from voting. For Harry Truman, our president at that time, it was a campaign issue.

Before the slaughter starts, this problem should be referred back to the United Nations for reconsideration and a thorough study of the entire record dating back to the World War I Balfour Declaration.

Based on what we have read of the record, and our personal observations in visiting the area, we are satisfied that the Arabs have a grievance that deserves immediate consideration, in the interests of world peace.

A Japanese View

A Japanese-American who had spent the war-years in a prison camp because of his Japanese background, expressed some interesting views on the problems of racial equality in our country. His editorial in a San Francisco Japanese newspaper, was reproduced by the Christian Science Monitor and should be "must" reading for the leaders of the Negro movement for racial equality, both the blacks and the whites.

Reviewing briefly his own experience with racial inequality in our country, he applauded the efforts that have been made, and are being made, to overcome inequality. But he suggested that the Negroes themselves probably are responsible for much of the lack of opportunity they complain about, and urges them to put forth more effort in their attempts to help themselves. He stated:

> "The Negroes have led their lives of their own. The Negroes in the South especially were people far detached from our lives and we tended to consider them like people still in servitude. It is only in the past 10 years or so that we have had any sort of communication with them living together in the same neighborhoods. We have now come to know them better: their aspirations, their habits, their problems.
> "We have had the pleasure of meeting some outstanding Negro leaders.
> "We are sad to confess, however, that we have had more occasions to come in contact with lesser Negroes who make a great number of our people afraid to come out to Nihonmachi at night.
> "Some of our respected Negro leaders, too, often present themselves as being small.
> "They will tell you the reason that there is a large number of crimes being committed by the Negroes is because the colored people are not equally treated. They will tell you that the reason why there are more Negro dropouts from high schools is because the colored children are not given opportunity to follow the kind of work they want after graduation.
> "They blame society for their womanfolks giving birth to illegitimate children and living on welfare checks. They blame society for petty thefts and rapes being perpetrated by their manfolks in Nihonmachi. In short, they blame all of their anti-social habits and cultural maladjustments on the "unjust" community in which they live.
> "We have yet to hear any Negro voice "blaming" themselves for their social maladjustment.
> "We once told a prominent San Francisco Negro leader at a NAACP gathering that one doesn't have to have a penny in his pocket to check himself from stealing or raping a woman, for that was what he had implied in his chip-on-the-shoulderish defense of Negro misbehavior.
> "What we are trying to say - most sincerely here is that the Negro community leaders should do a little soul-searching of their own today and see if their backyards couldn't be tidied up a bit, find if their children couldn't be given a little more community push and encouragement for education, and examine if there is not one rock too many on their shoulders needlessly.
> "From the looks of the Negro papers in San Francisco there is an apparent lack of this sort of leadership: this sort of self-reflection.
> "'We have no intention at all of expecting the Negro children to be long-suffering for education like the oriental children — who are impressed with the virtues of long-suffering.
> "We have no intention at all of telling the Negro community leaders, brazenly, to soften their fight for integration and for equal opportunity—for that is our fight, too.
> "But we believe there is a crying need on the part of the Negro community as a whole to make a concerted effort sincerely to better themselves. And this effort should be made hand in hand with their effort to break down the social and economic barriers. These two efforts can and should be made together.
> "Do not say, impatiently, there is no time. Life is long, and America will be here for centuries and centuries after we are gone."

Who Was Responsible?

A 23-year-old youth, the son of a New York criminal court judge, was the cause of an automobile accident that caused the death of five people. He was brought to trial on three charges — driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and leaving the scene of an accident. The case was heard by three men who are fellow criminal court judges serving with the youth's father. Five minutes after the trial ended they acquitted him of the charges, all misdemeanors.

New York newspapers, with complete unanimity, "raised their collective eyebrows and started people asking questions." The result was that the young fellow was indicted by a grand jury on five counts of vehicular homicide. It developed that he had a long record of traffic offenses. Police found ten unanswered traffic tickets in his car.

The charges could lead to a maximum of five years in prison and a $1,000 fine on each count. Bail was set at $5,000.

Who would you say was responsible for the death of the five innocent victims? The driver, directly, certainly. But, indirectly, the father too. And there probably should be four new criminal court judges appointed in New York, one to replace the father and three to replace his associates.

Strange Mystery

Now that Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman is back in Washington again, maybe we will get some explanations as to what became of the 24 million bushels of feed grain sold by our government but which never reached its European destination. Possibly one of Mr. Freeman's purposes in making such an extended visit was to find out who did get the grain.

So far the department has made no attempt to explain the mystery that was exposed by Senator John J. Williams, Delaware Republican. A special investigation has been demanded. According to the Chicago Tribune, the grain, valued at $32 million, left American ports but never reached its destination in Austria. The Tribune states that American and West German government officials now report that much of it was diverted, instead, to the ports of Hamburg and Bremen where "it was sold commercially for huge profits."

The shipments have been made over a period of nearly three years but agriculture and state department officials didn't admit the losses until after Senator Williams' disclosures. According to the Tribune, "The official silence suggests another attempt at a cover-up on the grand proportions attempted by agriculture officials in the Estes case." And, continues the Tribune:

> "Sen. Dirksen points out that one of the alarming aspects is the "strong indication" that this may be only one of many instances of illegal diversion of surplus farm commodities. Already, he says, officials are trying to excuse the disappearance of the grain on the basis of "carelessness or incompetence," but Dirksen thinks there has been collusion. "No man," he said, "can be so stupid or so incompetent as to lose completely 24 million bushels of grain without knowing it."
> "The senator may be underestimating the caliber of some of the burocrats the New Frontier has installed in the agriculture department. Regardless of that, this case again clearly indicates something that became painfully apparent in the Estes investigation. That is that in a burocracy such as the agriculture department, which is so vast that it spends seven billion dollars a year and employs 100,000 persons full time and another 100,000 or so part time, the chances of maladministration through incompetence and stupidity, as well as through outright fraud, are unlimited."

Interesting Opinions . . .

SILO POISONING

Silo gas poisoning, sometimes called "silo fillers' disease," is one of the more subtle hazards of the silo filling season.

The poisonous nitrogen dioxide gas is a by-product of the fermentation of forages stored in the silo. You would see it as a yellowish-orange haze when it's present in heavy concentrations. However, it isn't always visible and you may not know it's around until it strikes.

If inhaled, the gas causes a burning lung irritation and coughing. The irritation results from the formation of nitric acid when the moisture in the victim's lungs. Nausea usually accompanies these conditions. Two silo gas poisoning cases have been reported in the state already this year.

During the first seven to 10 days of storage, the forage is fermenting and generating the nitrogen dioxide gas. People and animals should be kept away from the base of the silo at this time. A snow fence will do the job. Silo doors should be kept open to provide air circulation.

Nitrogen dioxide is heavier than air and will collect around the base of the silo and on top of the silage pile.

In addition to the gas, there are other cautions to observe in silo filling.

1) Make sure that air circulation and ventilation is adequate before working in the silo;

2) A hard-hat and hard-toed shoes will help protect against falls and falling objects;

3) Be sure nobody is standing where tools or machinery could fall on them, causing injury;

4) Observe manufacturer's cautions and use available protective shields when working with power-driven machinery.

FEEDER CATTLE

The feeder cattle outlook for this fall points to prices ranging $2 to $3 below last year's levels. This expectation is based on the following facts:

1) The largest calf crop since 1955 is in prospect for 1963. It will be two per cent above 1962, resulting from a three per cent increase in cows and heifers two years and older as of Jan. 1, 1963.

2) Steer and heifer supplies will be up about five per cent from the previous year. About a half million more steers will be available for feedlots the last half of this year, compared with 1962. Heifer supplies are also likely to exceed 1962 levels, but the amount of the increase will depend somewhat on trends in herd replacement.

3) Steer feeders in the Corn Belt had unusually low returns last year, leaving both feeders and creditors with dampened enthusiasm. Outlook for returns in the coming year also suggests a need for caution.

These views are from Kenneth Egertson and Paul Hasbargen, extension marketing economists at the University of Minnesota. He says the increase in the calf crop may be entirely offset by larger holdings of heifer calves for replacements. Such a limitation on calf availability would strengthen feeder prices.

However, the larger supply of older beef animals will weaken prices. Also, ranges in western areas are in poorer condition than in 1962, leaving present cattle holders in a somewhat weakened bargaining position.

Last year, fat cattle prices in fall months buoyed up feeder prices; this year, the slaughter market price level will have less influence on feeder cattle.

Feed supplies will be up somewhat from 1962 levels, although a sharp rise is being prevented because of a higher number of participants in the feed grain program. Wheat pastures would need good rains in August and September if they were to support the number of cattle they took on last fall.

Summing up, Egertson says, the feeder cattle outlook is for increased supply in face of more cautious demand. The result is likely to be lower feeder prices than last year. Current trends bear this prediction out. Limited contracting now is for steer calves at $28 to $30 per hundred pounds and steers at $24 to $26 per hundred. Such prices are expected to hold through fall, and possibly go lower during the heavier runs in September and October.

These levels compare with $32 for cales and $29 for steers at this time in 1962.

of Rhyme & Reason

BY MARY LINDEN

THERE HAS BEEN A QUESTION IN MY MIND for some time about the value of "federal assistance." Reference in this particular case will be made to the Accelerated Public Works (APW) program which has apparently been designed by our earthly gods in Washington to "assist" those communities which "need" financial assistance.

Except for a few very gaping loopholes in the plan, it sounds sensible on the surface. Basically the plan calls for federal grants to communities to enable them to undertake projects for community improvement and to provide employment to residents. Now let's see what happened, or is happening, in Thief River Falls because of this "acceleration" program.

When it was learned about a year ago that APW funds were being made available, the city council was led to believe that such funds could be obtained simply by filling out application forms and specifications for projects. On a priority basis, the council adopted several projects and submitted them to the government agency for approval.

Although the requests were sent with all speed possible, the entire allocation made by Congress was gone by the time they arrived. In fact, funds were gone the day after becoming available. Communities which already had plans prepared, and whose political representatives sold Congress on the allocation, reaped the harvest of federal funds. The rest of the nation is still paying for the cost.

As for Thief River Falls, which had at stake some $3½ million in projects for which assistance had been requested, the program may well prove to be a decelerated public works program. For fear of losing what the government may or may not have had to offer, the city was almost forced to withhold work on projects for which assistance was requested.

Thief River Falls city council was recently informed in a letter from Sen. Hubert Humphrey to the effect that the city had received money for construction of the new hospital addition and they needn't expect any more funds. This brings everything back to where it started —except for the not-so-small cost of preparing plans and specifications for submitting to the federal agency and the valuable year lost in further consideration of some very worthwhile projects.

Projects submitted to the federal agency were street improvement project at $2,213,000; municipal natural gas distribution system, $1079,000; multi-county jail, $102,000; and library expansion, $118,000. Without a doubt, no assistance would have been requested on these projects without the offer of federal money. Indeed, at least part of the projects would not even have been originated without fancy federal financial bait.

A $450 million appropriation has been recently approved by Congress. This "supplemental" appropriation meant that funds would be available for about one-third of the outstanding applications before the Community Facilities Administration. That agency has 6,200 projects requesting $1.3 billion from 1,200 eligible communities in the United States to consider. I'll bet that a big part of these were submitted on a "let's-get-our-share-if-everybody-else-is" basis.

Our benevolent benefactors, who liberally spend our hard-earned dollars to see that we (and they) are well cared for, may thus feel justified to request additional appropriations. "Look at the number of requests we have received," they will cry. "Consider the need!" Need, humbug! Consider the cost.

Wabasha Man out for National Legion Chief

A rising tide of interest and enthusiasm throughout the nation indicates that Daniel F. Foley, 41 year old attorney of Wabasha, Minnesota, is the leading candidate for election to the office of national commander of The American Legion at its national Convention in Miami Beach, Florida, September 8-12. This is the well founded belief of Carl L. Lundgren, Minneapolis, former state Legion commander and chairman of Foley's campaign publicity committee.

Foley has traveled more than 175,000 miles campaigning in 48 states during the past two years, meeting and addressing Legionnaires, and has found universally friendly acceptance, according to Lundgren.

The candidate's Legion background compasses 17 years of service to his post and in various district and state offices; he was state commander in 1955-56, and has been national executive committeeman the past six years. He has also found time to be active in many hometown civic projects, statewide service programs, and in legal circles.

Foley, a native of Wabasha, is married and they have five young sons.

No Minnesotan has yet held the post of National Commander, Lundgren states, despite the fact that the very first Legion convention was held in Minneapolis, and Minnesota has since maintained an exceptional membership service, and participation record.

Foley's military service was with the U. S. Army in World War II, from which he was honorably discharged with the rank of Staff Sergeant.

Born in Wabasha in 1922, Foley was graduated from St. Thomas College in 1943 with a B. A. degree, and received his LLB degree from Fordham University School of Law. He has been a practicing attorney in Wabasha since 1948, and also maintains a law office at Rochester, Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Foley make their home in Wabasha and have five sons.

DANIEL F. FOLEY, Wabasha, Minnesota, attorney, a leading candidate for the office of National Commander of the American Legion, to be elected at the national convention in Miami Beach, Florida, September 8-12.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Are you busy purchasing school clothes? Advance planning before shopping is one of the keys to wise spending for children's school clothes. The children should be with mother when she is planning.

Look over the children's clothes first and decide which of these clothes can be worn to school during warm weather this fall. By next summer these clothes may be too small.

Next, get fall and winter clothes out of storage to find out which clothes still fit the children and which ones, outgrown by the older youngsters, can be worn by younger brothers or sisters. Now you are ready to list the new clothes that will be needed. If winter coats or warm jackets are needed, they should head the list.

After taking inventory, do some planning with the children. Often by giving children certain items of clothing they want, the number of other desires decreases. Moreover, children get far more satisfaction out of the clothes they wear when they can help make the decisions.

For that reason, it's also well to take the children shopping for clothes that must be tried on to get the proper fit, such as shoes, dresses or slacks. Many children have definite color preferences that can be indulged. Mothers might make a preliminary selection of a number of styles and colors from which a child can choose what appeals to him most.

But mothers also need to do some shopping alone — when they can take time to read labels on care, to examine construction detail and to buy the items of clothing that children do not need to try on at the store.

Spending the family clothing dollar wisely thus means careful planning and shopping, but it also means sales resistance to some of the cute "extras" available in children's clothing.

A subscription to the Times costs only $5.00 per year in Northwestern Minnesota and you'll save many times that amount by shopping Times' advertisers.

Dill Pickle Recipe Is Proved Reliable

Pickles that get soft or spoil in the jar are some of the troubles homemakers frequently encounter in making dill pickles.

Pennington county homemakers who have cucumbers in the home garden may want to try a reliable method of making fresh-pack dill pickles which has been developed by the Human Nutrition Research Division, Agricultural Research Service of the United State Department of Agriculture. The recipe is given below.

Fresh-Pack Dill Pickles
(Yield: 7 quarts)

17 to 18 lbs. cucumbers, 3 to 5 in. long, packed 7 to 10 per quart jar
About 2 gallons 5 per cent brine (¾ cup pure granulated salt per gal. of water)
6 cups (1½ quarts) vinegar
¾ cup pure granulated salt
¼ cup sugar
9 cups (2¼ quarts) water
2 tablespoons whole mixed pickling spice
2 teaspoons whole mustard seed for each quart jar
1 clove garlic per quart jar if desired
3 heads dill plant, fresh or dried, per quart jar or 1 tablespoon dill seed per jar

Wash cucumbers thoroughly with vegetable brush; drain. Cover with the five percent brine (¾ cup salt per gal. of water). Let stand over night. Drain.

Combine vinegar, salt, sugar, water and mixed pickling spices that are tied in a clean, thin white cloth. Heat to boiling. Pack cucumbers into clean, hot quart ja[illegible] Add mustard seed, dill heads [illegible] seed and garlic to each jar; cover with boiling brine to within ½ inch of top of jar. Adjust jar lids.

Process in boiling water for 20 minutes, starting to count processing time as soon as hot jars are placed into the actively boiling water.

Remove jars and complete seals if necessary. Set jars upright, several inches apart, on a wire rack to cool.

Top-quality pickles can be obtained only when high quality ingredients are used and the proper methods are followed, according to Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota. Correct proportions of vegetable or fruit, sugar, salt, vinegar and spices are of great importance. Use tested recipes and measure or weigh ingredients accurately.

Cucumbers for pickling should be fresh from the garden. Use pure granulated or pickling salt if it is available. Iodized salt may darken pickles. Use cider or white distilled vinegar of 4 to 6 per cent acidity. Cider vinegar gives a better blending of flavors than white vinegar but it may darken light-colored fruits and vegetables. Be sure spices you use are fresh.

Liisa Luoma Arrives

AFS Exchange Student from Finland To Attend Lincoln

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Finland will be represented at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls this year by 17-year-old Liisa Luoma, a native of Pori, Finland, who is an American Field Service exchange student. She will be a member of the senior class.

Liisa is the daughter of a transport contractor who owns 30 trucks for freight transport. She has two brothers, one older and one younger than she is, and will have two years of school to complete upon her return to Finland next year. She is staying at the Raymond Ulferts home at 315 Maple av. S.

Having studied English in school at Pori, Miss Luoma has a good working knowledge of the language. English was taught two or three days a week with lessons being 45 minutes in length for school classes. School days there run in length from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m.

To Become Doctor

Attending a public-supported girl's school, Miss Luoma states that most of the members of her class intend to become medical doctors—the same future which she plans for herself. She will have university classes and internship ahead of her before attaining medical status.

Pori is a community of about 54,000 people and is located near the sea. Liisa's family has two cottages where family members spend a considerable amount of time in the summer. Forestry products are the main industry of the country which also is acclaimed to have 60,000 lakes.

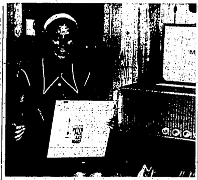
One of 841 Students

Together with 840 other exchange students from Europe, Miss Luoma came from Rotterdam to New York by boat. The trip took 10 days in rough weather and Liisa reported that three of them were spent being seasick. Finland has 76 exchange students in the United States this year and the AFS has a total of 2,800 foreign exchange students from all countries here for this school year.

Most Finnish clothing is of European style, Miss Luoma states, with more plain lines and fewer frills than American clothing. Television is fairly new in the country and American programs such as Dr. Kildare and Ben Casey are quite popular in Finland.

In Finland there is one car for every 11 people, Liisa said, but most families in Pori have their own cars. In Lapland and isolated regions the number of families per car is much greater than in the metropolitan areas. Before a driver's license can be obtained, Finnish people must be 18 years of age. Social activities for young people on dates consist primarily of walks or events within walking distance.

"I-course," I love my country "Of course, I love my country & Miss Luoma said, "but while I am here I a mgoing to try to learn as much as I can about America. I love it in Thief River Falls, too." Miss Luoma will study the required courses of English and social studies and will also be enrolled in speech courses at the school here.



EXCHANGE student who will be attending Lincoln high school this fall under the American Field Service program is Liisa Luoma, 17, of Pori, Finland. Miss Luoma is staying at the Ray Ulferts home where she is shown getting acquainted with some favorite American records. Miss Luoma is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Rotary club which pays for expenses of the program.

Farm Stored Grain Loan Requests Are Being Taken Here

P. W. Culkins, Manager of Pennington ASCS Office, Lists Rates Per Bushel

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, said today that applications for farm-stored grain loans are now being accepted at the county ASCS office.

He said that even though inspections of commodities cannot be made until the grain has been stored for at least 30 days, producers who intend to secure farm-stored loans are encouraged to file their applications as soon as possible because this will eliminate a delay in processing applications and save time for the producer when he calls at the county office.

Culkins pointed out that all bins must be leveled, and emphasized the fact that no bins would be measured by the inspector if they were not leveled off.

Farm-stored wheat loans vary from $1.86 to $1.96 per bushel plus sedimentation and protein premiums. Sedimentation premiums vary from 0 to 12c per bushel, whereas protein premiums have a range of 0 to 12c per bushel.

Farm-stored barley rates vary from 72c to 78c per bushel, determined in accordance to grade. Producers who did not cooperate in the Feed Grain Program in 1963 by reducing their base acreage by 20% are not eligible for a barley loan.

Farm-stored oats loans on grade No. 3 or better have a rate of 56c per bushel. In addition to the loan rate, premiums will apply at time of delivery for No. 1 or No. 2, heavy or extra-heavy oats. Highest premium rate is 3c per bushel. Oats containing more than 4% foreign material is not eligible for loan.

Farm-stored rye, No. 1 or No. 2 has a loan rate of $1.09 per bushel. Rate for No. 2 flax is $2.84. In addition to the loan rates premiums will apply for low-moisture flax ranging from 1 to 4 cents per bushel at time of delivery.

Service charges to the producer are 1c per bushel or $3.00 whichever is greater.

For further information relative to Commodity Credit Corporation farm-stored loans, farmers may call at the county ASCS office.

City Schools Open For 1963-64 Term

All city schools opened for regular classes Wednesday and Scott was among the many youngsters who gave up summer activity to "hit the books." 2,600 Students Expected in All Public Schools

Thief River Falls public and parochial schools officially opened for the 1963-64 term on Wednesday morning as area housewives are growing accustomed to the daytime quiet. Teachers reported for duty Monday morning and completed a two-day workshop session prior to the opening of school for classes.

While late arrivals will make the actual enrollment in city schools unknown for at least several days, an increase is expected in at least two of the three public school divisions. Senior high school enrollment is expected to increase by about 45 students to a total of 610 while junior high school students are expected to total approximately 600—about the same as last year.

Elementary enrollment is certain to be above the 1,370 enrolled last year, according to George Stockman, director of elementary education. Exact figures will not be known for about a week since some students registered last spring have moved from the community and some new students have not been registered. Some students will attend their first classes next week due to the state fair and late summer vacations.

High school classes will again operate on a split shift basis with some city students reporting for classes at 8 a.m. and being dismissed at 3 p.m. Rural students and other city students will report at 9 a.m. and be dismissed at 4 p.m. All elementary classes start at 9 a.m.

A full session of classes was held on Wednesday. Junior high school students opened the day by reporting to the gymnasium and senior high school students reported to the auditorium for a review of school policies and procedures.

Elementary classes will again use four rental classrooms as well as two temporary classrooms constructed in the Knox elementary school library.

Local law enforcement authorities are cooperating with the Jaycees in this project and encourage the driving public to participate in the voluntary vehicle check which is offered free of charge. Assistance will also be provided by students in the auto mechanics course at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school.

"Join the Circle of Safety by having your car checked on Friday," Dale appealed to area residents. "With the Labor Day weekend following the vehicle check, you owe it to yourselves and your families to have your car in safe operating condition."

The vehicle check includes testing of headlights, taillights, turn signals, brakes, mufflers, glass, windshield wipers, tires and horn will do much of the checking. A similar vehicle check was conducted prior to the Memorial Day holiday this spring.

Geo. Pukaris Return From Alaskan Jaunt

Mr. and Mrs. George Pukari and daughter Nona returned on Saturday from a 16-day trip to Ketchikan, Alaska. They traveled by car through Canada, to Prince Rupert, B.C., at which point they boarded the Alaskan ferry Taku. While in Ketchikan they were guests of Mrs. Pukari's brother Wilfred Jacobson and family, whom they had not seen in about 18 years. Mr. Jacobson is employed on the ferry, and showed them around the boat, one of a small fleet owned by the state of Alaska, and put into service on February 1. The ferry, with a capacity of about 500 pasengers and over 100 automobiles, skirted the rugged coastline which is green the year 'round, thanks to the Japanese current. Mrs. Pukari stated that the ferry line has done a larger volume of business since its inauguration in February than was expected over a four-year period, and that as a result, the city of Prince Rupert is terribly congested. The pulp mill at Ketchikan, which they also visited, is now the world's largest, she said.

MAPP Plans Are Revealed; Large Power Pool Slated

22 Firms Plan Operation Of World's Greatest by 1980, Legislators Told

Revealing of plans for a power pool which may become the world's greatest by 1980 took place at a number of meetings scheduled last week by Mid-continent Area Power Planners (MAPP). Area meetings were held at Grand Forks and Crookston and a meeting for legislators was held in Washington, D.C. MAPP plans to spend $2.25 billion by 1980 for generating facilities and transmission lines. The organization involves 21 investor-owned and cooperative producers and distributors of electricity, including Minnkota Power Cooperative, Northern States Power company and Otter Tail Power company.

Speakers stated that MAPP believes it can provide the future power needs of the region without massive public power projects financed by taxpayers. Intial plans are for a 5,400-mile network of high power transmission lines to link key cities including Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City, Des Moines and points in both Dakotas.

In addition MAPP plans integrated operation of the 22 member power systems and further coordination with adjacent power suppliers.

"MAPP will eventually become the nation's largest power pool, exchanging large blocks of power among its members of 230,000 volt and 345,000 volt transmission lines," stated Earl Eward, executive vice president of Northern States Power company and chairman of MAPP.

"The integrated operations and sharing of power that will be made possible by these lines will bring substanial savings for MAPP members through lowering of generating reserve requirements, deferral of new generating units and building of larger, even more efficient generating units," he concluded.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—Am I automatically eligible for non-service connected disability pension because I have become 65 years old?

A—The VA nonservice-connected disability pension is not based on age but on the fact that the veteran has become totally and permanently disabled. However, your age may be a contributing factor. Since each case is decided individually, you should consult your nearest VA office.

Q—How can I get the medal the government gave to all World War II personnel at the end of the war?

A—Write to the branch of the service with which you served, and give your dates of service as well as your identifying service number.

Q—My claim for death pension for our children was denied in 1959 because their father had no service-connected disability. Should I reapply?

A—Yes, reapply immediately. On July 1, 1960, the requirment was eliminated that a World War II or Korean veteran must have a service connected disability at the time of death.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

High alfalfa yields in northern Minnesota are dependent on heavy potash and lime treatments according to University of Minnesota extension soils specialists. Curtis Overdahl, extension soils specialist, says, "continued top-dressing with high potash rates, heavy manure applications and adequate liming are practices responsible for recent abundant growths of alfalfa in Minnesota's north country."

Here's a tip on windbreak care from Harold Scholten, University of Minnesota forestry instructor:

Windbreak effectiveness is reduced if thinning is delayed until excessive crowding causes the lower branches of the trees to die.

A larger market for farm-produced fats may develop in the future as a result of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's attempts to develop detergents which would break down when disposed into streams and rivers.

Transplanting Peonies

Late August or early Septmber is a good time to transplant peonies which are blooming poorly or to plant new peonies. Peonies may be blooming poorly because they are too deep or are infested with disease of insects.

Before transplanting be sure to discard roots which show signs of disease or insect infestation.

The first step is to prepare the soil where the peonies are to be planted. Select a sunny location for peonies. Don't plant them where there will be competition from tree roots.

Space peony clumps about 24 inches apart. Dig the hole 18 inches deep and a foot in diameter for each peony. In the bottom of the hole place 6 inches of well rotted cattle manure, leaf mold or compost. Cover this with 3 to 4 inches of soil. Then place the plant in the hole.

Peonies should be planted no deeper than 2 inches. Firming the soil to avoid settling is extremely important. After the soil has been thoroughly packed around the root, cover the top with loose soil.

Mulch peonies with straw or marsh hay the first winter.

Bridgemans Win City D-ball Title

Manager Dave Clough's Bridgeman's team won the city league softball playoff title on Monday evening by scoring a decisive 12 to 0 win over the Hamm's Beer club on the East Side diamond. The loss was the second in the double-elimination series for the Hamm's and it closed out the playoffs with the Bridgeman's being the lone undefeated team.

The Bridgeman's tallied four uns in the first inning, and added a pair in the second frame to take a comanding lead and control the trend of the game. In the top of the first inning, after Bob Carlson had grounded out, Gerry Erickson drew a walk and Paul Klungness beat out a bunt. John Drury sent a long fly ball to left field, and Erickson scored after the catch. Bases on balls to Gary Klungness and Mary Lundin loaded the bases, and then Larry Gilbertson drilled a double to left-center, scoring three runs.

Two walks and a pair of throwing errors accounted for the Bridgeman's scoring in the second inning. In the fourth, walks to DelRay Ofterdahl and Gary Klungness and a single by Drury added a pair of runs to the Bridgeman's total. And a flurry of base hits, four, gave manager Clough's club a three-run cluster in the fifth.

Drury limited the Hamm's to but two hits, a line single by Arlan Hjelle in the second inning, and a ground single past second base by Rod Collins in the fourth.

State Hunters to Open Duck Season Saturday, Oct. 5th

Daily Bag Limit of Three and Six in Possession Is Ordered for 35-day Season

Minnesota will have a 35 day duck season (the maximum allowed) this fall with bag limits of 3 daily and 6 in possession, Conservation Commissioner Wayne H. Olson announced today.

The 1963 duck season dates will be October 5 through November 8. Olson said that while federal regulations would permit 4 and 8, the lower limit selected by Minnesota could result in an increase of 150,000 ducks next year.

With a similar situation in 1960, Minnesota and other states in the Flyway accepted the 4 and 8 Federal recommendation. This resulted in the lowest population on record last year and the most restricted hunting regulations in history.

With only a slight increase in breeding population and but a moderate anticipated increase in the fall flight, Olson said that the ducks cannot stand a doubling of the bag limit as proposed by the U. S. Department of the Interior.

There will be no open season on redheads or canvasbacks again this year. The daily bag limit and possession limit of coots will be 8 and 16 as compared to 6 and 6 in 1962.

The goose season will also start on October 5 and run for 70 days through December 13. Shooting hours on both ducks and geese will be from sunrise to sunset except for noon on the opening day.

The goose population in the flyway this year is in healthy condition the department reports. Minnesota has selected the maximum 70 day season. Bag limits on geese are the same as last year with 5 daily and 5 in possession. The daily bag and possession limits may not include more than 2 Canada geese or sub-species, or 2 white fronted geese; or one of each.

Support the Season Ticket Sales

The Prowler football players will be making a canvas of the town this week as they begin their campaign to sell season tickets to the Prowler home football games. There is a four-game home schedule this season, opening with the Fertile Falcons here on Friday night, Sept. 6, and continuing with the Roseau Rams on Friday, Sept. 17, Bemidji on Friday, Oct. 18, and closing with the Crookston Pirates on Friday, Oct. 25.

While the purchase of the season tickets will give the fans a saving of forty cents (the ticket will cost $2.00, and the admission, for adults, at the gate, will be sixty cents a game) the greater benefit will be in gaining entrance to the game. There will be no standing in line, and the other small inconveniences that are prevalent when there is a crush at the ticket window...

And judging by the informal scrimmage sessions that have been held (and the Prowlers had a good one at the Lincoln high school field on Teusday evening) the fans will be pleased by the spirit and enthusiasm that the Prowlers coaching staff — Bill Herzog, Jerry Westby, Geo. Schlieff ,and Al Shaff— have instilled in the boys.

In their enthusiasm, and particularly on defense, the Prowlers, lacking experience, will be making mistakes. There are a number of "hungry" linemen on this Prowler squad, and these boys, led by captain Terry Nelson, should prove quite a problem to the teams on the Prowler schedule.

In Tuesday evening's scrimmage, the Whites, with Tommy Cummings handling the quarterback duties in the absence of Rick Jensen, who was limited to defense duties because of a finger injury, bested the Reds by a couple of touchdowns. Tommy had Don Mathieu at left halfback, Ron Olson at right halfback, and Larry Joppru at fullback. For the Reds, with Buzz Olson at quarterback, Rich Nelson was at left halfback, Dale Seefeldt at right halfback, and Joe Taylor at fullback.

And don't forget to support the season ticket sale!

It's Cass Lake vs. Kennedy

The sectional playoff game at Warroad tonight, Wednesday, will find Cass Lake meeting Kennedy for a berth in the state tournament. And I had the Warroad Muskies, after they beat Kennedy by a 7 to 1 score on Saturday night behind the three-hit pitching of Bob Evenson, winning the Region 12B title.

But it wasn't so. Kennedy, with Lyndon Langen pitching, defeated Warroad and pitchers Wayne Smith and Don Ross on Sunday afternon, 9 to 8, to force a third and final game. On Sunday night, Kennedy, on a two-hitter by Hasz, defeated Warroad, 5 to 1.

Warroad had been the defending Region 12B champions, a title that the Muskies had won in the thirteen of the past fourteen years.

Miscellany

Rod Olson, Fertile's all-round athlete, will be attending Concordia college this year. Mayville Teachers had been anxious to get the sturdy Falcon athlete to the North Dakota school, but Rod, who would have been an asset to the Mayville baseball squad, chose the Cobbers . . . Gary Klungness, former Prowler football and track star, and who attended North Dakota State last year, has transferred to Concordia. Gary intends to play football at the Cobber school . . Mike Halcrow, a catcher some years ago with the Drayton Legion team that participated in the sectional tournament, and who played here against the local Legion club, has signed a contract with the Cleveland Indians. Mike has been assigned to the Grand Forks Chiefs of the Northern league, and he has been in a couple of games. He is rated as a top-flight prospect . . . Bemidji College has registered a complaint against the Regina fotball club of the professional Western Football Conference in Canada. The Roughriders signed quarterback Jack Brandt to a professional contract, and Brandt figured to be a key factor in the Bemidji club's offense this season. Brandt is a Canadian from Regina, and it was only natural that the Roughriders, who were hurting at quarterback this season, should make an attractive offer to the Bemidji State veteran. Brandt had one year of eligibility remaining at Bemidji, and it is on that point that the Beavers are lodging their complaint. The National Football league has a "hands off" policy on college football players until their class has graduated or the player's eligibility has been fulfilled.

'63 State Deer Season to Open November 9th

Details of the 1963 deer seasons were released today by the conservation department's game and fish division.

Hunters will have a variety of hunting opportunities again this year, being able to pick from six zones providing one, three, five, and nine days of hunting. Some zones are open to all legal firearms, while others are open to shotguns with single slugs. There will be one closed area in the west central part of the state.

The season in all zones will begin on Saturday, November 9. Shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset.

The boundaries on some zones have changed this year in order to provide for a satisfactory harvest in keeping with current habitat conditions, deer populations and accessibility.

Deer hunters are urged to check their local newspaper about mid-September for an official 1963 deer hunting map showing the zones.

Archery hunters may take deer statewide from September 28 through October 31, and also in all zones establised for the November firearms season. Hunting hours will be from sunrise to sunset.

Deer may also be taken by bow and arrow from November 30 through December 22 south of U. S. Highways No. 10 and No. 210 and State Highway No. 39.

Last fall 96,274 deer were taken by 244,288 resident firearms hunters for a success ratio of 39.4 per cent. In addition 519 deer were taken by 11,902 archers. The 1962 deer harvest was the third highest in the history of the state, with a new high recorded in the number of firearms hunters.

As in past years, the largest number of deer came from the northeast zone where a nine day season was held.

Deer enjoyed another good winter, according to reports from the field. This makes the seventh consecutive year that deer have come through the winter in good shape in Minnesota. Reports indicate that the deer population this year remains at a high level and in a healthy condition.

Highway Use Tax Return Due Sept. 3

Bus and Truck Operators Are Required to File

Truckers and bus operators were reminded today by George O. Lethert, St. Paul district director of internal revenue, that highway use tax returns for the taxable year beginning July 1, 1963 must be filed by August 31, 1963 for every vehicle in taxable use during the month of July. However, Mr. Lethert explained, returns submitted in envelopes postmarked September 3, 1963 will be considered timely filed by his office. This is due to the fact that August 31 falls on a Saturday, and the following Monday is a legal holiday, Labor Day.

Last year, the St. Paul internal revnue service office collected $2,103,772 from 5,781 taxpayers. This was an increase of $336,255 over the highway tax collected during fiscal year 1962, Mr Lethert said.

While the tax due is payable on or before the due date for filing the return, Mr Lethert said, truckers and bus operators may elect to pay the tax owing in four equal installments. Installment payments would be due on August 31, December 31, March 31, and June 30.

Mr. Lethert also reminded taxpayers that any additional vehicles acquired after filing the 1963 return would be subject to the highway use tax in 1963. Another tax on Form 2290 must be filed by the last day of the month following the month that the vehicle was put into operation, he said. A pro-rata share of the annual tax would be payable on these vehicles.

Form 2290 has been mailed to vehicle operators who filed highway use tax returns last year. Copies of the form can be obtained from local internal revenue service offices, and also from state motor vehicle agencies.

Teach Children Safe Cycling, Parents Told

How old should a child be before he is permitted to ride a bicyle in traffic?

The law sets no age minimum. However, until a youngster knows, understands and obeys the rules of the road and can handle his bicyle efficiently, he is not ready to enter heavy traffic, says Glenn Prickett, entension safety specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Failure to observe traffic regulations was one of the reasons for the numerous bicycle accidents in 1962 when 541 people were injured and 12 killed in Minnesota.

This fall many children will be riding to school during hours of busy traffic—in some cases, for the first time. Strict compliance with traffic regulations will help drivers of automobiles and protect the cylist as well, the University safety specialist points out. A bicycle rider who learns and observes traffic regulations during his cycling years will be one step on the road toward becoming a safe automobile driver.

Learning to ride a bicycle can start in the driveway at home, with practice continuing on quiet streets until the cyclist acquires skill to ride safely in traffic.

Family emphasis on safe bicycling may protect a child from injury or even save his life, Prickett said. He listed these rules for safe bicycling:

.Ride on the right side of the road—as for automobile driving.

.Obey all stop signs and signals—as for automobile driving.

.Use arm signals for stopping and for turning at crossings and intersections.

.Provide a white headlight and red tail light or reflector and a bell or horn for the bicycle.

.Keep brakes, handle bars, sprockets, chain and tires in good repair.

.Don't carry passengers on your bicycle.

.Drive at speeds that will make it possible to keep the bicycle under control at all times.

Game and Fish Men to Meet in State

Two Groups to Convene in Minneapolis Sept. 8

Key conservation problems ranging from the recreational space crisis to coping with mounting world pressures on the fisheries resource will be spotlighted when international autorities representative of two world-famed organizations convene in Minneapolis for week-long sessions opening September 8.

Minnesota, for the fourth time in its 105-year history, will host the joint annual conventions of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners, and the American Fisheries Society.

The Pick-Nicollett Hotel's International ballroom is the site for this, the 53rd annual session of the International Ass'n., and the 93rd annual meeting of the Fisheries Society—third oldest scientific society in the nation.

Some 700 delegates, representative of North America's most distinguished conservationists, assemble here in a union of natural resource specialists designed to provide opportunity for debate, interchange of ideas and "frontal assaults" against common conservation challenges.

Orville L. Freeman, U. S. secretary of agriculture and a former Minnesota governor, will deliver the keynote address to International delegates. Fisheries Society keynoter, in sessions geared to the theme "New Horizons in Fisheries," is Athelstan Spilhaus, dean, Institute of technology, University of Minnesota.

Timber Sale Chief Named by Bureau of Indian Affairs

Floyd Ryan, Secretary of Keep Minnesota Green, Inc., Is Given New Post

Floyd T. Ryan, executive secretary of Keep Minnesota Green, Inc., since 1953, has been named resource development officer in charge of timber sales and promotion for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, U. S. Department of Interior, at Minneapolis. Mr. Ryan's appointment is effective September 1st.

As resource development officer with the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Rayn will promote sale of forest products from Indian lands in Minnesota; encourage establishment of wood-using industries on or near reservation areas; provide advice and guidance to forest and mill managers on market demands and needs and coordinate market and sale activities to promote good public relations.

Modern needs have motivated building of a new sawmill on the Red Lake Reservation using private Indian funds entirely. It is equipped to produce paneling, siding, flooring and about any other type of pattern a customer would want. Moulding of all sizes are also part of the operation. Aspen boxes from the sawmill go to the local fish industry which uses from 12,000 to 14,000 boxes annually. Financial returns from the fisheries is $300,000 average annually to the Indians. Total stumpage returns from trees processed at Red Lake Mill has been in the amount of $1,468,246. from 1924 to the fall of 1962.

All of the houses in Duluth, Minnesota could be built from the lumber produced by the Red Lake sawmill during the years from 1924 to fall of 1962.

Many Are Victims of August Traffic

28 Persons Lose Lives in Week from August 12 to 18

"If there is any question about August as one of the worst killer months, this month's record will answer it," Garnet Hall, Minnesota Highway Department safety director said today.

For the most recently reported week, Aug. 12 through Aug. 18, 22 accidents accounted for 28 deaths, bringing the total for the month so far to 53.

Included in this total are 10 motor vehicle collisions accounting for 16 deaths. One of them occurring on TH 13 south of Mendota between a compact car and a pickup truck, caused the death of six persons, and a seventh person critically injured has died since. Five accidents, caused by motor vehicles leaving the roadway were responsible for five deaths. Three accidents between motor vehicles and bicycles resulted in three deaths. Two of them were caused by the bicycles running into the paths of the cars. The third ran into the rear of a truck.

There were two fatal pedestrian accidents: one pedestrian struck walking against the red light and the other struck by a passing car. One motor vehicle-train collision was recorded and one vehicle collision with a fixed object when a car hit the center pier of a bridge over the intersection of Water street and Mississippi Road in Lafayette. This brings the total number of deaths from traffic accidents to 450 through Aug. 18 this year, 57 more than for the same period last year.

Future Farmers Honored for Aid to the Crippled

The Minnesota future Farmers were honored at a Future Farmer of America Appreciation Day at Camp Courage on Wednesday, August 14. The event marked ten years of continuous service to crippled children by Minnesota Future Farmers.

In 1953 the Freeborn Future Farmer Chapter started the project by conducting the first "Corn Drive for Camp Courage," raising $90. In the past ten years Future Farmer chapters have raised $55,827, to send 1,116 handicapped youngsters to camp. This year 75 Minnesota Future Farmers chapters raised over $12,000 to help crippled children.

The drive was started by Future Farmers going into the fields after the corn pickers and gleaning the fields. In areas where corn was not a major crop, chapters made innovations; Thief River Falls gathered grain and Bemidji gathered pulpwood.

Representatives from 19 chapters throughout the state attended the ceremony at Camp Courage. A permanent plaque was unveiled, honoring the oustanding service to crippled children by Minnesota Future Farmers. W. J. Kortesmaki, F. F. A. Executive Secretary, St. Paul; and Roger Hardy, State F. F. A. President, Sacred Heart, accepted the plaque.

Economics Theme of Duluth Session

Conference to Be Held at Hotel Duluth Sept. 10

Natural resources and opportunities for economic development of 81 counties in northern Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan will be targets for discussion and specific action at a Northern Great Lakes Regional Conference on Land and People scheduled for Duluth September 10-11, at Hotel Duluth.

In announcing the conference for the United States Department of Agriculture, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman pointed out that various studies have shown that the region has the land, water, and other resources, and the leadership to create many new income-producing enterprises and many new jobs for its people.

"The question now is the specific action that can be taken to achieve the goals which the studies show are possible," Secretary Freeman said. "This is a question for local people to answer, and this conference was arranged to insure that the services and resources of the Federal Government are available to the local community and region."

Heading a Minnesota executive planning committee for the conference will be Carl W. Moen, director, bureau of information, Minnesota department of conservation. He will be assisted by Brendan J. Connelly, bureau of information, department of conservation, coordinator; Philip Tichenor and Edward Becker, both of the extension service, University of Minnesota; and Walter Carlson, informational representative, Minnesota department of employment security.

The Duluth conference will deal primarily with opportunities for new jobs and an increased level of economic activity through recreational development, agriculture, forestry, and improved transportation.

Secretary Freeman said that local leaders will be asked to pinpoint the obstacles involved in realizing these opportunities, and encouraged to start action to remove the obstacles that stand in the way of the region's economic development.

The Conference also will seek more effective coordination of efforts of government, at all levels, in helping local people with the projects and programs they initiate.

Mental Health to Be Parley Theme

Conference Scheduled in Minneapolis Sept. 16

Minnesota's first leadership conference on action for mental health will be held September 16, at the Capp Towers Motor hotel, Minneapolis. Mrs. William F. Henry, Minneapolis, secretary of the Minnesota Association for Mental Health, which is sponsoring the event, is conference chairman. She is assisted by a planning comittee made up of representatives of 14 Minnesota organizations.

The State Volunteer Council of the Minnesota Department of Public Welfare is co-sponsor. One hundred fifty-six state organizations have responded to date to the call to participate, Mrs. Henry said.

"The purpose of this meeting is to bring together the leadership of voluntary organizations of the state, and, with them, to promote a statewide awakening of citizens to the need for action in the fight against mental illness, named by the American Medical Association as America's most pressing and complex problem," Mrs. Henry commented.

Scholarships Are Available at BSC

130 Students Expected to Receive Special Grants

Bemidji State College will have a greatly expanded scholarship program during the coming college year, according to an anouncement this week by John Glas, BSC assistant to the president and chairman of the college's financial aids committee.

He said an estimated 100 scholarships will be awarded Bemidji State students by Bemidji businessmen, professional people, area clubs and organizations, and that an estimate based on last year's out-of-the-area contributions indicated an additional thirty students will benefit by scholarships provided by home town donors.

Forty-five scholarships in the amount of $150 each have been awarded thus far to incoming 1963 freshmen by the BSC Educational Trusteeship, a fund contributed to by Bemidji area donors. Awards from this fund are made in recognition of outstanding high school performance combined with financial need.

In addition to Bemidji donors to the Bemidji State College Educational Trusteeship during the past year is L. B. Hartz Foundation, Thief River Falls.

Time to Move Slow

Union plumbers have stated that they will not recognize any quota system of employment that is based on population by race. The unions and the contractors' organizations complained specifically that the apprenticeship regulations announced by the Department of Labor last month would force them to adopt racial quotas in their training programs, arbitrarily admitting a certain percentage to each racial group.

Such a regulation obviously would be unfair and the opposition of the organized plumbers and the industry is justified. This kind of regulation is the type of action that always is dangerous when Congress is influenced by emotional considerations and hysterical pressure groups. Under such conditions the regulation-makers should be extra cautious in making their decisions.

Clock Tinkering

The season of clock tinkering is drawing to a close. Minnesota returns to standard time on Tuesday and in a few weeks the nation, and the continent, will be back to normal.

Senator Gale W. McGee of Wyoming, commenting on the differences in clock settings occasioned by daylight saving time, had this to say:

"The . . clock chaos is enough to confuse Father Time himself. As he trudges on his relentless course across the country, he must feel like throwing away his sickle and hourglass in sheer exasperation."

That opinion is shared by a steadily increasing number of people thruout the country who recognize the need for national, and perhaps international regulation, of time zones. The present chaos should be looked upon by all intelligent people in an organized society as intolerable.

Helping Our Youth

The Minneapolis Central Labor Union Council wants the compusory school age in Minnesota raised to 18 and free tuition at the University of Minnesota. Neither idea makes sense.

If the taxpayers of the state were to pay the tuition costs at the University the University would have to be built many times larger than it already is, or the taxpayers would have to pay the tuition for resident students of the state at all schools.

As for upping the compulsory school age from 16 to 18, that would not be in the best interests of a lot of young people in that age bracket who are not interested in going to school and for whom compulsory school attendance would be detrimental rather than helpful.

We are satisfied that more vocational training should be made available for young people who are not interested in academic instruction, and in that direction we should encourage a system of supervised apprenticeship that would enable young people to earn a little money as they were learning a trade in private employment.

Our present regulations in this field, prohibiting the employment of young people in many occupations until they are 18 years old, has been unfair to the young people we are presumably trying to protect, and has been a contributing factor in the increase of youth delinquency. Let's start to face these facts realistically.

Language Requirement

The constitution of the State of New York requires that a citizen must be able to read and write English to qualify as a voter. Mayor Wagner of New York City, thinking in terms of large number of immigrants from Puerto Rico who have settled in the city in recent years, is recommending a constitutional amendment deleting that requirement, pointing out that Spanish has really become the second language of the city.

The New York Times disagrees in no uncertain terms, pointing out that the city has made available 712 night classes and 185 day classes to foreign-speaking residents wishing to learn our language. And, says the Times:

"The Mayor's suggestion that Section 1 of Article II of the State Constitution be amended to delete the requirement that an elector be obliged to "read and write English" would have the effect of perpetuating language ghettos and defeaing the idea of a truly integrated community. After all, if Spanish-speaking persons are permitted to qualify in that language, what logic would justify denying similar exceptions for those who speak French, or Swahili?

"Council President Screvane's argument that the English literacy-test requirement was a product of the anti-alien hysteria of the ninteen-twenties and, therefore, should be abolished in this more enlightened time, overstates the case. The State Constitution was entirely rewritten in 1938 and this requirement stayed in. The suffrage article has been amended three times in 1943, 1945 and 1951—with the literacy test and all the English requirement remaining. We are all for making it easier to take the tests, as the Board of Elections has just done by increasing the number of places at which they will be given. But we oppose a purely political change of requirement that would retard integration, not advance it."

As usual, the position maintained by the New York Times makes good sense.

That Treaty

Those who have opposed the approval of the Test Ban Treaty signed by our Secretary of State in Moscow, base their opposition largely on their lack of faith in the integrity of Khruschev. That lack of faith is understandable. Based on his past performance he certainly does not deserve our confidence.

But this particular treaty does not commit us to a program of weakness, nor does it give to the Russians, or any other nation any special advantages. If the treaty is broken, so what? The situation would merely revert to what it has been. The justification for the approval of the treaty lies mainly in the hope that this short first step in the right direction may lead to more meaningful agreemens later.

It is becoming increasingly obvious that Khruschev is not a personal dictator. We think it would be fairer to state that he is now the spokesman for a group of leaders, and under whose leadership the government is recognizing more and more the rights of the indiivdual and the importance of individual effort. Russia is no longer the police-state that it was under Stalin.

Among the members of the delegation who were present when the treaty was signed in Moscow was Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts. We like the following concluding observations of his report and his general reactions to the people of Russia:

"One cannot help but be impressed by the intellectual capacity of the men at the top of the government, their keenness to have our group shown every courtesy and hospitality. At the same time, the people on the street, though poorly dressed with cloth moccasins for shoes, are eager to see and to window-shop. The several stores we entered were crowded, but it seemed to me that more people looked at my feet and the shoes I wore than at my face . . .

"I came away from Moscow much impressed by the psychological effect of the treaty-signing ceremony, the desire on the part of everyone present to provide a more peaceful world, and the hope that exists in the hearts of people of every nation that the threat of a nuclear holocast may have been lessened . .

"We in the United States want to take every step we believe will be helpful. But we want to be sure in balancing the risks involved—and there will always be risks—that we take those steps which will give us the best chance of obtaining our objective without sacrificing our own security. That is what our government has tried to accomplish in Moscow.

"Now it becomes the duty of the United States Senate to determine, after careful examination and debate on ratification of this treaty, which is the lesser risk for the future of our country and all mankind. I hope that the forthcoming study will indicate that the lesser risk will be for the Senate to advise and consent to the nuclear-test-ban treaty."

Our Language

(Filmore, Calif., Herald)

Never laugh at a person's efforts to speak or write English correctly. Of the four major languages, it is the most difficult to learn. Her's why:

We'll begin with the box, the plural of which is boxes; but the plural of ox is oxen, not oxes.

You may find a lone mouse, or a whole nest of mice; but the plural of house is houses, not hice.

If the plural of man is men, why shouldn't the plural of pan be pen?

If I speak of a foot and you show me two feet, or give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?

If one is a tooth and whole set is teeth, why shouldn't the plural of booth be beeth?

Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him; but imagine the feminine as she, shis and shim!

Lost

(Waseca Journal)

The editor of the Germantown, Pennsylvania, Courier tells of a little lesson he was recently given in "How changing is the world in which we whirl"

He dropped in on a jeweler friend to ask what had happened to the dollar watch—the famous "turnip" of a past age. It was a good watch, and it went on ticking away indefinitely so long as overeager boys didn't take it apart to see what made it work.

Well, the jeweler had the dollar watch. Only now the price tag is $6.50, plus 65 cents federal tax and 26 cents state tax. So the taxes alone total almost as much as the watch used to cost.

The old and revered dollar watch is an excellent symbol of the inflation that is drowning us.

Logs ride a large, rolling table which is moved by an overhead hydraulic arm. Saw blades travel at a speed of 10,000 feet per minute in summer and 7,500 feet per minute in winter when cutting frozen logs. The sawmill is in operation all year.

26 Million Trees to Go on Sale September 1

The Minnesota conservation department announced today that the annual sale of tree seedlings from state-owned nurseries will begin Sept. 1.

By that date, 5,000 application blanks for trees will be in the hands of county agents, forest rangers, SCS and ASCS personnel throughout the state. Applications may also be obtained by writing the Conservation Department, forestry division, Centennial Office Bldg., St. Paul.

Orders must be for quantities of at least 500 trees.

Trees may be ordered in any quantity over this amount. All trees are priced at $10.00 per thousand. No orders will be accepted before Sept. 1 and all applications are processed on a "first come-first served" basis.

Ray Clement, chief of forest nurseries, said that those interested in ordering trees this year should get their orders in as soon as possible after Sept. 1 since there will be nine million fewer trees available this year than last.

Altogether, 26 million trees will be available from state forest nurseries this year, Clement said.

Some of the coniferous or evergreen types that will be offered this year include white, Norway, jack and Scotch pine and white and black spruce.

Some of the broadleaf species available are silver maple, green ash and caragena. All of the various species available are shown on the application blank.

Although more than one species of trees may be ordered, they must be in multiples of 100.

Traffic on State Rural Highways Increased in July

Traffic on Minnesota's rural highways in July increased 6.1 percent over June, the Minnesota Highway Department reports. This is about average for July with the tourist vacation season reaching its peak.

July traffic increased 1.8 percent over the same month a year ago, which is also about an average increase.

The largest increases in July over June took place on U.S. 61 south of Knife River, 11.6 percent; U.S. 10 northwest of Anoka, nine percent; U.S. 10 southeast of Royalton, 6.1 percent.

The greatest traffic volume was recorded on U.S. 10 northwest of Anoka, which had a daily average of 17,406 vehicles in July, as compared to 15,098 for June.

Arsenic Compound Kills Crab Grass

Doesn't Hurt Bluegrass, Says 'U' of M. Scientist

Effective control of crabgrass, the number one pest on the home lawn, is possible for three to four years from a single application of an arsenical compound in early spring before crabgrass germinates.

The arsenical compound also controls some other weeds.

These were among findings of special interest to home owners as well as horticulturists reported by Richard Stadtherr, University of Minnesota, at the American Society of Horticultural Science meetings sponsored by the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

In four years of tests, Stadtherr found that application of an arsenical compound at the manufacturer's recommended rate of 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet gave 95-100 percent control of crabgrass in established lawns. The application did not prevent Kentucky bluegrass and Highland bentgrass from germinating and making a dense lawn. Seedings on bare or thin spots on loamy soils typical of those in an established lawn were successful even when plantings were made just after the herbicides were applied.

Although the arsenical compound actually did reduce top grouth, stands and root growth of established Kentucky bluegrass, no visual evidence of such reductions were observed at the recommended application rate of 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet. At twice this rate reductions were apparent in top growth and saands, especially during droughts. However, with ample moisture, the turf recovered and grew well. More frequent watering and nitrogen fertilizing would probably reduce the effect of the smaller root system resulting under herbicidal treatment.

An even distribution of arsenical compound over the soil surface is necessary to assure good crabgrass contol, Stadtherr cautioned. Crabgrass is prevented from developing when the germinating seedling root comes in actual contact with the arsenical compounds. When the roots did not come in contact with the arsenic, crabgrass plants grew and matured.

Approved Meats Program Started

Follows Action in 1963 Session of Legislature

The Minnesota Department of Agriculture kicked off its new "Minnesota Approved" program for state inspection and certification of meat products manufacturing facilities by presenting the Minnesota Approved "Certificate Number One" to Bill Peters of Peters Meat Products, Inc., St. Paul.

The new label has the words "Minnesota Approved" in an outline of the state of Minnesota, and will begin appearing at meat counters immediately, according to Ben Steffan, supervisor of the meat industries section, Minnesota department of Agriculture.

Steffan explained that the new label certifies that the meat products were manufactored in state inspected and approved facilities and were made exclusively from United States Inspected meats. This new consumer protection program was passed in the 1963 state legislature.

PUBLIC OPINION

Here is our check for another year of the "Times." We really look forward to each issue and it is with mixed emotions that we study each item of news. The recent deaths of Stan Sandvig and Len Goulet shocked us and we can understand the great loss to the community of such fine men. Then we read about the good crops up there this year and the many building projects going on and we know that this will influence the whole economy of the area. How about a progress report of the building in the area together with pictures?

Bill is very happy in his work. He just returned from a trip to Washington and Virginia. The traveling agrees with him. Each trip East he is impressed by the great activity in business out there. Karen left today in her new Volkswagon to teach English in Elgin, Illinois. I am working as secretary to the rector of Trinity Episcopal Church and enjoy my work very much too. Our son, Karl, is with you up there in Thief River as he still feels that that is home.

Please greet all our friends.

A MATTER OF LUCK

Jim didn't catch any fish today. Now, on the way home, he can't help casting an envious eye at Tim's haul. It isn't that he begrudges Tim his fish. It's just that, in his heart, he can't help wish that he had been the lucky one.

This is natural, and Jim is young. He's just beginning to learn that you can't always be a winner, but he still finds losing pretty hard to take in stride.

Fortunately, Jim is being given the advantage of Christian training in church during this all-important period in a boy's life when a sense of values is being formed. He is learning lessons which only the Church can give him.

True, Jim is envying a very small item — a string of fish. But envy and greed come to all of us on a larger scale many times throughout life. To meet this challenge squarely, it takes years of self-discipline. That is why religious training can never begin too early.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL · ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

For Hospital Service . . .

Candystripers Are Cited Last Week

By Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

A recognition party for a group of dedicated teenage girls known as candystripers was given at Northwestern hospital cafeteria in Thief River Falls on August 26. Members of the local hospital auxiliary were hostesses to the annual affair which honors the volunteer workers for their hours of service to the sick.

Candystripers were given pins, ribbons, or candy striped caps, on the basis of their years of service, and presented with certificates of appreciation issued by the National Hospital association. Refreshments were served at the close of the event.

Candystripers receive no school credit for the time they devote in helping spread cheer and in being of assistance in other ways, nor is there any salary paid them. Theirs is the glow of inner satisfaction in having done something worthwhile, of having given something of themselves, of having been helpful in an area where the need for their type of service never ceases to exist.

The idea had its inception around 1948, in Chicago, Ill., and was put into practice in the local hospital four years ago. So popular has it become nation-wide, that plans are in the making to organize a similar unit for boys. Their uniform, of the Ben Casey type, would also feature the familiar red and white stripes which gave the volunteers their name.

Services performed by candystripers include assistance in rehabilitation wards where they might play games with the patients or help them while away the hours in other ways; playing with lonely children in pediatrics, reading, running errands for patients, assisting in the gift shop and doing some of the "leg-work" for over-worked doctors. They are trained and supervised and given work schedules.

Recruitment is carried out by the hospital auxiliary, of which Mrs. J. J. Womack is the local head. Assisting in this area is Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, who makes known the need and the opportunity, through the Future Nurses club, and in other ways. Miss Helen Black, supervisor of Nursing services at Northwestern hospital, is their direct supervisor. The large number of girls participating is proof that the program holds a challenge and appeal for many girls.

The junior group locally will advance to the senior unit in April, having completed a year in the program. The juniors work for an hour at a time, while the seniors remain on duty for a two-hour stretch each day. During the school year, they assist only after school hours.

Senior Candystripers receiving recognition for their contributions were Janet Erickson, Kathy Lannoye, Linda Magnuson, Marlys Mossestad, Alyce Weckworth, Sharon Wold and Mary Womack, who have cimpiled a total of 607 hours. Juniors with over 50 hours to their credit include Arlis Anton, Susan Breznay, Erin Carlson, Karen Grundhaus, Vicki Lane, Karen Mackenroth, Clarice Olson, Diane Reese, Carol Thorstad, Karen Torfin, Meg Wurst and Sharon Zavoral.

Other juniors in the program are Nancy Amundgaard, Barbara Carlson, Sharon Christianson, Barbara Dahle, Judi Hanson, Allona Haugen, Vicki Kotaska, Fernel Myhrer, Jeanette Noper, Donna Rux, Patti Ryan, Sherry Sjulson, Karen Thompson, Charlene Thrane, JoAyne Wangberg, and JoAnn Wold. Junior girls accumulated a grand total of 1,373½ hours in their first year of participation.

Valley Home Now Has 49 in New Building

SOLARIUM located on the southeast corner of the south wing is also one of the popular rooms in the new Valley Home in Thief River Falls. Much of the area is glass to permit a good view of outside activity and the wall at left is made of structural block, artistically arranged. It is hoped the room will become a center of special activity and crafts for the residents.

Recently opened for residents at its site on the south edge of the city, Valley Home for the Aged now has 49 residents in its spacious new quarters. The brick and block structure is entirely one-story in construction and features modern lighting, public address system and air conditioning.

At present the home is restricted to ambulatory residents and has a capacity of 67 persons. Designed by Wells, Denbrook and Associates, Grand Forks architectural firm, the structure is located on about four acres of land at the south edge of Thief River Falls just west of highway 32. It is operated by Valley Home Society, a non-denominational corporation which formerly operated the Valley Christian Home at Horace avenue and Fourth street.

Financing for construction of the new facility was provided to a large extent by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Administration which approved a loan for $390,000. The loan is scheduled to be repaid over a 50-year period at 3.8 per cent interest. The old building at Horace and Fourth is now being razed.

General contract for the structure was awarded to Nasvik Construction company of Bemidji at a total cost of $227,115. This figure includes surfacing of the driveway and parking area and landscaping of the grounds.

Plumbing and heating contractor was Lee Plumbing and Heating company of Thief River Falls on a bid of $89,140; electrical contractor was Naylor Electric of Bemidji at a bid of $28,700; and kitchen equipment was contracted by Aslesen company of Fargo on a bid of $7,127.

Baker Is Superintendent

Superintendent of the new home is Otto Baker, a native of Kittson county who has served as a lay pastor in this area for about two years. He succeeds Rev. Alfred N. Larson who had served as superintendent for the past 17 years.

Included in the building are 28 double rooms, five single rooms, two double housekeeping apartments and one single housekeeping apartment as well as an infirmary. In addition there are large individual storage lockers for each resident, kitchen and laundry facilities, large dining room, solarium, lounge, boiler room, air conditioning room and storage areas.

The dining room also serves as a chapel and arrangements are being made at the present time to provide a schedule of services. With 49 residents now registered there is room for only 18 more people before the home will be filled to capacity.

Rooms Described

All rooms at Valley Home have private baths, fixtures for which are arranged to provide the greatest possible ease in cleaning of floors and walls. The double rooms provide a 14x14 living area in addition to the large bathroom and closet and storage space. Each resident also has a bed, bedside cabinet, desk and chair, easy chair, lamp, bedding, linens and towels.

Rates have been set for $125 per month for a single room and $95 for each person in a double room. All meals are included in the rates and there is no entrance fee for residency in the home. Persons applying for residency must have a chest x-ray and a certificate from their doctor that they are free from communicable diseases.

DINING ROOM at Valley Home is a large, open area with modern dining facilities. The brick area at the rear center of the photo is a fireplace which will serve as a center for social activities during the winter months. Part of the serving window from the kitchen is shown at the extreme right. The ceiling is given a lowered effect through the use of suspended light fixtures and the tile floor makes cleaning easy. The room also doubles as a chapel and a schedule of services is being arranged by management of the home.

OTTO BAKER, a native of Kittson county where his son runs the family farm, is the new superintendent of Valley Home in Thief River Falls. A former lay preacher in the St. Hilaire parish of the Lutheran church, Baker succeeds Rev. Alfred N. Larson who managed the home for 17 years and recently retired. Baker is shown with the microphone which operates the public address system throughout the building.

Girl Scouts Sponsoring Teen-age Dances in City

By Mrs. Melville Simon

Girl Scout-sponsored teen-age dances have not always been a part of the youth activities in Thief River Falls. It all began in 1955 when one Girl Scout Troop volunteered to handle a teen-age dance for a busy service organization. The proceeds intrigued the troop members who were working toward a trip goal, and they prevailed on officials for repeat dances. Finally a group of interested adults met, formulated the present rules and appointed the then secretary of the Girl Scout organization, Mrs. Frank Clinton, as mediator.

All registered Senior Girl Scout Troops in the City are privileged to earn troop funds by putting on teen-age dances. Weekly dances are scheduled nearly every Friday night during the school year, and planned so as not to interfere with school or other civic affairs.

The City Council cooperates by providing the space in the Auditorium at no charge, and Mayor Orin Green and Police Chief Elton Cummings lift the usual 10 p. m. curfew on these dance nights to 12 midnight.

All area young people from 13 to 21 are welcome to the dances as long as they abide by the rules posted in the Auditorium. Just the word "RULE" creates antagonism in certain people, but the rules were made and are being enforced because they insure continued good times with the least amount of confusion to the greatest number of persons. Here they are:

No smoking by anyone.

No one allowed to attend dances who smells of liquor, or misbehaves.

Everyone must register at door. Anyone leaving dance not permitted to return.

Pop not to be taken out or brought in.

No one to go out or in back doors-any time.

No one on stage or wings except authorized.

Troop members gain in experience and financially as well as provide recreation for other youth. A 15cent admission fee per person is charged as they sign the register and have their hand stamped. Music is provided by hit records purchased by the girls and paid for by the local Girl Scout Association, which in turn receives $2.00 from each troop for use of the music facilities. The troop members are responsible for contacting four couples to chaperone each dance.

At the Saturday night session, the group was privileged to hear Margaret Culkin Banning, noted Minnesota author, on the topic, "New Patterns in Living." Mrs. Banning expressed the feeling that it was like coming home, to be able to address the BPW group, adding that membership gave her a feeling of strength and permanence. She stated that at a meeting which she had attended, Al Capp, creator of the Lil' Abner comic strip, said that "women never had it so good." He added that the average age of today's working woman is 41 years.

The bodice was styled with a V front waistline, and the skirt flowed into a bouffant in ballerina length. The gown also featured long sleeves. A pure silk tiara type crown held the veil in place. The crown was studded with miniature simulated pearls and crystal beads. The bridal bouquet was of pink roses and white carnations.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Peggy Lee Laidlaw of Roosevelt. Bridesmaid was Kathy Buchholz of Thief River Falls. Both wore ballerina length dresses of dacron and cotton in copen blue, both fashioned by the wearers. They carried bouquets of pink roses and white carnations in colonial arrangement.

Best man was the groom's brother, Lloyd Nelson of Thief River Falls, and Ronald Nelson, another brother of the groom, attended attended him as groomsman. Orlee Nelson, also a brother of the bridegroom; and Clarence Wangsnes, both of Thief River Falls, shared ushering duties. The men of the party wore white dinner jackets and black trousers.

Mrs. Laidlaw chose a three-piece beige and brown cotton knit suit for the wedding of her daughter; her accessories were beige. Mrs. Nelson wore a blue and black silk print dress. Their corsages were of yellow roses with yellow and tangerine carnations.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors. Approximately 125 guests were received. The four tier wedding cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Lawrence Arneson and Mrs. Carlos Grove, both of Roosevelt.

The couple left on a trip which will take them to their new home in Yuba City, Calif. The bride chose a blue three-piece suit with white accessories for her travel ensemble.

Miss Laidlaw, a graduate of Williams high school in 1961, attended Union College at Lincoln, Nebr., where she studied secretarial science in 1961 - 62. She was employed as a receptionist at the Thief River Clinic prior to her marriage. The groom attended Maplewood Academy at Hutchinson, Minn., and was engaged in farming in rural Thief River Falls.

Sister Placid is in charge of the branch of the Sherwood Music School in this community, offering complete conservatory training to local music students through the school's extension department.

The annual seminar is essentially a "refresher" course, by means of which affiliated teachers of the school are kept in touch with the latest developements in music education. It includes private lessons from distinguished artist teachers, advanced theory studies, and lectures on methods and materials. Special events of this year's seminar included daily lunches and attendance at the Chicagoland Music Festival luncheon.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. CLAYTON MOLSTAD

Promoting an area's products is just naturally good business policy' but though this recipe features both butter and cottage cheese as major ingredients, it was not planned as a promotion . . . it just happened. But we don't don't mind plugging these products at all, especially when they combine to create something as good as this.

CHEESE DESSERT

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 8-oz. package creamed cottage cheese
1 cup butter or margine
three-fourths cup brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon three-fourths cup chopped nuts, preferably walnuts
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons water

Blend cheese with the butter. Sift in the flour and blend until the dough forms a ball. Start oven at 400 degrees (hot).

Divide the dough into thirds. Roll out one portion of dough at a time, to a thickness of one-eighth inch, in a large circle as for a pie shell. Brush with a bit of melted butter, and sprinkle with ¼ cup of the brown sugar. Spread over this one-third of the cheese and a third of the nuts. Cut 16 wedge shaped pieces from this circle. Beginning at the outer edge, roll each piece up tightly and place, point side down, on a greased cooky sheet.

Use up the other two portions in a similar manner. Beat the egg yolk with the water. Brush this frothy mixture over the top of the cookies. Bake 20 minutes or until golden brown, in a fairly hot oven. Yield; about four dozen rich cookies which are great favorites with the adults, children often preferring something a little "lighter".

The Molstads have five children, their ages 9 years to 6 mos. All are boys, with the exception of the fourth one down the line, who supplies motivation for her mother in creating cute little dresses for her. Mrs. Molstad, as might be imagined, is too busy for hobbies, but she reads when occasion presents itself, and keeps a file of birth-dates and other important events, deriving much pleasure from remembering friends and relatives with cards as the date nears. She has also kept baby books of the five children, all of the books up-to-date. She attends Trinity Mothers' Circle and PTA meetings, and was room mother for PTA for several years.

As a family, the Molstads are all good picknickers, and the small fry, as do all small fry the world over, apparently, love to splash about in the park pool. Mr. Molstad is a custodian at Lincoln high school and his hobbies are hunting, especially deer and pheasants, and fishing. His wife also paid tribute to his willingness and skill in helping out with the children, in any capacity where need arises. A husband like that deserves a tribute, don't you home-makers agree?

John Kasts Mark 50 Wedded Years Sunday, August 25

A celebration to honor Mr. and Mrs. John Kast on their 50th wedding anniversary was held in the First Lutheran Church in Goodridge on August 25. The Kasts, former residents of Goodridge and Thief River Falls, are now living at Monroe, La., and have been visitors here recently. They were presented with a corsage and boutonniere of yellow roses by friends.

The couple was seated at a table decorated with gold and white, the theme carried out in the napkin rings, napkins, and place mats, and other appointments. A three-tiered anniversary cake decorated with gold leaves and an anniversary emblem centered the table. White tapers flanked it on either side, along with fall flowers.

Guests at the head table were the honored couple; Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Kast and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kast, brothers of Mr. Kast, and Mrs. Theresa Teslow, a sister; Pat Kast, a niece; Rev. Leland Steen; and Ole Prestebak, master of ceremonies.

Appearing on the program with appropriate remarks were H. O. Berve, Henry Clausen, and Stuart McLeod, all of Thief River Falls, Roy Wiseth of Goodridge and Mrs. Harold Smith of Goodridge. Musical solos were offered by Mrs. Shirley Olson, accompanied by Sharon Swanson at the piano. Devotions were offered by Rev. Steen with musical background supplied by Mrs. H. Smith and Miss S. Swanson. Mr. and Mrs. Kast gave the response.

Cutting and serving the anniversary cake were Mrs. Martin Stenberg and Mrs. Ole Prestebak. Mrs. Roy Wiseth poured, and was assisted by Carrie Urdahl. Waitresses at the head table were Mrs. Ernest Swanson and Mrs. Gust Torgrimson. Other guests were served by Mmes. Ed Geving, Harold South, Sadie Josephson, Fred Hanson, Gust Torgrimson, Roy Wiseth, Ernest Swanson, John Hoffman, Ole Prestebak, Ida Sund, Allen Jones, and Palmer Johnson. Special Labor Day Greeting Sent by Rep. Odin Langen

Congressman Odin Langen today issued the following Labor Day greeting to the people of Minnesota:

"Samuel Gompers, founder and long-time president of the American Federation of Labor, once said that 'Labor Day is devoted to no man, living or dead; to no sect, race or nation.'

"Those words, uttered 50 years ago, are just as true today. Labor Day is for all who toil to make our country great. On this Labor Day, 1963, let us rededicate our labors to preserving the heritage handed down to us by the workers of the past.

"As Gompers also said: 'Doing for people what they can and ought to do for themselves is a dangerous experiment. In the last analysis, the welfare of the workers depends upon their own initiative.'

"That is the thought I wish to leave with you this Labor Day.'

"We should be careful to get out of an experience only the wisdom that is in it and stop there; lest we be like the cat that sits down on a hot stove-lid. She will never sit down on a hot stove-lid again—and that is well; but also she will never sit down on a cold one any more."

Punishing Neutrals

In a talk to West Germany during his recent visit to that country, president Kennedy is quoted as having said:

> "Dante once stated that the hottest places in Hell are reserved for those who in a period of moral crisis maintain their neutrality."

Italian literary experts seem to think he was slightly off the track when he made this impromptu statement. They say the passage he must have had in mind was the statement in the Inferno telling of what happened to the angels who stayed neutral when Lucifer rebelled, fighting for neither God nor the Devil. According to the Financial Post of Toronto:

> "These spineless angels, barred from both Heaven and Hell like Tomlinson in a much later poem by Rudyard Kipling, were placed in a special zone of their own just outside Hell's gates. The poet does not say what the climate is like in that part of limbo; but clearly neutrals are not for burning. It was Dulles, not Dante, who equated neutrality with moral turpitide."

We are glad that that matter has now been officially disposed of.

Why Not?

The House approved another big slice in the appropriation for foreign aid, reducing the total originally requested by the President by more than a billion dollars. That is an encouraging gesture but unfortunately it isn't the final decision. But now that the Russians have suggested a joint effort in the exploration of outer space, getting away from the costly race idea, maybe the sensible section in the House could work out a compromise by putting a little more back into foreign aid and taking a much bigger slice out of the Moon-race appropriation.

A Russian proposal for joint efforts in outer space was announced by Sir. Bernard Lovell, a leading British astronomer, who visited Russia recently. The Canadian reaction to this proposal, as expressed by the Financial Post of Toronto, follows:

> "Sir Bernard reports, after talks with top Soviet scientists and a close look at their latest gadgets, that Russia is interested in getting to the Moon—eventually but not now.
> "The Russians regard the venture as scientific. They do not think there will be any military value or much prestige attached to getting there first. They believe a lot of preliminary work has yet to be done (like putting manned space-platforms aloft and sending a cosmonaut around the Moon) if lives and material are not to be wasted on the enterprise.
> "All of this makes sense to the layman, especially as it agrees exactly with what several eminent U. S. researchers have said. They have asked: What's the hurry?
> "But the chief public interest of Lovell's statement is that he brings an explicit Soviet invitation to the U.S. to cooperate in lunar exploration. The Russians do no want to compete in this field, he told an almost incredulous U. S. reporter. They earnestly and honestly, he said, want to collaborate.
> "This is certainly one of the most exciting ideas to appear on the international horizon for a long time. Russo-American teamwork in the discovery of the Moon (and the discovery is going to happen regardless of complaints about expense) would be better than any non-aggression pact."

Time, and Time Alone

The President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity evidently is trying to be thorough in its efforts to obtain the facts. Of how much actual value the facts will be after they have been gathered and studied is still a question. But some of the facts that already have been revealed are interesting.

For instance, in an effort to secure a racial breakdown of all the carpenters in Alaska, the committee mailed questionnaires to officials of the carpenters unions, and received the following enlightening reply from one of the Secretaries, who stated:

> "We are unable to completely fill out the form on an honest basis, as we are not anthropologists and we do not know when a member becames or ceases to be a Negro, an Indian, an Oriental, a member of a minority group or any of the other designations in the form.
> "For example, the treasurer of this local union, to the best of his knowledge, is part Negro, part Indian, part Jewish, part Irish and has perhaps a little Swedish blood. Another of our officers is roughly in the same category. We do not desire to dissect the poor devils and put part of them in each one of these colums."

And this answer prompted the following observations by the Winnipeg Tribune:

> "Out of all the thousands of forms returned to the committee, tidily separabing Americans into multitudinous categories, the Alaskan carpenters' reply probably will choke the computer. Just the same, it is one of the most sensible and dignified observations recently recorded on racial roots.
> "That Alaskan carpenter would be a handy man to have on Canada's bilingual-bicultural probe. He would be helpful, too, on Manitoba's centenary committee. Someone has to speak up for that population group, seldom represented in any of the racial symposiums, who simply regard themselves as Canadians."

There no doubt are a few pure races in isolated parts of the world. But there probably is no pure race in Europe, the continent of the ancestors of most of us, and the North American continent is a melting pot that already is well along in the process of forming a new blend of many races. Time, and time alone, will solve our race problems. For all practical purposes the President's Committee could just as well quit writing letters at once.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

The Ford Times tells us that an English judge has fined a boy $28 for kissing a girl while driving. Then he fined her the same amount for aiding and abetting.

of Rhyme & Reason

GOVERNMENT AGENCIES SAY WE HAVE AN UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM. It is very likely that they are right. They express concern about high school graduates being able to get jobs. They have asked business and industry to help solve the problems of unemployment and to hire the youths who leave high school without intending to go to college.

In asking industry to solve the problem, government is asking man to high jump but tying both feet together... Government-imposed restrictions are the very reasons why it is impractical to provide youth with on-the-job training or other employment.

Designed to eliminate "sweat shop" conditions of years ago, child labor laws and minimum wage laws have combined with other factors to shackle employers. While no one can argue the need for legislation protecting actual children from exploitation by unscrupulous businessmen—one can certainly question the restriction of able-bodied youth from gainful employment.

The same is true of minimum wage requirements. No one should deny a man or woman the right to a fair wage for services performed. Restrictions under this law, however, deny many individuals the opportunity of receiving any wages at all. The question is, "Which is more inequitable, competitive labor or no work at all?"

At past state press conventions, these laws have been discussed (and cussed) with government officials. Editors have cited examples of not being able to hire part-time workers or on-the-job trainees because of ages, wages and red tape. Now the state restaurant association has joined in voicing complaint over the unnecessary restrictions imposed by legislation.

The food industry places part of the unemployment problem solution directly on the youths themselves. In a letter to Frank T. Starkey, director of the State Department of Employment Security, the manager of the Interlachen Country club wrote, "Our industry is faced with a critical labor shortage at a time when otherts are unemployed. Yet, we cannot find experienced help nor inexperienced willing to train. We interview scores of young people in response to our ads. Young people today leave school with high aspirations and high expectations.

"They are unwilling to accept menial or manual jobs. And for some reason, jobs such as waitress and cook, which eventually with training and experience become excellent paying, are below the dignity of youngsters today. And for some reason, they have come to expect salaries—or wages equal to those of employees many years in the field."

It is the concensus of this writer that almost everyone can find a job if he really looks for one. It may not be the job he wants, where he wants, when he wants at the salary and conditions he wants — and he may not find it this afternoon or tomorrow morning — but it will be employmhent and it will pay a salary. Unemployment is often caused by two things — no will to work and compensation checks.

It won't be long before the first frosts nip the leaves and the autumn panorama begins to unfold in this area. Mrs. Sine Molskness, resident of the Oakland Park Nursing home, was seated outdoors in mid-July and penned a poem about man's inappreciation of nature. She cited that outdoor living is mostly outdoor eating and concluded:

"But for nature's beauties 'round them
They do not care the least;
So, their poor souls are starving
While their bodies have a feast."

Dairy Products Assn. to Resist NFO Plans

Minnesota Dairy Products Association, Incorporated today announced it is embarking immediately upon active, statewide and continuous resistance to the "withholding" dairy program of National Farmers Organization, Incorporated, (NFO) of Corning, Iowa.

The association, with headquarters in Saint Paul for many years, represents a substantial part of the annual volume of dairy products processed in Minnesota and a large proportion of the dairy plants in the state. The association, according to Floyd Thompson, its executive secretary, also has close working relationship with a number of other state and national dairy groups, including National Creameries Association of Washington, D. C.

In announcing its open and continuing opposition to the NFO program, Minnesota Dairy Products Association struck at two main el*ements of that program: (1) Sign*ing up dairy farmers for 3 years regardless of their existing membership in a dairy cooperative and (2) trying to force dairy plants to agree in writing to boost manufacturing milk prices up around $5.00 a hundred pounds at some time in the future when NFO's directors (not the cooperative's) decide the "time is ripe."

The association said its first aim is to alert all dairy farmers to the fact that under the NFO membership agreement they pay dues of $25.00 a year for three years with no assurance that they are going to get back any part of it. Moreover, the Association believes NFO should tell these farmers whom they seek as members how much more it is going to cost them by the "check-off" from their milk check which the processors are required to "hold out" under NFO's Master Processors Contract. Damage to or destruction of their own co-op is another factor the association believes the milk producers of Minnesota should have in mind on NFO claims.

Secondly, the association aims to mobilize Minnesota dairy cooperatives and others for a common defense against the damage that NFO and its program can do to the dairy industry of Minnesota and the dairy plants and dairy producers who built that industry and have a tremendous dollar investment in it.

From its study of NFO's proposals, the association said it can see no prospect of success for that program in Minnesota. Further, that it believes the NFO program will cause heavy losses to dairy producers and their cooperatives if NFO continues its drive to force farmers and dairy plants in Minnesota to "knuckle under" to the untried NFO program of trying to force up prices by witholding milk from markets. In many parts of Minnesota and in other states, the Association said, dairy plants are being threatened by NFO that if they refuse to sign NFO's "Master Processors Contract" that such of their patrons who are NFO members will no longer deliver their milk to the plant. In some cases, this could mean such a drop in volume of milk supplies and would increase operating costs so much that the plant would ultimately close with resulting loss to all producers who have their money tied up in the plant and its operation.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Shirley Swenson who passed away one year ago September 1st.

One year has passed since you were here.
Oh how we miss you Shirley dear
God took you home; it was his will,
But in our hearts you linger still.
We have only your memory dear
Shirley to remember our whole lives through.
But the sweetness will linger forever, as we treasure the image of you.

Sadly missed by her family. 1t70p

Oliver Company Planning Big New Taconite Plant

Contracts for Designing Multi-million Dollar Plant Awarded Aug. 29

Contracts covering engineering design of a proposed taconite plant at Mountain Iron were awarded August 29, C. F. Beukema, president of the U. S. Steel Oliver Mining Division, announced. The plant will be located near the site where the Merritts discovered iron ore on the Mesabi 71 years ago.

Swindell-Dressler Corporation of Pittsburgh, a subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., in association with Abe W. Mathews Engineering Company of Hibbing will collaborate on the proposed project which is expected to become Minnesota's third multi-million ton taconite pant.

The Oliver Division, Mr. Beukema pointed out, has spent 10 years in development work at its Pilotac plant at Mountain Iron which now produces about a million tons of taconite concentrates a year. "This work has been very helpful and has given us considerable knowledge about our product, process development and equipment design," he said. "As a result, Oliver is now ready to design a multi-million ton capacity plant that will be capable of making a high-grade taconite product."

Swindell-Dressler is to prepare complete engineering drawings and plans for concentrator with an initial plant capacity of approximately 4,00,000 tons. Oliver is going ahead with the preparation of detailed plans confident that the people of Minnesota will support the legislature's overwhelming endorsement of the Taconite Fair Tax Amendment, thus enabling Oliver to contruct for equipment and commence construction early in 1965, Mr. Beukema said.

"Our proposed plant will create thousands of jobs during its two-year construction period and, in addition, it will become a customer for millions of dollars worth of materials and services from area suppliers. When in full operation, the plant is expected to provide year-round jobs for approximately 1,500 range miners."

Potato Plant at Fosston Is Sold

Fosston Potato Products, Inc., has been sold to the food products division of Hunt Oil Co. of Texas. Transaction of the sale was completed last week.

The plant, owned and operated by a 24-stockholder corporation, began operating late in 1960. First carload of products was shipped out early in 1961. Dedication of the plant was July 8, 1961, with Gov. Elmer Anderson as main speaker.

Palmer Ostenna, Fosston, was president of the corporation.

Working Heights Cause of Trouble For Homemakers

Heart-of-the-Home Classes To Begin Here Wednesday, Sept. 11

"If your back aches after washing dishes or peeling potatoes, your posture may be causing the trouble," says Mrs. Marion Melrose, home economist in rehabilitation who will be conducting the Heart-of-the-Home classes beginning on Wednesday, September 11, in Thief River Falls.

Women attending the first in the series of four classes will learn that heights of working areas may be responsible for poor posture. This first class will show how to adjust working heights to fit the individual homemaker.

"Housewives who have reason to conserve energy in their daily household duties," Mrs. Melrose adds, "will also learn that proper posture while sitting, standing, walking, and lifting is very important for the prevention of fatigue."

Mrs. Laura Hanson, Heart-of-the-Home Chairman, says that there is still an opportunity for women who have need to conserve energy to join the class.

Heart-of-the-Home classes are sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Health, University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension service and the Minnesota Heart association.

Newfolden Man Has Mature Corn

The first specimens of matured ear corn from the 1963 crop to be brought in to the Times office were from the Orville Elseth farm four miles northeast of Newfolden. Elseth said the corn was taken from a 20-acre field of Agsco Hybrids 82 and 83, which was seeded May 28 after the soil had been fertilized with ammonium nitrate, phosphate and potash. Elseth plans to cut the corn for silage.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Note from George Lee

I received a note from George Lee; the coach of the 1938 state basketball champion Prowlers, and he wishes to extend his thanks for the warm welcome he received when he was up here this summer as the class of 1938 held a reunion.

George, who is the athletic director of the Dallas, Texas, Athletic Club, does say that he was glad he could visit with his two "Assistants" of the 30's, Al Holzknecht and Lloyd Bennes. Said George, "Neither has learned anything in the past 25 years." He added that he is sorry that he missed a number of the "old timers", but to those that he missed meeting and to those that he did meet, he gives his warmest regards. The reunion brought back a lot of pleasant memories.

It Had a Minnesota Tinge

That football game at Winnipeg on Thursday night, between the Vancouver Lions and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, and which was won by Winnipeg by a 16 to 15 score, had plenty of Minnesota color, maroon-and-gold, on the field.

The coaches of the respective teams, Bud Grant of the Winnipeg team and Dave Skrien of the Vancouver Lions, are former Gopher football stars. And on the Winnipeg club are such former Minnesota footballers as Roger Hagberg, Jerry Jones, and Dave Burkholder. And on the Vancouver roster are such boys as Tom Brown, a former All-American at Minnesota, and Bill Munsey.

What's more impressive is that these boys played stellar games in Thursday's thrill-packed game. Brown, the middle linebacker for Vancouver, calls the defensive signals and generally spearheads the rush on the opposing ball carrier. Brown was rated as the game's defensive star, and rightly. Munsey, who is the left-corner linebacker on coach Skrien's club, made a key interception of a pass and turned in a strong game in blunting the Winnipeg running game.

Hagberg, playing at offensive fullback for Winnipeg, was the workhorse of the Blue Bombers' attack, and whenever a couple of vital yards were needed, the ball was given to the hard-charging Hagberg. In addition, Hagberg was on the receiving end of several of Kenny Ploen's passes, and if the footing had been better (a midday rain had softened the turf) he would have picked up good yardage.

Jones who is a newcomer to the Winnipeg squad this season, played with the defensive unit, being a linebacker in the absence of the injured Jack Delveaux, and he was given a "star" for his defensive efforts.

Bob Carlson and I, who were among the 19,600 fans in the Winnipeg stadium, let the near-by fans know that we were from Minnesota. But the payoff is that Bob and I missed the game's most exciting moments, the last-minute touchdowns. With less than five minutes to play with Winnipeg leading, 9 to 8, and Vancouver forced into a punting situation, we left the game in order to avoid the traffic congestion. So what happened? Winnipeg fumbled a lateral pass, with Vancouver recovering, and then the Lions drove for a touchdown and added the conversion to take a 15 to 9 lead. With two minutes to play, the Bombers' Hal Ledyard, a pass-throwing quarterback, entered the game and, completing four of five passes, drove Winnipeg to a touchdown. With the score knotted at 15-all, and 31 seconds to play, George Fleming booted the conversion point to give coach Grant's a one-point win over the previously unbeaten Vancouver club. And Bob and I missed that action. That's like being at the David and Golliath battle and leaving the scene just as David put a pebble in his sling.

They'll Be Tough Enough

I enjoyed a "busman's holiday" on Friday night by driving to Bemidji to witness the football game between the Detroit Lakes Lakers and the Bemidji Lumberjacks. It was a rugged opener for the two teams, and the 7 to 7 tie score was fair enough. Detroit Lakes, on a reverse by Pete Irvine and a placement kick by Dan Jones gained a 7 to 0 lead in the first period. And the Lakers held that advantage until the final seconds of the third period when Bill Bohn shook off a pair of tacklers and ran twelve yards for a touchdown. Fullback Pat Winkler hit the line for the conversion point to knot the game at 7-all.

In the second period, the Lakers had the ball on the Jacks' 2-yard line on a first-and-goal situation, but Bemidji held for downs. In the fourth period, Ralph Lovering, taking a lateral from quarterback Dick Fortier, circled left end for fifteen yards and an apparent touchdown, but the play was nullified by a Bemidji holding penalty.

Detroit Lakes showed a strong runner in right halfback Don Blanding, and an accurate passer in quarterback Pete Irvine. And Irvine has a pair of fine targets in rangy ends Ed Larson and Jon Bolsclair.

The Prowlers play both of these teams this year, meeting the Lakers at Detroit Lakes on Oct. 4, and playing the Jacks here on Oct. 18.

Prowlers To Rebuild in '63

"We are going to have to build character, 'cause we ain't going to win no ball games," might be the cry of the 1963 Thief River Falls Prowlers as head coach Bill Herzog is fated with only one returning regular and the chore of installing a new system under a new coach.

Prospects are actually much brighter than that though, for the Prowlers plan to give their opponents during the tough eight game schedule a rough go. Promising youngsters and veteran's who saw time in last year's games can add to the plus side of the outlook.

Returning regular Terry Nelson will bolster the middle of the offensive line at center. Other returning lettermen in the line will be Bob Olson, a sticky-fingered end who showed brief moments of brilliance last year; Del Schob, also an end, and Bruce Howick at tackle.

One of the really bright lights in the line will be the guard play of Elroy Frolland. Adding to the line strength of returning lettermen will be Pat Munt at center. Added size and aggressiveness promise to make Marc Pream one of the most feared tackles in the Northwest conference.

Backfield experience is good for the Gold and Blue with the return of Joe Taylor to fullback, speedster Ron Olson, Dale Seefeldt, and Rich Nelson at halfback. Shifting from tackle to fullback will be battle-tested Larry Joppru, giving the Prowlers weight and mobility at that position.

The local eleven will run from a basic wing 'T' formation similar to that of Iowa in recent years and use the pro-slot spread as their secondary offense.

Luke Kaushagen, sophomore, shows so much promise that he may push his way up to the first string before the season is over. He is a guard and his equally promising playmate at guard will be the well-developed Curt Harris. Young Dick Brown will also add depth to the center spot.

Although most teams in the Northwest conference are down this year from loss of players in last year's graduation, no team promises to be an easy match this season. Toughest games expected will be against East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, Bemidji, and the loaded Crookston Pirates.

Coach Herzog says, "They're all tough."

He went on to say, "With our young players and the kids we have who really want to play football, we are going to provide some action-packed football for fans in Thief River Falls."

Klungness, 16 Seniors Lost From Outstanding 1962 Team

An all state halfback, a second place finish in the Northwest Conference and a sparkling seven won and two lost record last year gave to Thief River Falls one of the oustanding football teams seen in this part of the state, a team that will be hard to replace.

From that same outstanding team, nearly every starter was lost with only center, Terry Nelson, returning.

The season started when the Prowlers dumped Warren 28-0 as Paul Klungness romped for one touchdown on an 85 yard run. This was the game that started Klungness on his scoring spree that had teams from all over the country after him to attend college and which carried him to All-state honors.

Dilworth surprised the Gold and Blue in the second game by dropping them 14 to 7 with two tremendous goal line stands. The year before the Prowlers had easily romped over the smaller school.

An easy 40-0 defeat was slapped to neighboring Red Lake Falls as Klungness scored three touchdowns. The game was highlighted by a 34 point first half, allowing former coach Joe Mrkonich to use reserve widely in the last half.

East Grand Forks fell before the Prowler swath 22-7 as balanced scoring told the story for the local eleven. Roseau proved to be a tougher foe than anticipated as the TRF squad had to come from behind to down them 20-6 after the Ram's Gary Brandt had jaunted 87 yards to score in the first period.

Revenging three losses in a row, TRF defeated Detroit Lakes 19-7 led again by the slashes of Klungness, who galloped 71 yards for one score. Sacred Heart also fell before the Prowlers 27-0.

The conference championship was decided when Bemidji beat TRF 27-13 in one of the most controversial games of the year. It also showed some of the rough and tumble football that is played in the Northwest Conference.

The season closed with an easy win over the Crookston Pirates 34-6. This is the same team that is expected to show its heels to the rest of the league during the 1963 football season.

The Prowlers scored 224 points during the season while having only 53 points scored against them, actually shutting out three teams in the process.

Play this year will be equally exciting for fans of the Thief River Falls Prowlers. A trip to the local field will be well worth the time and money for those wanting to watch hard fought, rugged football.

TRF Therapist Helps Train Grid Squad

Frank Harger, well-known sports enthusiast and player in Thief River Falls will be the trainer for the 1963 Prowler football team. Harger is the Physical therapist at the Northwestern Hospital of Thief River Falls.

Well qualified for the job, he graduated from Ohio Weselyn in Physical Education and then received his physical therepy training at Medical College of Virginia.

Football Squad Picks Nelson 1963 Captain

Terry Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Nelson was elected captain by his fellow players for the 1963 football season. He also wrestles and has played baseball and run with the track team. He is the only returning starter to coach Bill Herzog's eleven.

Alternate captain selected for the season is Rick Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jensen of Thief River Falls. Rick is a regular on the basketball team as well as one of the top pitchers on Ralph Skay's baseball team.

RAMBLIN' WRECK Larry Joppru takes a handoff from Rick Jensen as Ron Shaff and Don Mathieu head around on the fake during offensive drills for the 1963 Prowlers. The Blue and Gold open their season against Fertile Sept. 6, on the local field.

LHS Junior Varsity Eleven Faces Tough Nine aGme Slate

Lincoln High School's junior Prowlers will take part in one of the most rigorous schedules ever attempted this fall when they play a tough nine game schedule.

The season starts with a bang when the vaunted Bemidji Lumberjacks bring their B squad for a game Saturday, Sept. 7. The first away game will be at East Grand Forks, Wednesday, Sept. 11 and then the Prowlers return home to face Crookston Sept. 18 in an evening game at 7:00.

Roseau visits TRF Wednesday, Sept. 25, before the Gold and Blue make their trek to Bemidji for the return game Saturday, Sept. 28. East Grand Forks comes to TRF on Oct. 2 for a 7:00 game and then a ninth grade only game with Crookston will be played here Oct. 7, a Monday game.

The season winds up with two games on the road as the Prowlers travel to Crookston for a game Wednesday, Oct. 9, and to Roseau October 16.

With Thief River Falls building plans, many of these players will also be seeing action in varsity squads in TRF in some years.

Handling the B squad will be first year men George Schlieff and Al Shaff. Schlieff is the head hockey coach in the winter while Shaff handles the wrestling coaching chores.

Young Prowler Gridders Face Northwest Conference Competition

"Watch out for Crookston—they're loaded!"

This seems to be the cry throughout the Northwestern Conference this year as the consensus gives the Crookston Pirates the best chance to cop the conference Crown.

Last year coach Lowell Larson went along with a youthful team and took his lumps but that same crew will be back playing with him this year and those lumps may turn to plaudits.

Although Bemidji lost all but four starters, they are deep in reserves from last year's championship squad. Both of Bun Fortier's boys will be returning, one at tackle and the other as quarterback, as well as Marv Hanson and "Moose" Broulliard. This, along with the strong reserve staff, will give Red Wilson a good nucleus to return to the top spot in the league.

Thief River Falls lost nearly everything in the backfield and in the line and yet must be conceded a good chance of slipping by to the crown. Returning Terry Nelson is the only regular from last year's second place squad, but here again the good reserve from last year could tell a big story.

Young Gary Brandt may have to carry the brunt of the load for Roseau this year. A stellar back last year, Brandt may turn into of the state before he finishes his playing days. After him the talent in the north falls away sharply.

East Grand Forks lost most of their team from last year and hal the problem multiplied when some of the best players counted on for this season moved out of town. The line is light and the backfield sports only one regular from last year's eleven.

A possible pre-season prediction of the finish for the season might look like this:

1. Crookston
2. Bemidji
3. Thief River Falls
4. Roseau
5. East Grand Forks

Cheerleaders Named For Football Season

Adding sparkle and glamor to the 1963 Prowler football season will be the new version of the cheerleaders seen on every gridiron as autumn rolls around. This new version will be made up of three seniors and two juniors.

Vicki Goulet, daughter of Mrs. Len Goulet, will act as captain of the squad and other seniors with her will be Lorraine Lietzow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lietzow, and Gayle Kruscke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kruscke.

Juniors adding pep and vigor to the scene will be Evonne Lindberg, daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Lindberg, and Delores Overbye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Overbye.

All of the girls have served as cheerleaders before and will also be cheerleaders for the hockey season this winter. Delores and Evonne cheered for the wrestling team last year while the other girls were with hockey or basketball.

Herzog, New Staff to Coach Prowlers

New coaches will fill the top four football positions at Lincoln High School this year as as sessions get underway for the 1963 season.

Bill Herzog will take over the reigns as head coach, replacing the departed Joe Mrkonich. Herzog served as assistant last year when the team compiled a 7-2 record and finished second in the Northwest Confrence. He will be faced with a major rebuilding job this year, since only Terry Nelson at center returns from last year's outstanding team.

He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and hails from Alexandria, Minnesota. Married, he is the father of two children, a son Paul and a daughter Lea.

Handling the assistant job will be recent University of Minnesota graduate Jerry Westby. Jerry is best known for his hockey at the University where he lettered three years and he will act as assistant to George Schlieff in hockey.

He is a native of Minneapolis and graduated from South High School of that city. He is a newly married man who will be in his first teaching job.

Working with the younger backs who will play in most of the "B" games, will be George Schlieff, who will also take over as head hockey coach this coming winter. Schlieff is a graduate of Rochester High School and University of Denver where he lettered one year in hockey and one year in football. Prior to this year, he has worked with the grade school football program. He is married and the father of a small boy.

Assisting Schlieff will be Al Shaff who will work with the younger linemen and handle much of the defense. He is the head of the wrestling coach during the winter and is a graduate of Bemidji State Colege. He is the only unmarried member of the coaching staff.

Experienced hands will handle the eighth and seventh grade football again this year with Dale Folger and Al Adams working the junior high footballers. Last year both coaches had undefeated season's and Folger's eighth grade team had only two first downs and no points scored against them the whole year.

The lower grades still have not arranged their coaching staffs and with the moving of Gayle Halvorson, Roger Dorn and Dick Brooks may be hard pressed for men to fill the slots.

BRIDGEMAN'S

BEMIDJI RETURNEES in clude the three outstanding players from last year shown above. They are Bob Fortier, tackle, Dick Fortier, quarterback, and Marv Hanson, halfback. Although Bemidji lost many starters through graduation, they are again expected to have one of the toughest teams in the Northwest Conference.

Bemidji To Be Tough in Northwest League

"We had our share of victories in 1962 and are well aware of the fact that we cannot come up with a championship team every year." were the words of Red Wilson, the veteran Bemidji coach, as he told of his team for the 1963 season.

Only four returning starters will be on hand from the team that went undefeated and copped the Northwest Conference by defeating Thief River Falls 27-14 in the showdown game.

Dick Fortier will return to handle the quarterback chores, while his brother Bob will be at tackle. The lineman of the twins may miss some of the early season games, being out for a while with a bad leg re-injured during preseason practice.

Marv Hanson will be back at the halfback spot and John Broulliard returns to a flanker end or tackle slot. Wally Peterson, who saw much action last year as a corner backer on defense for the Lumberjacks will be used both ways and lend size to an already large line.

Young John Dow has improved considerably and will give Fortier needed rest at the quarterback spot. One of the best "B" teams in recent years will allow Wilson to move many of these fine young players into his varsity line-up.

Red stated, "Because of the shortage of returning regulars, Bemidji will be in a rebuilding year. We on the coaching staff will be very happy if we can win 5 games of a difficult 9 game schedule."

"We will be playing a number of sophomores and juniors this year and trust that the experience gained this year will make a more promising team in 1964."

When asked about the Northwest Conference, he said, "I believe that the Northwest Conference will be very even since many teams are in the same position as we are as far as returning starters."

"If I were to select a favorite at this time, I would have to pick Crookston Central, followed by Thief River Falls. Crookston has their whole team back intact. Thief River will be coming up with a powerful and fast backfield, which is always difficult for a high school team to stop."

Powerful Sacred Heart Hopes to Avenge Last Year's Defeat

One of the most potent team's the prowlers will face this year will be the Eagles from East Grand Forks Sacred Heart. Last year's team won only three while dropping five, but most of those same players will be back to play for coach Curly Gasperlin.

Loses of seniors showed only four while 15 lettermen greeted the first call, among them were ten of last year's starting eleven. Center Jack Schmalenberg leads the linemen, but on hand will be end Stan Vonasak, tackles Alfred Vigen, John Allard and Dale Hatton. Other line positions are anchored by guard Pete Fall and John Senger.

Quarterback John Neppel will be back to call the signals to the outstanding fullback Lyle Nelson. Rounding out the top backfield will be Pete Lavassure.

Although the Prowlers dumped the team to the west 27-0 last year, it must be remembered that Thief River Falls had one of its outstanding teams and the Eagles were still young. Odds would have to favor the Sacrel Heart crew which will be trying to reverse last year's lopsided score.

Curly Gasperlin had this to say about his team this year, "We could be a real fine squad if we can keep from the injury bug."

Brandt Leads Roseau In Build-Up Season

"Hope for a split on the season. Many gaps to fill," was the way coach Ray Kavanaugh described his young crew as he prepared for a new football season.

Only three starters return from the crew that last year posted a 4-4-1 record, but the highlight is that two of these returners will be the dynamic backfield pair Gary Brandt and Bryan Grand. Brandt can best be remembered to Thief River Falls fans for his dashing 87 yard touchdown romp that put the Rams ahead of the Prowlers in last year's game.

The Prowlers were then forced to come from behind to beat the scrappy Roseau squad 20-6. Thief River Falls can again expect a tough go from the scrappy Rams who they will be facing for homecoming game here in Thief River Falls.

Single line hopeful back will be Rob Leverington, the center, but the top line candidate will be Stuart Nelson.

Red Lake Falls, E. G. Forks Present Strong Young Teams

Dark horse teams in their respective leagues will play the Thief River Prowlers when Red Lake Falls and East Grand Forks take the field against the local Blue and Gold.

Oliver Czech's young RLF team will be lead by last year's quarterback Andy Derosier. Also returning to work in the backfield with him will be the stellar left half Frank Knott.

While dropping five out of nine games last year, the Eagles progressed well during the season to a point that this year's crew will probably give Thief River Falls and other teams a rough go.

"A very young team—heavily stocked with sophmores and juniors," is hthe way the personable Red Lake Falls coach describes his team. He went on to say, "We should improve as the season goes on. We must fill seven regular positions due to graduation and transfer. However, we do have a determined and hard working group."

The Little Green Wave from East Side will be down somewhat from their successful 5-3 season last year but must still be accorded a chance to slip through to the crown in the Northwest Confrence.

Eleven lettermen are on hand for the formation of this year's squad. Rich Hangsleben leads the backs from his fullback spot while Rick Black at end and Don Hart ntgu guard are two linemen back from last season's starters.

"We will be very young," coach Ron Thompson said. "All twelve seniors lost were on the first offensive and defensive units. In addition to this loss, three boys moved out of town, and each would have been a regular."

"Actually, we lost the top 15 of 18 last year. We will be small. As of now, our biggest boy on the entire squad is 167 pounds for the line and 175 for the backfield, but neither of these "big" boys is expected to be in the starting lineup."

Thief River downed the Little Green Wave 22-7 last year as balanced scoring told the story after Klungness had romped for long gains during the game.

Tough Interior Line Gives Detroit Lakes Speedy Running Team

Five of last year's starting eleven will be back on hand for Detroit Lakes when they take on Thief River Falls Oct. 4 in a year that will see both teams trying to rebuild to better times.

The Lakers won only one game last year but expect the dynamic halfback-quarterback combination of Pete Irvine and Don Blanding to carry them a long way. Both sides of the center on the interior line look filled with the return of Dan Jones and Tom Flynn to guard and Dan Gunderson and John Knatts at tackle.

Don Burgett, Laker co-captain, will man the center post on the small but agile line. The entire team must be described as a small, but fast team that can move the ball in quick strikes.

Similar to TRF, coach Haldo Norman is going with a youth movement as 30 of the 60 boys reporting for football were sophomores.

Detroit Lakes takes on Bemidji this week and should provide a test for Thief River of the two season foes. Bemidji also lost many starters but is expected to fill the gaps from reserves and be tough in the Northwest Conference.

After taking a good look at the local squad, an enthusiastic Detroit Lakes sports writer stated, "This team is small but has a lot of drive, we should have a good team."

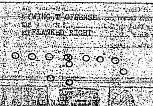
Bill Herzog to Use Wing-T

Wide skirting halfbacks and cruching middle running of fullbacks will highlight the 1963 Prowlers as they run their wing T offense.

The Wing T places the Fullback directly behind the center and one halfback is flanked just behind the end to either side. The other halfback is then just to the right of the left of the fullback.

The Blue and Gold will also utilize a balanced line with a tackle, an end and a guard on each side of the center. The line then will use rule blocking or similar blocking for all situations.

A new innovation used by head coach Bill Herzog is the regular afternoon "skull" session where the boys come to class and are taught football similar to a classroom situation. This allows all of the players to see the theory behind football and therefore help each boy to enjoy the game more.



Methods for Enjoying Football Vary as 1963 Season Opens

Lincoln High School's Prowlers will open their football season for 1963 with Fertile Sept. 6 and a large crowd is expected to be at the stadium to see the latest version of the Blue and Gold.

When attending a football game, there are some things which fans can do which will heighten their enjoyment of the evening. Some of the points to remember are:

Be a good fan. A town not far to our south has a wonderful winning tradition, yet the school and the fans are noted for being the poorest sportsmen in the area. Being, catcalls and derisive remarks are not part of the sport; they should not be tolerated.

Most often it is not the student or the young person who indulges in this sort of antic, but a parent. The referee is doing his best, and even if he should miss a call, he certainly is not going to reverse his call. He can't afford to.

Secondly, know the game of football. Realize what is happening on each play and what each situation means. The best way is to go with someone who knows the game from playing or long watching. Ask questions, point out things and the enjoyment will be there.

Use the facilities present. There will generally be a hot dog and coffe stand present, and a good hot cup of coffee at halftime can really hit the spot on the colder nights. Programs will be given at the gate and these will help because they list players, weights, records and other vital information.

Dress warmly. Although a step outside will generally tell you what to wear, it sometimes is deceiving, so bring more than you think you will need to keep warm. Don't forget to bring along a blanket and some kind of pillow to sit on.

Alcoholic beverages and athletics do not mix. This is a high school game and drinking here can only reflect badly on the fan who indulges, the school and the town.

Root for your team. The Prowlers are going to provide some sparkling offensive and defensive shows this year and need the support of good Thief River Falls fans. Enjoy football, have a good time and you will find that football truly is America's "All-American Sport."

Fertile to Play TRF With Untested Team

Fetrile, the Prowlers opening game foe on Sept. 6, presents a team that last year went undefeated while winning the Pine to Prairie Conference and has 17 lettermen on hand to greet the Blue and Gold.

Coach Chuck Johnson will have to fill large gaps left by the graduation of four all-conference men from last year's squad. Biggest loss will be All-State defensive end Paul Sannes, while Rod Olson at halfback will be hard to replace. Other key losses include Keith Gilbertson and Don Mosher in the line.

Only thirty boys reported for football in Fertile this year and most of those were sophomores or lettermen who had little playing time last year.

The local paper quoted the personable Fertile coach, "It's going to be a tough battle all of the way this year. Lack of experience and the boys we lost last year make our troubles a lot greater."

Fertile plays a tougher season this year than last as they open with Crookston on Sept. 31 and then play Thief River Falls on Sept. 6.

Approves Final Plans Tuesday

Approval of final plans and specifications for construction of new elementary and junior high school facilities in Thief River Falls was given by the board of education meeting in special session Tuesday evening at Lincoln high school. George Klein and Reynold Roberts, representing the architectural firm of Hammel and Green, presented the plans and specifications to the board.

Authorization was also given by the board for a call for bids on the project. Bids will be opened on October 3 at 4 p.m. and formal action on acceptance or rejection of the bids will take place at a meeting of the board in the evening of the same day. Two sections of plans and specifications, involving millwork and glazing and caulking of windows, were not complete but will be received early next week.

Construction of the two buildings was approved by voters of School District 564 at a special election held this spring. At that election voters gave approval to a bond issue of $1,495,000 for school construction and improvement of existing building sites.

Located on property owned by the school district in the southeast section of the city, the two schools will be connected by a 12x60 foot connecting link. This will permit elementary students to use some of the facilities built into the junior high school and the joint use of a central heating plant. The junior high school will be 175x420 feet in size while the elementary school will be approximately 120x120 feet.

Construction Time

Specifications state that upon award of contract, successful bidder must execute a contract with the owner within 10 days after award. Construction shall commence as soon as possible after execution of contract and no later than 10 days thereafter. Assuming a contract will be awarded when bids are received, construction would start no later than October 23.

Specifications prepared by the architect also state, "It is imperative owner occupy and use the elementary school on or before August 31, 1964. The owner also desires the junior high school be ready for occupancy and use at the same time as the elementary school, and it is imperative that it is ready for occupancy and use by December 31, 1964." There is no penalty clause included.

Including tunnels and other construction in addition to the actual school plant, construction area has been calculated at approximately 95,000 square feet.

In other action taken by the board Tuesday evening, Supt. M. R. Hankerson was authorized to call for bids on a fence to be built around the new tennis court recently constructed on Lincoln high school grounds.

50 Rams Consigned

Purebred Ram Sale Is Scheduled On Monday

Sheep raisers interested in top quality breeding stock are expected from a wide area for the 15th Annual Purebred Ram Show and Sale to be held Monday at the livestock pavilion on the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls. Fifty rams of five breeds have been consigned to the sale.

Basic reasoning behind the origin of the sale was to permit breeders of sheep an opportunity to secure good quality registered rams for improvement of their flocks. Shropshires, Columbias, Hampshires, Suffolks and one Southdown have been consigned to the 1963 sale and all rams sold must meet rigid minimum requirements.

Carl Spong of Central Livestock association and Oscar Nelson, Mahnomen county agricultural agent, will be judges of the show to be held in the morning. Sale order will be determined by placing of rams in the morning show and the sale will begin at 1 p. m. Any rams not meeting the high standards set by the directors will be culled out by the judges and will not be offered for sale.

Minimum weights acceptable for yearling rams of the various breeds consigned are as follows: Shropshire, 165 pounds; Hampshire, 175 pounds; Suffolk, 175 pounds; Columbia, 175 pounds and Southdown, 150 pounds.

On Sunday evening a banquet will be held for consignors and

Peterson Cited for Selective Service Work

Clarence E. Peterson of Goodridge, a member of Pennington county local board 82, has been honored for 10 years of service to the Selective Service System. He received a certificate of appreciation from Murley A. Reep, state director of the system.

"The purpose of this letter is to convey my deepest appreciation of your 10 years of service in the Selective Service System in Minnesota," Lt. Col. Reep wrote, "and to express my personal thanks for your splendid record of service and loyalty to the system over the years.

"Although it may not always be expressed, I am sure the people in your community truly appreciate the unnumbered hours of service you have rendered over these 10 years in classifying the registrants, holding conferences and interviews with the registrants and their families, for which you have received no remuneration.

"Your real compensation will come with the knowledge that you are performing a patriotic service to your country — second only to those who actually serve in the armed forces."

This is an examination that all college-caliber people should take if they are interested in employment with the federal government, according to A. H. He also pointed out that 60 career fields are offered through this test, one application to many employers. Last year some 70 departments and agencies made approximately 11,000 appointments from this examination. These career positions were located in Washington, D. C., throughout the United States and in some foreign countries. Over 1,000 appointments were made from among students of the colleges and universities located in Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The written test is given seven times during the year. Applications will be accepted through September 19 for the first test to be held Saturday, October 12. Applicants will increase their opportunity to obtain the jobs they want, Sonntag said, by getting their names on the list of eligibles as soon as possible. Many agencies will make immediate appointments although the college student will not actually go to work until after graduation.

Applications may be obtained from college placement offices, the larger post offices or the St. Louis Civil Service Region, St. Louis, Mo.

Race Driver To Present Safety Talk at School

Duane Carter, Veteran of Indianapolis "500", To Appear September 17

Duane Carter, a veteran of 31 years in automobile racing, will appear at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, September 17, as part of the Champion highway safety program. The program has twice been recipient of the National Safety council's award for public service.

Carter has competed in the Indianapolis 500 race on 13 occasions and has finished in the top 10 on five different years. He drove his first race at Fresno, Cal., and has since driven on every major race track in the country. His appearance in Thief River Falls is sponsored by Falls Supply company.

A member of the Champion 100-Mile-an-Hour-club, he is one of eight Indianapolis drivers who spend the school year talking to teenagers throughout the nation. The club is reserved for those drivers who complete the 500 miles at Indianapolis without relief at an average speed of more than 100 miles an hour.

"We try to avoid the usual do's and don'ts of driving," Carter said. "Instead we hammer home points of attitude and responsibility. Most teen-agers are excellent drivers with good reflexes and good sense. It's the tire burner, the show off, who by his selfish and 'look at me' attitude, gives the wrong impression of the group."

In his message, Carter points out that if drivers would use the same degree of courtesy and mental alertness which is dominant in auto racing, and keep their cars in as good mechanical condition as racing equipment, it would produce a noticeable drop in highway fatalities.

School Board Asks Bids On New School Oct. 3

Approves Final Plans Tuesday

Approval of final plans and specifications for construction of new elementary and junior high school facilities in Thief River Falls was given by the board of education meeting in special session Tuesday evening at Lincoln high school. George Klein and Reynold Roberts, representing the architectural firm of Hammel and Green, presented the plans and specifications to the board.

Authorization was also given by the board for a call for bids on the project. Bids will be opened on October 3 at 4 p.m. and formal action on acceptance or rejection of the bids will take place at a meeting of the board in the evening of the same day. Two sections of plans and specifications, involving millwork and glazing and caulking of windows, were not complete but will be received early next week.

Construction of the two buildings was approved by voters of School District 564 at a special election held this spring. At that election voters gave approval to a bond issue of $1,495,000 for school construction and improvement of existing building sites.

Located on property owned by the school district in the southeast section of the city, the two schools will be connected by a 12x60 foot connecting link. This will permit elementary students to use some of the facilities built into the junior high school and the joint use of a central heating plant. The junior high school will be 175x420 feet in size while the elementary school will be approximately 120x120 feet.

Construction Time

Specifications state that upon award of contract, successful bidder must execute a contract with the owner within 10 days after award. Construction shall commence as soon as possible after execution of contract and no later than 10 days thereafter. Assuming a contract will be awarded when bids are received, construction would start no later than October 23.

Specifications prepared by the architect also state, "It is imperative owner occupy and use the elementary school on or before August 31, 1964. The owner also desires the junior high school be ready for occupancy and use at the same time as the elementary school, and it is imperative that it is ready for occupancy and use by December 31, 1964." There is no penalty clause included.

Including tunnels and other construction in addition to the actual school plant, construction area has been calculated at approximately 95,000 square feet.

In other action taken by the board Tuesday evening, Supt. M. R. Hankerson was authorized to call for bids on a fence to be built around the new tennis court recently constructed on Lincoln high school grounds.

Carl Spong of Central Livestock association and Oscar Nelson, Mahnomen county agricultural agent, will be judges of the show to be held in the morning. Sale order will be determined by placing of rams in the morning show and the sale will begin at 1 p. m. Any rams not meeting the high standards set by the directors will be culled out by the judges and will not be offered for sale.

Minimum weights acceptable for yearling rams of the various breeds consigned are as follows: Shropshire, 165 pounds; Hampshire, 175 pounds, Suffolk, 175 pounds; Columbia, 175 pounds, and Southdown, 150 pounds.

The flowers were all from the garden of Mrs. Melvin Ihle.

Miss Joy Hodik served as pianist. She played before the ceremony and furnished nuptial music, also accompanying Carol Larson, sister of the bride, who sang "The Song of Ruth," and "The Lord's Prayer", as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of eggshell Japanese silk detailed with a full skirt and long, fitted sleeves buttoned at the wrist. It was designed by the bride and fashioned by her mother. The bridal bouquet was of feathered white carnations centered with pink sweetheart roses and accented with white ribbon streamers. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Carol, who wore a street-length sheath dress with a pink nylon chiffon overskirt and a white net hat. Her bouquet was identical to that of the bride except that the streamers were pink.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, John Cox, of Alexandria, and the ushers were John Roseland, cousin of the bride, and Noral Langlie, close friend of the bride's family. All the men wore dark suits with carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother chose a dark blue sheer dress with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a sheer apricot colored dress with matching accessories. Their corsages were white feathered carnations and pink tea roses.

After the ceremony the guests were invited to the home of the bride's parents, where a buffet supper reception was held. Tables and chairs were arranged on the lawn and the serving table inside the house featured a 3-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple and pink candles in holders which had also been used at the bridal table of the bride's parents at their wedding. Several other pieces of pink glassward used on that occasion were also used on the serving table. The color scheme used in the decor was white and pink.

Serving wedding cake was the groom's great-aunt, Mrs. Roy Bernard, of Chatfield, assisted by the groom's small sister, Sarah. Mrs. Louis Roseland, aunt of the bride, poured. All wore corsages. Serving as hostess was Mrs. Hans Langlie. The waitresses were Mrs. Vernon Swan, Mrs. John Roseland, and Mrs. Floyd Hanson.

Helping with arrangements were Mrs. Martin Nelson, Mrs. Hjalmer Martin, and Mrs. Holterman Olson. In charge of the guest book were the groom's sisters, Mrs. John Cox and Mrs. James Moen. REPORT TO THE PEOPLE by Governor

KARL ROLVAAG

About 200 older persons went to a picnic the other day .. an International Senior Citizens Picnic on the Canadian border, overlooking Rainy River. In the meeting hall of the Lutheran Bible Camp they sang, drank coffee, and enjoyed an interesting and entertaining program.

A Heated Debate

The biggest guffaws and applause were drawn by a heated international debate on the question: Resolved, that husbands should help wives with the supper dishes. The Canadian entry, a lady from Rainy River, argued that they should. The Minnesota debater, a man from Williams, said they shouldn't. He lost, I'm sorry to say. This is the second such event, sponsored by the Lake of the Woods County Committee on aging, and what a wonderful way it is to help enrich the lives of our senior citizens! Good fellowship, a sense of personal usefulness and importance, an opportunity to share life's ups and downs .. these are some of the things we must provide to help people who face retirement years.

A Minnesota First

Minnesota was one of the first states to recognize the challenges which have resulted from the lengthened life-span, and the rapidly growing numbers of older persons. It is a "population explosion" that has brought about profound changes in our society and is affecting the outlook for all of us. Consider the fact that in 1900 an average Minnesotan could expect to live to be 48 years old. In 1963 he can expect to live to be 72. And in the decades ahead, we're told, he can expect to go the distance to 100 or more.

Council on Aging Created

To create public awareness of the special needs and potentialities of older persons, Minnesota in 1956 established a Governor's Citizens Council on Aging and, in 1957, the legislature provided for a consultant on aging to help guide and serve local communities. Since that time we have been aggressively seeking ways to help senior citizens — in housing, in employment, in education and leisure-time activities, in improved health and hospital facilities, in liberalized assistance programs. At the top of our list of achievements I would put the work of the volunteers in the four corners of the state.

Invaluable Volunteers

They have thought up and put on hobby shows and picnics. They have stirred up local interest in nursing home needs. They have instigated special efforts in pre-retirement counseling. County by county they have gathered invaluable statistics on the numbers and the needs and interests of the aging. They have drawn on the manifold talents of the older citizens themselves, whose years of accumulated wisdom can be so helpful to us all. Today there are 33 County Committees on Aging, similar to the one in Lake of the Woods. According to the remarkable woman who heads the Governor's Citizens Council on Aging, Mrs. Walter W. Walker, there will be 50 such committees by the end of this year.

More Action Needed

Although the program is constantly growing and improving, it shouldn't be thought that we've conquered all the problems. A great deal needs to be done. It is most regrettable that the legislature failed to remove the ceiling on Old Age Assistance grants. There is still much sub-standard housing to be replaced. While the Kerr-Mills medical care plan will be of some help when it goes into effect in 1964, I feel we must continue to demand Congressional action on the medicare plan integrated with Social Security. Tax relief in the form of an increase in the homestead exemption is essential. Fresh new ideas are needed to promote — through education — a broadened understanding of oneself and one's capabilities. As we undertake these programs we must keep foremost in our thoughts the conviction that each person — senior citizen and junior citizen alike — deserves and must receive full opportunity to participate in the fruits of this great country.

Thank You

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everybody who has contributed to this column and helped make it successful. I have enjoyed writing news for almost five years and will now turn the job back to my mother who started it in our family about 20 years ago. Three of my sisters, Mary Ann, Beverly and Shirley, took their turns writing news before me.

The news column originated as a rural school project in the Mavie school, district 15, under the teacher, Mrs. Al Arneberg (Rose Oski) now of St. Paul and was first written by the eldest student, Mrs. Gordon Kittman (Gladys Sabo) now of Goodridge.

Retriever Club To Sponsor Fall Field Trial on Sunday

Annual fall field trial of the Thief River Retriever Club will be held Sunday beginning at noon, according to club officials. The trial will be held at gravel pit grounds located about 12 miles east of Thief River Falls on highway 1. The road will be marked.

Three stakes for dogs of various experience will be held. Foremost of these will be the Open All Age stake in which dogs from Thief River Falls and several other communities are expected to be entered.

It is hoped that entries from Winnipeg will be on hand to make the trial an international event.

A derby stake will also be held and all owners of retrieving dogs are encouraged to enter the Hunter's Special stake. This stake will provide a good warmup for the fast approaching hunting season. Dogs need not be steady for this stake and need only retrieve singles and doubles.

Entry fee will be $2.50 for the Open All Age stake and $1.50 for the Derby and Hunter's Special. The public is encouraged to attend and no admission fee will be charged. Retrieving will be conducted on both land and water at the trial site. Non members of the club may also enter their dogs in the trial and registration will be taken on the grounds.

Terms Outlined

A simplified and general outline of terms used in a trial and what they mean includes the following:

MARKING: The retriever is allowed to see the game fall or shot; at the direction of the handler, he should go directly to the fall and return the game to hand.

STEADINESS: The retriever should sit quietly on the line until ordered to retrieve by his handler even though the game is shot directly in front of him.

DIVERSION: One or more game shot followed by one shot close in (the diversion) retriever should retrieve all in the order directed and upon the order of the handler.

HONORING: A retriever, having completed a test, may be required to take a place on the line, and sit quietly while another retriever completes the same test. He shall not make an attempt to retrieve in that test.

BLIND: Principally, the directing of a retriever to a fallen or placed game that the retriever does not see, and is accomplished by the handler using the whistle and hands. Sometimes referred to as HANDLING.

A retriever that marks his falls, is steady on the line, uses the wind and handles obediently is performing the typical work of the retriever. The three foremost retrieving breeds are the Labrador, Golden and Chesapeake.

DESIRE to retrieve on either land or water is considered when judges place dogs in field trial competition. In the top photo, a Black Labrador owned by one of the local club members makes a high dive into water to start his retrieve. In the bottom photo he is in hot pursuit of the retrieving dummy which has been thrown for him. Action like this will take place at the Thief River Retriever club fall field trial on Sunday.

The Football Opener

Coach Bill Herzog's football Prowlers, pretty much of an unknown quantity, will open their eight-game 1963 schedule on Friday night by meeting coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile Falcons on the Lincoln high school field. Kickoff time is at 8:00 p. m.

The Fertile team will have the benefit of game experience as the Falcons opened their season last week, dropping a 26 to 0 decision to the Crookston Pirates. That score was surprising as Fertile, although losing such stellar players as All-State choice Paul Sannes, and all-conference back Rod Olson, is well-supplied with lettermen for this season's play. That score could perhaps indicate that it wasn't so much a lack of talent and ability by Fertile as it was the strength exhibited by coach Lowell Larson's Crookston squad.

While Fertile has played the Prowlers in basketball and baseball a number of times, Friday night's game will make the first time that the Falcons have met the locals on the gridiron. The two squads have, in previous years engaged in informal practice sessions, controlled scrimmage and such limited football warfare. Fri such limited football warefare. Friday's game will be "for the record".

The Prowlers, showing great enthusiasm, have had satisfying drills the past week or so, but it is evident that the team will be entereing the season-opener as a "green" club. And it is perhaps fortunate that the blue-and-gold isn't meeting one of the more highly-rated teams in the opener. I have an idea that coach Johnson will have the Falcons "up" for Friday night's game, and with veteran Bob Gullickson, a pass-throwing quarterback, directing the play, Fertile may give the Prowlers defensive unit quite a test.

I'll Pick the Hardware Mutual

The four-team—Hamm's Beer Soo Line, Larson Music Company, and American Hardware Mutual—golf playoffs will be held this evening, Wednesday, at the course north of town, and I'll pick the Hardware Mutual to win the city golf league playoffs.

While there has been considerable jockeying for position, and a careful nursing of the individual handicaps, it's my opinion that Russ Embury's squad, young in years and with plenty of tournament experience, will win the playoffs.

Here's a run-down of the squad rosters, and the handicaps that the golfers will be carrying: American Hardware Mutual — Russ Embury (9), Jon Larson (5), Ron Solheim (1), Ron Kvikstad (6), and Steve Embury (4); Larson Music Company — Justus Lar-Solsten (4); Ted Hellie (6), and Les DeBriyn (9), Soo Ine — Arnie Lee (5), Earle Anderson (5), Ed Broughton (6), Gary DeBriyn (11), and Rick Thompson (3); and Hamm's Beer — Wally DuChamp (7), George Glum (9), Hubert Malt (14), Dr. M. G. Johnson, (8), and Glenn Krenz (9).

It shouldn't be difficult for the engraver to enscribe the names of Jon, Ron, Steve, Russ, and Ron on the championship trophy!

League Bowling to Start

The Commercial and Northern leagues will inaugurate the 1963-64 bowling season on Carl Onkka's Family Bowl lanes on Thursday night. It's the first matches of the season. The league bowling will get going in earnest on Monday night, Sept. 9.

The Family Bowl lanes were refurbished and re-finished this summer, and they are in perfect condition. That the lanes are in excellent shape can be verified by the games turned in by a Mark Stallbaumer a couple of weeks ago. This bowler, a trailer salesman working out of Watertown, So. Dakota, rolled nine games on lane number six, and posted an average of 200-pins, plus. Stallbaumer's home is in Kansas City where, in straightaway bowling, he carries a 212-pin average. In the first six games that he bowled on the Family Bowl lanes, he was near the 210-pin average, but then he developed a blister on his thumb, and in spite of having the thumb bandaged in a layer or two of tape, he scored better than 180 pins per game.

And this is the season when the T & S Implement team, the champions of the Monday night service league, decided, in the interest of good sportsmanship, and to give such teams as the Daleford Farms and others a chance to win a title, have vacated the Service league and moved over into the Tuesday night Business league. Says Red Thyren: "There's more honor in gaining second place in the Business league than in winning the Service league championship." As if the T & S have clinched second place in the Business league!

Miscellany

Jim Haugstul of Fosston won the annual Red River Valley golf tournament played at Crookston on Sunday and Monday. . . Ron Kvikstad and Bob Stordahl, youthful local club golfers, qualified for the championship flight in the Red River tourney. . . Keith Jorde, former Prowler golfer, and a one-time state high school golf champion (Keith won the title while attending Faribault high school, his senior year), was in the four-man finals of the North Central golf tournament played at Grand Forks on Sunday and Monday. Grand Forks' Dr. Jim Leigh won the championship. . .Kennedy, the surprise winners, by a 6 to 3 score, over Cass Lake in a Class B sectional game played at Warroad last Wednesday, did not last long in state tournament play, losing to Biwabik, 20 to 1, on Saturday afternoon in a state tournament game played at St. Cloud. The game was called after seven innings when the ten-run rule was invoked.

Old Crossing Treaty 100th Anniversary Will Be Noted Sept. 29

Plans of observing the 100th anniversary of the Old Crossing Treaty signing between the United States government and Red Lake and Pembina bands of the Chippewa were made Monday at a meeting of Polk and Red Lake county committees.

Anniversary observance will be held Sept. 29, at the Old Crossing Treaty wayside park near Huot. Lawrence Philion, Red Lake Falls, was elected general chairman of the observance by representatives from the two counties.

Committee members pledged support to the State Department of Public Parks and the county commissioners of Red Lake County for improvement of the park properties for the event. New funds have been set aside for the improvements, according to Wayne N. Olson, commissioner of conservation.

State officials invited to participate in the anniversary program include Governor Karl R. Rolvang, Minnesota Historical Society officers and conservation and state park department representatives. The Red Lake tribe of the Chippewa have bben invited. Music will be provided by bands from Crookston and Red Lake Falls.

Historical Societies from the two counties are planning a morning tour of cemeteries near Red Lake Falls and Terrebone where Pierre Bottineau and Benjamin Dalbec are buried. Both men were present at the signing of the treaty.

The organizing committee which met at Red Lake Falls council chambers was headed by Lawrence Philion, Red Lake Falls Mayor. The Crookston Delegation, headed by Mayor Olaf Solne, included Paul Dufek, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and T. M. McCall of the Historical Society.

Other committee members from Red Lake county included, Adrain Brule, chairman of the Board of county commissioners; Mrs. Clifford Christianson, secretary of county Historical Society; Omer Houle, county commissioner; Allen Huot, councilman; Charles Kleven, commericial club; and Carsten Mead.

Economic Parley Slated at Duluth

Sessions Are Scheduled for September 10 and 11

Governor Karl F. Rolvang today urged interested citizens to join representatives of private, local, state and Federal agencies and organizations to trade ideas and discuss methods for boosting northern Minnesot's economy.

The occasion will be the Northern Great Lakes Region Conference on Land and People, scheduled for Duluth September 10 and 11. The key—multiple-use management of the area's natural resources.

About 1,000 community leaders from 81 counties in the northern portions of Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan—and elsewhere in these states, are expected to gather at Hotel Duluth for the two-day session scheduled by Secretary of Argiculture Orville L. Freeman, keynote speaker.

Rolvang, host governor of the tri-state conference, will appear in a panel discussion with Govermor Reynolds of Wisconsin and a representative of Michigan's Governor Romney, who is unable to attend, to set the pace for the opening discussions.

The Duluth conference will deal primarily with opportunities for new jobs and an increased level of economic activity through recreational development, agriculture, forestry, and improved transportation.

Bemidji College Seeks $6 Million for New Buildings

Presents Requests to Legislature's Building Commission Last Week

A total of $6,097,000 was requested by Bemidji State College and Minnesota State College Board authorities of the Minnesota legislative building commission when it met at BSC last week.

This was the estimated cost of building construction needed during the next biennuim at BSC and is the preliminary request to the commission for funds to be appropiated at the 1965 session of the minnesota legislature.

$2,437,000 of this money is for addition and remodeling of buildings in the academic area of the college, $2,700,000 is for new dormitories, $600,000 for food services and $360,000 for married students housing.

John Glas, assistant to the president at BSC, made the presentation of the college's needs and he was assisted by Dr. Roy Prentis, executive secretary of the Minnesota State College Board. Richard Hamel, the board's consulting architect, and A. J. Nelson, State Architect also answered the commissioner's question regarding construction needs.

The meeting was conducted by Sen. Joseph A. Josefson, Minnesota, chairman of the commission, who queried Glas as to the availability of state conservation work funds for the improvement of grounds at the college.

Warns Drivers of Deer on Highways

1,613 Deer Killed by Automobiles Last Year

Minnesota motorists should heed "Deer Crossing Area" warning signs on the highway every day of the year but pay particular attention to them beginning in early October, advises the Minnesota highway department.

At that time the rutting season begins and deer begin to move more freely and cross highways more frequently.

With more than a half million deer in Minnesota, deer crossing the highways wil be a common sight, particularly in the northeastern part of the state and where highways parallel river bottoms. TH 61 south of Hastings and TH 68 near New Ulm could be espicially dangerous.

In 1962, 1,613 deer were reported killed by motor vehicles on the highways, a record for the last five years. Acording to conservation department officials, the number actually killed is believed to be greater, because many motorists who kill deer accidently also haul them away. Occasionally a moose is killed in northeastern Minnesota.

Traveling at speeds between 30 and 60 miles per hour or more, a vehicle striking a deer is usually damaged severly and the driver may be seriously injured, as past accidents have shown. If not killed outright, the deer often is so badly injured it has to be destroyed to end its suffering.

Highway Patrol Is Improving Mobile Radio Facilities

The Minnesota highway patrol is improving communications between district stations and patrol cars by replacing obsolete mobile radio units with new transistorized units.

The 225 units now being replaced are 12 years old and do not meet standards set by the Federal Communications (FCC), according to the FCC regulations would not have prmitted the old units to remain in service after Oct. 31.

The new units have 100-watt output and afford a greater transmitting and receiving range, permitting closer contact between patrol stations and patrolmen on the road. With the old units highway patrolmen often were out of range of stations. The new units mean greater patrol efficiency, which in turn means better enforcement of highway laws and closer cooperation with other law enforcement agencies.

Another advantage is that the transistorized radios have a new circuitry unit that reduces ignition interference and greatly improves sound reception. The new units are also more compact.

In addition to the new radio units, new 100-watt transmitting equipment is being purchased to replace the 50-60 watt equipment.

The new mobile units, purchased on an open bid basis, cost $107,100, or $476 per unit with trade-in. This is $50,000 under the original estimate for purchase of the units.

Longest, Shortest Highways in State

Highway 75 South from Noyes Second Longest

Minnesota's 202 trunk highways, comprising 11,904 miles, range in length from less than one mile to 438.33 miles long, according to the Minnesota Highway Department.

The five longest highways run from the south state line northward, and the five shortest routes are scattered through the state and serve as connecting links.

The longest is TH 61, 438.33 miles from border to border. Next is TH 75, 408.3 miles long from near Ash Creek to Noyes at the northern border; TH 71, 388.56 miles long from the state line south of Jackson to International Falls; TH 59, 373.35 miles long from east of Bigelow to the northern border east of Noyes; and TH 169, 365.47 miles long from Elmore to Tower.

The shortest highway is located just southwest of Willmar, TH 318 extending north for about one-half mile and connecting THs 40, 12 and 23. The four other shortest routes are TH 124, .97 mile long, serving as a connection between TH 55 and TH 23 east of Paynesville; TH 243, 1.23 miles long serving as a route to Osceola, Wis., from TH 95 south of Taylors Falls; TH 308, a link between THs 11 and 89 at Fox; and TH 317, extending for 1.42 miles from the east end of the bridge over the Red River of the North near Robbin to TH 220, connecting highways 17 and 44 in North Dakota with TH 20 in Minnesota.

There are shorter trunk highways in Minnesota, but these—ranging from 792 feet in length to one-half mile—are routes to state institutions, such as Ah-Gwah-Ching at the southwest corner of Leech Lake. These routes were not originally trunk highways but placed on the system to relieve the institutuions of their maintenance.

Good Breakfast Helps Maintain Good Health

What you eat can affect the way you look and feel. Pep and energy to keep up with the crowd, attractive skin, a good figure — these are some of the things teenagers want.

Eating a good breakfast every morning, getting the proper amount of sleep and getting enough exercise, are some of the ways to reach these goals, yet many teenage girls and boys are notorious breakfast skippers.

Scientists at the State University of Iowa's College of Medicine have conducted research that shows that, for young and old alike, a good breakfast is necessary for maximum physical efficiency, especially during the late morning hours. If you get drowsy or feel fatigued by mid-morning and find it hard to concentrate, skipping or skimping on breakfast may be your trouble.

You can improve your mental alertness and all-around health by eating a good breakfast, say extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota. Of course, you'll have to allow enough time in the morning. But by the end of the morning a good breakfast will mean more than those few extra minutes of sleep.

If you think missing breakfast is a practical way to lose weight, you're mistaken, the nutritionists say. One trouble is that the missed breakfast usually leads to in-between-meal snacking when you stack up more calories than you would get at breakfast. Remember that the bar of candy you eat to make up for breakfast may be 271 calories; a soft drink, 74; a doughnut 135. If you've eaten a good breakfast, you'll not be hungry in the middle of the morning and won't be so tempted to snack between meals.

A good breakfast will supply many of the nutrients lacking in teenage diets — the vitimin C in fruit or juice, calcium in milk, B vitamins and iron in cereal products and eggs — all nutrients needed for strong bones, good teeth and general good health.

September, "Better Breakfast Month", is a good time to get into the habit of eating a good breakfast every morning.

More Border Barriers?

The Financial Post of Toronto Canada expresses the concern of Canadaians about President Kennedy's proposal to curtail American investments in Canada in order to keep American dollars from going abroad. It seems that Canada and Japan would be the nations that would suffer most if the Kennedy tax proposal were enacted into law. Here are some of the reasons why the Financial Post thinks such a law would be detrimental to the best interests of both Canada and the United States:

"What the Americans do about taxing themselves is obviously their business.

"But when they stagger on a course that does nothing worthwile for them and hurts Canada a great deal, we have a right to raise a loud cry of pain.

"All FP readers know about the Americans' balance of payments problem, and the fact they very much need to do something about it.

"If they had played less politics and more good government they would have started work on this problem long ago and before it got so serious. However the present scheme includes a spectacular wallop at very large financial dealings between our two countires.

"Canada is by all odds America's best customer. Thousands of U. S. communities and tens of thousands of U. S. workers thrive because Canada buys their merchandise and services.

"One of the ways we Canadians have for paying for this gigantic flow of goods and services is through the sale of Canadian securities in the U. S. The Kennedy scheme to penalize Americans who buy Canadian stocks (other than new issues) throws several big monkey-wrenches into the delicate machinery of our balance of payments.

"If the scheme is okayed by Congress, a lot of Canadian stocks will go down and stay down. It could also cause a run on our dollar, a painful cutback in our purchases of general merchandise in the U. S. and a major economic upheaval extending far beyond the owners of securities.

"Kennedy has goofed on his security tax plan. It does very little for his domestic problem and it creates horrible prospects for his best customer."

Many informed Americans share the Canadian point of view on this matter, doubting that the Kennedy plan will have any substantial effect on our loss-of-gold problem and recognizing the harm to both Canada and our country if we build barriers along the border to a free exchange of goods and services—and investments. Canadians buy much more from us than we buy from them. We need the Canadians and the Canadians need us. The fewer the barriers at the border the better it will be for all of us.

Time to Think

(Norman Cousins in the Saturday Review)

If we are to help Johnny to think—to become truly educated—it becomes necessary to respect the natural requirements of thought.

Somewhere along the line in recent years, a speed-up has taken place in large areas of education. Johnny is expected to read faster, study faster, write faster, and think faster.

No doubt, this is less the fault of educators than of the world itself. But the problems posed by an age of speed are not met by snap judgments, one-page memos on complex subjects, lightning-fast reading techniques, or rapid writing.

We meet our problems only as we comprehend them and give them sustained and sequential thought. The quickest way to compound these problems is to put them in a pressure cooker.

The 40c Dollar

(Chicago Daily News)

The 50-cent dollar, once regarded as the ultimate evil fruit of inflation, would now be welcomed back with open arms, according to a study released by the Nation Industrial Conference Board. For the dollar is now, by the board's calculation, worth 40 cents or less in prewar buying power.

"An American family with an annual income of about $7,500 in 1963 has the purchasing power of the $3000-a-year family of 1939," the board reported. "The reason: inflation and increased federal income and Social Security taxes."

For those concerned, the report made these other comparisons: To gain the purchasing power of a $10,000 income of 1939 requires at 1963 income of $26,934. An income of $80,549 today buys only what $25,000 bought in 1939. And $100,000 worth of 1939 purchasing power now takes $390,741.

It all helps to explain why the more you seem to get ahead, the more you seem to slide back. And why a halt to inflation would do more for older people on fixed incomes than all the welfare legislation now in the Washington hopper.

Pork Barrel Spending

In it's issue of August 16 Life magazine carried an informative report on what was referred to as "our nation's pork barrel outrage." Based on a survey by five qualified reporters, Keith Wheeler, Henry Suydam, Norman Ritter, Bill Wise and Howard Sochurek, the story offers convincing proof that our government is spending increasing millions "on projects done first and foremost for political gain and that we could really do without.

In this interesting nationwide report, prominent recognition is given to the upper harbor in the city of Minneapolis, built at a cost of $30,300,000. It was designed to enable Mississippi river shipping to bypass St. Anthony Falls through a system of locks. The project had been rejected by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers because, in their opinion, the benefits would not be sufficient to justify the costs.

But the powers that be in Minneapolis were persistent and insistent. After years of high pressure and horse-trading tactics, including threats that if the U. S. Engineers would not yield to their demands, those who represented Minneapolis in Washington would see to it that Congress would authorize the project with or without the approval of the Engineers. The politicians finally prevailed. The manner in which the pressure was applied was a shameful example of pork-barrel politics at its worst.

Now that the project has been completed it becomes increasingly evident that the U. S. Engineers were right. The Minneapolis Tribune, cheerleader over a period of many years for the pressure group, now grudgingly admits that fact, but is still hopeful that at some future time the upper harbor may have a little value. A recent Tribune editorial on the sad situation is a weak effort to shift responsibility. It states:

> "Life magazine cites the Upper Harbor in Minneapolis as an example of pork barrel spending. The cost will exceed $30 million and army engineers' long-expressed doubt that the use will justify the expenditure. They gave approval to continuing the project, after a 1956 reappraisal, largely because $11 million already had been spent.
> "Many things have changed since the program began half a century ago. The original estimate was only $8 million. Some firms got tired of waiting for a new Mississippi River terminal and shifted attention to the Minnesota River. This area's other transportation routes have been improved.
> "Yet the river still is an important trafficway for certain cargoes and perhaps the opening of the Upper Harbor this fall will revive the interest in it which once was so intense here.
> "The old, small terminal, just above the Washington Av. bridge, had a disappointing season last year. This year the facilities were leased to Northern Waterways and under private operation the volume of shipping has gained substantially.
> "Whether the old terminal will continue in use hasn't yet been decided. But it has proved useful for coal and other items, and the much larger space at the Upper Harbor should attract new industries to that area and new shipping to the river. There also is the prospect of pleasure craft using the new locks and harbor.
> "That Minneapolis has tended to forget the Upper Harbor is not surprising - appropriations and construction were dragged out far longer than anyone dreamed at the start. What is needed now is an insistent promotional effort to acquaint everybody concerned with the opportunities the Upper Harbor offers."

Now with this local admission of error on record, the broader aspects of pork barrel spending deserve much more public attention than they will receive. We know that millions of dollars were wasted in Minneapolis—under political pressure, for political gain. These millions were only a drop in the bucket in terms of the nation-wide program.

In order to get support for their Minneapolis project, the Minneapolis politicians had to do a lot of horse trading. In order to get votes for what they wanted they had to promise their support for hundreds of other projects throughout the country, many of them of doubtful value. The federal dollars that are wasted in pork barrel spending should be measured in terms of billions rather than millions.

The magazine article evidently stirred up an interesting argument in Congress. The article was of course deeply resented by those members whose records were most vulnerable. We are happy to know that our Congressman, Odin Langen, defended the magazine report, stating:

> "While I might question some of the statements made in the article, I would at least say the story served some good purpose if it caused the public to question some of the government spending programs."

University to Offer Civil Defense Courses

The University of Minnesota general extension division will conduct a state-wide civil defense training program during the 1963-64 school year under a one-year $58,000 contract from the United States Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense.

The program provides for one-day conferences to instuct county and municipal officials on state and local responsibilities in civil defense and for 10 one-week courses to train qualified persons in communities throughout the state to instruct civil defense volunteers on how to operate radiological monitoring equipment.

Dean Willard L. Thompson of the summer session reported he has appointed Lieutenant Colonel Robert J. Elliott, University professor of military science and chairman of the Universit's civil defense advisory committee, as coordinator of the training program. M. Eldon Schultz, who has been coordinator of survival courses for the Minnesota state department of education, has joined the general extension staff as project supervisor for the training program. More than 70,000 adults have taken the survival courses over the last four years.

The University's program will complement civil defense training now conducted by the state department of civil defense and the state education department's adult education program, Dean Thompson said.

Minnesota will be one of several land grant universities offering extension divisions under federal grants as part of a U. S. Department of Defense effort to strengthen the nations civil defense, Thompson said.

"The University of Minnesota," the dean added, "is happy to cooperate with defense department in this program, which is of great importance to our national security a to the safety and survival of the citizens of our state."

The series of one-day conferences for municipal and county officials will be held in 40 Minnesota communities beginning October 15. Staff members of the state civil defense department and of the University of Minnesota will serve on the faculty for the conferences.

The one-week courses on radiological defense will be conducted during the 1963-64 school year in 10 different communities. The schedule and sites of the courses will be announced later. The courses will provide training for instructors, who in turn will teach community how to operate radiological monitoring equipment. Instructors will be selected on the basis of their background in science and in industrial and public safety. They will include high school and college science teachers, industrial safety workers and members of police and fire units.

The radiological monitoring instruments would be used by civil defense volunteers in the event of nuclear attack to measure the general level and kind of radiation present in the environment following the attack, Schultz explained.

Rising Trend of Fatal Mishaps Is Cause of Concern

President of Minnesota Safety Council Foresees 2,500 Deaths During 1963

"If the rising trend in accidental deaths continues unchecked, it is very probable that more than 2,500 Minnesotans will not survive to see 1964."

So said Thomas F. Gallagher, president of the Minnesota Safety Council, today as he made a special plea for everyone to make additional efforts to counteract the increasing number of accidental deaths being recorded in the state.

"Overall, accidental deaths are up about 30 per cent over 1962. In some fields the toll is lower, but in most it is higher. The traffic accident rate indicates a possibility of at least 850 persons dying in traffic alone. Farming, boating, swimming and even household chores are apparently more hazardous."

"Cause of this carnage can be largely attributed to carelessness and irresponsibility. Safety devices and safety education are of small value unless they are utilized by the individual and there is little excuse for the current bad behavior both on and off-the-job. It's usually human error that provides the fatal mistake," Gallagher said.

"Local safety councils must revitalize safety programs within their communities, and individual citizens should lend support and a good example by adhering to all laws and regulations that can help to make driving, working and playing safer in Minnesota. Public support is absolutely necessary if there is to be any hope to regain control of the current situation," he said.

Numerous Events Scheduled in Fall

Many Communities Plan Variety of Festivals

The world's only "box car days," a unique display of steam-powered equipment, re-enactment of the defeat of the Jesse James gang, and a variety of traditional fall and winter events are highlights of a Minnesota Calendar of Events for September through December.

Prepared and distributed by the Minnesota Department of Business Development, the calendar lists more than 90 events and attractions for the balance of 1963 and provides a supplemental listing of major events in January.

Box Car Days, at Tracy on Sept. 1 and 3, commemorates Tracy's early years as an important rail center.

Steam Engine Days, Sept. 6-8, at Mabel, a town of 800, features displays on old time steam engines used for grain threshing and lumbering.

On Sept. 7, Northfield celebrates Defeat of Jesse James Day with a reenactment of the James gang's futile attempt to rob First National Bank of Northfield on Sept. 7, 1876.

Later in the month, on Sept. 25, Worthington will celebrate King Turkey Day, which attracted approximately 50,000 persons last year.

THE KING'S Messengers, the Lindquists of Minnesota, will be the featured musicians each night September 15 to 22 at a special series of meetings at The Evangelical Free church of Thief River Falls. Thousands have heard them on radio, T.V., and in public meetings from coast to coast and abroad. In addition to vocal solos, duets, trios and quartets, the musicians use the vibraharp, guitar, mandolin, piano, and organ.

The meetings will be held each evening at 7:45 p.m., and on Sundays at 11:00 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Rev. Iton Crowell of California will bt the speaker for the series.

One of Minnesota's most unique observances is Kolacky Day, when the community of Montgomery pays homage to the fruit-filled Bohemian buns, on Sept. 29.

Lehman Gardens in Fairbault will be prepared to host more then 35,000 visitors for its World Famous Mum Show, extending from Sept. 14 through Oct. 31.

Scheduled at Thief River Falls are Northwest Town and Country Days October 17-19, and the district "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest November 30.

Plant a crop in deep, rich soil and you plant a crop that will flourish.

Something gives it life. Sun and rain, yes, and certainly rich, abundant soil . . . and yet, something more, something that gives it the ability to seek and use strength.

Someone gives US life . . . nourishing food, warm comfortable shelter, these help certainly. But still . . . something else. Our souls reach far below the surface of everyday existence to find our deeper faith in God's wisdom and power.

We place ourselves at His mercy. We seek Him often in prayer and worship, and "times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord."

Having found this fountain of faith, like the harvest, we point ever heavenward to share with others our discovery.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL · ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst Hanson

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

This is the last time I will be writing my column. I will be leaving the position of Pennington county home agent September 3, to live in Sioux Falls, S. D. I plan to work there in extension work as I have here.

Working with each one of you has been most enjoyable and as I depart from this area I can hosestly say I will miss it. When I came I missed the tall corn fields, but not any more.

If, anytime, you wonder astray toward Sioux Falls, stop by and I'll see if I can brew a pot of coffee. might even find a stale cookie lying around.

It is time again to think about enrolling in the 4-H program. The 4-H cub program gives the young people an opportunity for practical experience in real life situations. 4-H club projects are based on this educational program. Carrying out a project will help the youth to "learn to do by doing."

If you have young persons in your family between the ages of 9 and not over 21, they are eligible to join 4-H.

As a 4-H club member they must select at least one project and complete its requirements each year. The member should also keep record of their project work. The actual project work will be done at home, under the guidance of the parent and local 4-H leaders.

Where would you let it be known that someone is interested in being a 4-H member? You may contact the extension office or the local leader in your community, if you know who he or she is.

Pins, pins, pins — the biggest fashion accessory trend this season —come in every shape and size and color you can imagine. They are worn almost everywhere possible. In size, they range from miniature tie tacs sprinkled on high or turtleneck collars to large, round pins Many flower pins which have been popular this past year will continue to adorn women's lapels, necklines or shoulder lines.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Barbara Hornseth, Ruth Torgerson and Earl Molstad were appointed to serve on the hominating committee in preparation for election next month.

The program which followed the business meeting consisted of a demontsration on forestry by Brian Boman, a demonstration showing the proper way to wash dishes by Gail Fuller, a project report on Home Improvement-Family living by Linnae Yonke, a project report in Safety by Candace Passa, and a reading "Leisure" by Mary McComas of Brainerd.

A weiner roast was held instead of the usual lunch. Mrs. Clebert Molstad was in charge of preparing the coffee and nectar.

Plans Coordinated for C of C Town and Country Days

Preliminary plans for Town & Country Days in Thief River Falls were made at a meeting held Tuesday morning at the Chamber of Commerce office in Thief River Falls. The annual event will incorporate the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy Sale, a dairy foods festival, cooking school, soil testing clinic and several other events.

October 17, 18 and 19 were set as the dates for the three-day event. Attending the meeting were representatives of the Chamber of Commerce executive board, agriculture and retail trade committees, dairy processors, Top-of-the-Nation Dairy association, Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, turkey growers and auto dealers.

Dairying will be in the spotlight during two of the three days with the Fifth Annual Top-of-the-Nation Dairy sale scheduled for 1 p. m. October 17, open house at Bridgeman Creameries that afternoon and a cooking school at the Pennington county courthouse Thursday evening. Princess Kay of the Milky Way will make local appearances on Thursday and will also be in the city Friday when there will be open house at Thief River Cooperative Creamery and special dairy promotions in local stores.

Dr. E. C. Frederick, Crookston, manager of the Top-of-the-Nation sale, met with local officers of the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy association Thursday evening to reveiw the present status of that event. Details of this meeting are covered in another story in today's Times.

A soil testing depot will again be located in downtown Thief River Falls during Town and Country Days. Pennington county has been ranked high in the state for several years on soil testing and it is expected that a number of farmers will take advantage of this service again this year. Cost of the test for farmers is deducted from fertilizer prices by fertilizer dealers in Pennington county.

Saturday, October 19, has been designated at Turkey Day and is expected to feature a free turkey barbecue. Possibilities of a livestock clinic and auto and industrial show are also being investigated.

TRF Legion Post Has Drive for 600 Membership

Enrollment program for 1964 by Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion in Thief River Falls is well underway, according to Orville Hanson, commander. LeRoy Nabben, second vice commander, is chairman of the committee.

Other committee members include Neil Ryan, Kenneth Halldin, Joe Larson, Wallace Jordet, C. W. Rodekuhr, David Clough, Ormond Johnson, James Smillie, Loren Borsheim, George Stockman, Eldon Harbott, Vernon Quam, N. H. Kortuem, Lowell Veum, Orville Hanson, M. R. Leverson, Ellsworth Jorgenson, Ivan Hoglin, Clair Larson, Darby Anderson, Lars Wold, LeRoy Bugge, Allan Paulson, Harry Lund, Leonard Hanson, Evonne Olson and Robert Flynn.

"Special emphasis will be placed on 1964 as the 45th anniversary year of the American Legion which was founded in 1919 by veterans of World War I," Commander Hanson said. "The local post is joining the nearly 17,000 community organizations in the world's largest campaign undertaken by a veterans' organization.

"In order to devote as much time and effort as possible to our community service program," the comander continued, "we are planning to have the bulk of our annual membership drive completed by mid-October. Our early membership enrollment in Thief River Falls will hold the Minnesota American Legion in its bid for "Early Bird" honors from the national organization."

The local post has a goal of 600 members which must be met if the local organization is to continue such community service programs as American Legion junior baseball, the commander said.

Eligibility dates for wartime veterans in joining the Legion are, as follows: World War I, April 6, 1917 to Nov. 11, 1918; World War II, Dec. 7, 1941 to Sept. 2, 1945; and Korean War, June 25, 1950 to July 27, 1953.

All 4-H'ers who have steer, barrow or wether projects are urged to participate in the Saturday showing. Those showing sheep are reminded that the trio in this show must be all wethers and not a mixed group as is permitted at the county fair, Stelmaschuk added.

Group Studies Means to Get Federal Loans

ARA, SBA and FHA Representatives Hold Meeting Here Friday

Assistance available under the Area Redevelopment Administration, Small Business Administration and Farmers Home Administration was reviewed at a meeting held Friday morning in the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls. Presiding at the session was Neil Peterson, staff counsel for Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Presenting information on their agencies were Robert Babich, representative of the State Department of Business Development, ARA division; Robert Alm, deputy director of the Small Business Administration; and Arthur Hanson, director of the Farmers Home Administration in Minnesota. Attending the session were a number of locally interested persons.

Appointed by Gov. Karl Rolvaag only five weeks ago, Babich urged full use of talents, knowledge and resources in community development. He praised Pennington county for its Overall Economic Development Plan and said the county was "ready" to proceed with development programs.

Babich said 95 per cent financing was available for the establishment of industry with 65 per cent coming from the federal ARA program, 20 per cent from the state and 10 per cent from local lending agencies. Low interest rates and long-term repayment make the program especially attractive.

Alm said the SBA is assisting in the formation of local development companies and can make available loans of up to $350,000 for purchase of land, establishment of plant and purchase of equipment. This must be used by a business with expansion or building plans rather than for speculation.

Hanson said that over $30 million in FHA loans had been issued last year to rural families in Minnesota with losses overall of less than one-tenth of one per cent. He emphasized the young farmer program which has received considerable interest in the state and has been operating in Pennington county for about a year.

Meetings similar to the Thief River Falls session were held at Alexandria, East Grand Forks, Moorhead and Bemidji.

Class of 1929 Will Hold Reunion Meeting

Members of the Lincoln high school class of 1929 who are interested in holding a 35-year reunion next year have been invited to meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Rex Cafe to organize preliminary plans for the event.

Pennington 4Hers Rate High In State Fair Competition

Pennington county 4-H'ers wrote an excellent record at the state fair, according to the Pennington county extension office. Half of the livestock exhibits won blue ribbons and half received red ribbons. There were no white ribbons awarded to Pennington 4-H livestock exhibitors. Charles Larson of Happy Acres won reserve championship in a class of 26 with his grade crossbred ewe. Jon Hirst of Black River showed the second place Jersey calf in a class of eight.

The general judging team placed 16th out of 39 entries with Kermit Solem placing as tenth individual out of 156 judges. Other teams were Alan Newton, Harold Myers and Peter Solem. Ross Hanson of Silverton was again selected for beef showmanship at the state fair for the second consecutive year.

The livestock awards are as follows: Blue—Linda and Ted Tollefson, St. Hilaire, Brown Swiss; Jon Hirst, Black River, Jersey; Mark Bruggeman, City View, Holstein; Charles Larson, St. Hilaire, crossbred ewe; Gary Aandal, Mavie, Shropshire ewe; and Kim Brandt, City View, Indian River chickens;

Red - Sandra Nelson, Silverton, Holstein; Leighton Lindwick, Mavie, Shorthorn; Arnold Boman, Steiner, Guernsey; Ross Hanson, Silverton, Hereford; Robert Parnow, Star, crossbred hog; Myles Olson, Kratka, Leghorn chickens and Debra Haugen, St. Hilaire, rabbits.

The nine demonstrators received four blue and four red ribbons. Karen Svendsgaard, a safety demonstrator, Mavie 4-H club has not been advised of ribbon placing. Kathy Svendsgaard, and Cathy Oski, Mavie 4-H club, received a blue ribbon on their team recreation demonstration. These two girls appeared on TV in the Twin Cities.

Peder Furuseth, City View 4-H club, received a blue ribbon on his electrical demonstration entitled "Toward Electrical Fluency." Norma Beiswenger, an 11-year-old demonstrator from Smiley 4-H club received a blue ribbon on her foods demonstration entitled "America's Favorite" which is muffins. Joan and Judy Rupprecht, sisters from the Silverton 4-H club, gave a team demonstration on how to stay trim and also received a blue ribbon.

The red ribbon demonstrators were Lon Szymanski, Mavie, cleaning milkers; Ken Witt, Black River, electrical project on the solenoid; Christine Szymanski, Mavie, correct way to put in a zipper; and Faye Stucy, Deer Park, dairy foods "Hearty Zesty Cheese Snacks." Faye was interviewed over WCCO.

The dress revue girls—Charlotte Myers, Silverton; Nancy Newton, Smiley and Margie Vik, St. Hilaire did a fine job in the dress revue, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, home agent. Except for the court of honor, there is no ribbon placing in this area.

The following exhibits received blue ribbons at the state fair: Alan Newton, Smiley, air compressor; Dennis Ptacek, Silverton, creeper; Karen Kron, New Solum, tote bag made from pine needles; Lynell Sande, City View, stuffed pillow; and Candace Passa and Carol Passa, Steiner, garden. Annette Harder, Silverton, received a blue ribbon on her black wool sheath dress. The judge commented that Annette did a fine job on her dress and said it ranked high among the blue rating.

White ribbon winners are Gary Bruggeman, St. Hilaire, entomology; Regene Radniecki, Deer Park, jelly; and Kathy Breiland, Happy Acres, set of toy monkeys.

Top-of-the-Nation Sale

Survey Shows Buyer Satisfaction Is High

END OF SEASON for swimming enthusiasts in Thief River Falls is evidenced by this photo taken at the Tindolph Park swimming pool. Park-Recreation board employees are shown removing the barge from the pool for land storage until the pool opens next spring.

Buyers at the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy Sale held annually in Thief River Falls have been increasingly satisfied with their purchases. This was evidenced in results of a survey of buyers conducted by Dr. E. C. Frederick, sale manager, and revealed at a meeting held Thursday evening at Inga's Cafe in Thief River Falls.

Dr. Frederick's four-year study of the sale shows a consistent trend in satisfaction of buyers since the sale was started in 1959. The Fifth Annual Top-of-the-Nation sale will be held Thursday, October 17, at the livestock pavilion on the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls. Thirty-two high producing cattle have been promised for the sale at the present time.

All but two of the questionnaires sent out to buyers at the 1962 sale have been returned, Dr. Frederick said. Last year 81 per cent of the buyers were satisfied with the production of the animals purchased and 95 per cent were satisfied with the animals' type. An indication of satisfaction was the fact that 91 per cent of the previous buyers were interested in buying more animals at the sale.

More Production Records

Paralleling the increase in satisfaction was the percentage of buyers keeping production records. Of last year's purchasers, 81 per cent kept production records as compared with 71 per cent in 1961, 35 per cent in 1960 and 36 per cent in 1959.

Dr. Frederick presented his report to Clyde Christensen, president of the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy association, sponsor of the sale, Stuart McLeod, secretary, and other interested persons.

The Top-of-the-Nation dairy sale has the highest entry standards of any dairy sale in the United States. Purebred animals consigned must have official Dairy Herd Improvement association records of at least 450 pounds of butterfat — while — grade — animals must have minimum production records of 400 pounds of butterfat. Springing heifers must be out of dams with these minimum requirements. Minnesota's average dairy cow produces 285 pounds of butterfat a year. Most of the cattle consigned to the sale are far above the minimum requirements.

Buy With Confidence

In addition to the production records, cattle are personally inspected by the sale manager to determine if they meet the rigid requirements of the sale. All animals must be certified TB and Bangs free within 30 days prior to the sale, most are calfhood vaccinated and only sound, healthy animals will be admitted to the sale. These rigid requirements have led the association to adopt the slogan, "BUY WITH CONFIDENCE".

A consignors' meeting will be held Wednesday evening prior to the sale and a dinner for prospective buyers will be held at noon on October 17. This year's sale will be one of the highlights of a Dairy Foods Festival being held October 17 and 18 under the sponsorship of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Jaycees Purchase Concession Trailer

Chapter Will Invite Miss America for '64 Aquacade Next Year

Thief River Falls Jaycees voted to purchase a concession trailer and to extend an invitation to Miss America for the 1964 Aquacade pageant at the regular meeting of the chapter held Thursday evening at the Elks club rooms. Several committee reports were also presented.

Purchase of the two-wheeled concession trailer, leased by the Jaycees for the 1963 Aquacade, was approved by a majority vote of the club in attendance Thursday evening. At a board meeting held Tuesday, directors of the chapter voted to recommend purchase of membership.

In discussion of the trailer purchase, several members noted that the trailer should be made available by the chapter as a public service to local groups and organizations who would have use for it. This fall the trailer will be used by Lincoln high school for concessions at the home football games.

Following discussion of the merits of a special observance for the 10th Annual Aquacade in 1964, the motion to invite Miss America to participate was passed by the membership. Authorization was also given to the 1963 Aquacade committee, headed by James Wilson, to organize advance planning for the 1964 event. Wilson called a meeting of the 1963 committee for Tuesday, September 10, at 8 p. m. in the basement meeting room of Northwestern Bell Telephone company.

James Dale, chairman of the vehicle safety check which was conducted by the Jaycees on August 30, noted that 206 cars had been checked. He said that much better public participation could have been accomplished had the chapter provided more volunteer workers for the project.

George Hildre reported on the Region 2 meeting held in Crookston August 20, reminding the chapter that it had been successful in its bid for the fall Region 2 meeting which will be held in November. He also reviewed the business conducted at the meeting and stressed the initiation of a plan for chapter visitation. The method was tabled at the Crookston meeting for action at the fall regional in Thief River Falls.

Approval was also given by the chapter for including a letter in the package presented by the Newcomer's Club to new residents of the community. This venture will be done in cooperation with the Mrs. Jaycees.

Recent guests at the Iver Torfin home for a weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Torfin of Roseau. They were also dinner guests of the Pete Sorters while in the city.

About 125 guests attended the 10 a. m. double-ring ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father K. Patnode. The girls' choir sang the solemn high mass. Decorating the altar were sprays of gladioli in white baskets.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk organza with embroidered lace on the bodice and long, Mary Stuart style sleeves. The Sabrina neckline was lace-edged. KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of
MRS. SHELDON MORTRUD

A meal in a dish, something you can serve without getting complaints from anyone in the family, seems to be a great favorite with all you gals, young ones, older ones, and those "in-between." With the addition of a crisp salad or one of the molded gelatine variety, and a fruit dessert, it's a "Jg-time" meal.

POTATO HOT DISH

1 can cream of mushroom soup	1 lb. hamburger
1 can vegetable soup	5 cups or more sliced raw potatoes
½ cup catsup	Salt to taste
1 medium onion, diced

Brown meat in fat with the onion. Add catsup. Place a layer of potatoes in a well-greased casserole, follow with a layer of the meat mixture. Combine the soups and pour half over this layer. Add another layer of potatoes, using all of them. Pour remaining soup mixture over the top. Bake one hour at 350 degrees, covered.

The Mortruds have three daughters, Sonia, 10; Marilee, 6, and Debra, 3. The two older girls love to sing together, and even sing duets in the church which they attend. (Our Saviour's Lutheran.)

Mrs. Mortrud, who took up sewing while in 4-H clubs, sews most of the children's clothing. She says she would rather just stay at the sewing machine than do anything else she can think of. She does Sunday school work at the church, attends PTA regularly and enjoys gardening and canning. Her husband is a plumber, working out of Grand Forks, N. D.

As a family, they are enthusiastic campers, with Lake Bronson a favored spot for this family activity. They do quite a bit of cooking out while camping, but also appreciate some of the refinements of modern living while "roughing it" . . . using instant mashed potatoes, for instance.

It sounds like a pretty interesting and satisfying way to live.

New Election Called for at Warroad Plant

The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) Tuesday threw out results of a union election at Marvin Lumber and Cedar Co., Warroad, and ordered a new election, the Minneapolis Tribune reports.

In the election last June, the vote was 62 for the International Woodworkers of America, 74 against it, with 6 other ballots challenged.

C. Edward Knapp, NLRB regional director in Minneapolis, said the election results were canceled after an investigation disclosed that the company, Warroad's largest employer, had interfered with the "freedom of choice of the employes."

He said a new poll will be ordered within 30 days.

The election among Marvin's 150 employes was the union's third attempt to organize the workers. It protested certification of the election results, charging that the company had committed unfair labor practices during the campaign for votes.

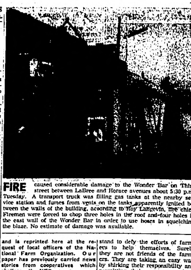
The NLRB investigation upheld the union's complaint, with specific reference to a speech by William S. Marvin, son of the company's founder and the firm's president, at a pre-election meeting sponsored by the "Vote No Committee."

In his speech, Marvin reportedly cited the shutdown of several union millwork plants and told the group the company opposes union representation.

"If any of you men can't stand up and speak for himself," he added, "maybe we made a mistake when we hired you."

The NLRB held that Marvin's speech went beyond "the bounds of permissible campaign propaganda, and deliberately created an atmosphere wherein the freedom of choice of the employes was interfered with."

It described his reference to the closing of union plants as "a thinly clad threat" that Marvin would close if the union won and added: "Marvin's remarks concerning the employer's lack of wisdom in hiring employes who could not stand up and speak for themselves was an implied threat that the employes' job tenure depended upon their rejection of the collective bargaining principle."



FIRE caused considerable damage to the Wonder Bar on Third street between LaBree and Horace avenues about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. A transport truck was filling gas tanks at the nearby service station and fumes from vents on the tanks apparently ignited between the walls of the building, according to Roy Langevin, fire chief. Firemen were forced to chop three holes in the roof and four holes in the east wall of the Wonder Bar in order to use hoses in squelching the blaze. No estimate of damage was available.

PUBLIC OPINION

Here is our check for one more years' subscription to the "Times". We surely would be lost without it, as we enjoy every bit of it and always look forward to the days it comes.

We still love Minnesota, our native state, but we have been in Florida so long now, we love it too, and we are just finishing our home here near Altoona, bordering the beautiful Ocala National Forest, a new development, with people moving in every week from every state in the union.

Our best to all our friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Herb Gulseth
Altoona, Fla.

Editor's Note: The following article by Henry A. Ochsner appeared in the July 2 edition of the "Capital Times" at Madison, Wis., and is reprinted here at the request of local officers of the National Farm Organization. Our paper has previously carried news stories from cooperatives which challenge the NFO program.

Plain, Wis.—During the past 75 years dairy-manufacturing co-ops were organized to return to the farmer-producers a greater share of the consumer's dollar. Because of vicious competition, price cutting and price fixing, many of these plants have been eliminated by bankruptcy and merging one with another until only a fraction of the original plants exist.

The large combines that now replace these original small plants are business establishments capable of determining their operating costs to a fraction of a cent.

They and others like themselves are competing for the consumer dollar and maintenance of sufficient volume to stay in the profit making group.

The small profit per unit on a large volume no longer represents a significant saving to any one producer, though he may receive it. In fact, in many cases he may well be receiving a much smaller return by patronizing a co-op, even if he does own a small fraction of it.

These plants retain, out of necessity, sufficient monies from the sale of the farmers' production to defray their operating costs and the farmer receives what is left and that has no bearing whatsoever on his cost of production.

The NFO program would change this to an equitable, sensible way of marketing that would take into consideration the farmers' cost of production by pricing the production to the plants at a uniform price based on costs of production with incentive payments for quality.

The NFO program also provides for surplus management and the means to protect the farmers' investments. It also provides for getting the farmer off of the federal aid program and permits him to stand on his own feet and run his own business.

Now why do we find co-op managers and directors firmly opposed to this sensible program? Why have they taken a united stand against the producer whom they are supposed to defend? Why are they opposed to a plan to get the producer the greatest possible return for his labor and investment?

We know the answer in some cases where managers receive special considerations, where they can direct the production of their plants into specified trade channels, regardless of the producers' best interests.

Managers are known to have influence on the thinking and actions of co-op directors who for the most part are hard working, trusting individuals, who are so busy with their own farms that they can't give proper attention to their responsibility as plant directors. They are content to permit a high salaried plant manager do their thinking for them.

Many of these directors refuse to stand up to their responsibility to help the producer members improve their economic circumstances and instead make a determined stand to thwart any effort on the part of farmers to help themselves.

These actions defy good sense. Numerous examples can be cited where co-op boards have "closed the door" to a new patron because they have decided that the new patron would not be a "loyal" member. The new patron could even be a stockholder in the plant and have helped to found it.

Such discrimination is inexcusable. Whose interests are these directors serving? Why are they opposing the efforts of farmers to get a fair stable price for all farmers? Is someone buying their favors?

With agricultural production vital to humans the world over and every bit of it sorely needed, it is stupid to have efficient farmers living as second-class citizens. They must stand up and be counted for their fair share of the wealth that they produce and that is 100 per cent return on their labor.

It is to be regretted that co-op direction should align themselves with the opposition and take a stand to defy the efforts of farmers to help themselves. Surely they are not friends of the farmers. They are taking an easy way by shirking their responsibility and permitting their patron members to be exploited and suffer financial insecurity.

These directors are lacking in foresight and guts when both are sorely needed. I challenge them one and all to propose a better and more workable plan than the NFO program to improve the conditions for the American farmer before it is too late.—Henry A. Ochsner.

Airport Runway at Grand Forks Is Heavily Damaged

An estimated $50,000 damage was done to a newly-paved strip of runway on the new Grand Forks airport by a car driver who was tentatively identified as a resident of Inkster, N. D., but who denied having committed the offense.

Representatives of Megarry Brothers, St. Cloud, Minn., contractor engaged in pouring the 5,300-foot-long north-south runway, informed officials that the car drove about 1,000 feet on one of the soft strips, cutting groves two to three inches deep in some areas.

Engineers said the 9-inch thick runway paving may have to be torn out and rebuilt.

The damaged strip is one of six 25-foot concrete strips comprising the 150-foot-wide runway. Three of the strips have hardened but the others still had soft areas not yet cured.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Congratulations state fair participants! All of you did a fine job, and I am proud of you.

If that last wink of sleep means more to some of the family members than taking time for breakfast, perhaps it's time to wake up sluggish appetites with imaginative and different menus.

Because breakfast literally breaks a fast of 12 to 14 hours, it is the most essential meal of the day. It is one of the keys to productivity and efficiency. In some studies that were made, it was discovered that people who ate an adequate breakfast rather than merely taking a coffee break, were generally more productive during the late morning hours, were quicker in their reactions and didn't tire as easily. Children were found to have a better attitude toward school work and were more likely to do well in their studies when they tucked away a good meal before school.

Since September is Better Breakfast Month, and the children have returned to school, start adding a sparkle to the breakfast menus. Find out what is preferred, and if within reason, fix it for them. It has been found that if breakfast is prepared for the children, they are more likely to eat.

Has your child started school? Here are some self-help features that may encourage your child to dress independently. Look for clothes with long openings, preferably in the front, within easy reach. Simple styles rather than complicated ones eliminate the hard-to-tie bows in the back and the other difficult features for the small child. Large buttons or fasteners are easier for the little fingers to manage. Ample armholes, sleeves and necks make it easier for them to get into the garment. The front of the garment should be easily distinguishable from the back.

Dorothy Poolman Named Eagles Aux. "Mother of Year"

Naming of Dorothy Poolman as "Mother of the Year" highlighted the Eagles' auxiliary meeting of Tuesday, September 3, at the Eagles' hall. Announcement of the selection was made by auxiliary president, Tillie Carlson, who pinned the corsage on the honored mother.

Regular business was also conducted, with Tillie Carlson presiding. Announcement was made of the concentrated drive for new memberships which is being launched at this time.

An invitation from the Fargo auxiliary was read, in which all members were extended an invitation to join that auxiliary in honoring their ritualistic team on Tuesday, Sept. 24. Members voted to sponsor a bowling team, as in previous years, and initial plans were made for the Mother-Daughter banquet scheduled for September 30. It was announced that any member not having a daughter to bring could "borrow" a girl of her choice to be guest at the banquet.

Showing of a film on Camp Courage was not made, as planned, because of technical difficulties. It will be shown at the next meeting. Teen Berg was the winner of a prize; another was forfeited by Darlene Bottem. Entertainment was handled by Dolly Davidson and Helen Eckardt. Lunch was served by hostesses Clara Harder, Rose Thomas, Edith Nablen, and Ben Sculthorp. Next regular meeting will be on Monday, September 16.

New Taconite Mine Being Developed

$10,000,000 Project Is Started Near Hoyt Lakes

Governor Karl Rolvaag dedicated Erie Mining Company's new ten million dollar development of the Dunka Pit mining area ten miles northeast of Erie's present facilities at Hoyt Lakes, September 3.

The governor termed the new mine a "key to the redevelopment of Northeastern Minnesota and a forerunner of things to come in the taconite industry."

J. S. Abdnor, assistant to the president of Pickands-Mather and Company, Cleveland, explained that the grade of the Dunka taconite will help improve the quality of the Erie product, and thus, its ability to compete with ores from other sources.

150 men are presently at work on a new railroad and parallel haulage road to serve the mine. Activity, in addition to the future increase in mining employment, includes construction of the 17 mile track, a marshalling yard, two loading areas and a bridge, plus maintenance buildings, a power line and other utilities.

Stripping operations, now in progress, will remove 1,125,000 cubic yards of overburden, exposing the taconite in initial mining areas in 1964.

Prowlers Tip Fertile Friday Night 24 to 0

It was a 24 to 0 win for coach Bill Herzog's football Prowlers in the schedule-opening game played here on Friday night against coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile Falcons. On Friday night, Sept. 13, on Red Lake Falls' Riverside Park field, the Prowlers will meet the Red Lake Falls Eagles.

It was a typical opener, with fumbles and penalties being frequent, and these miscues served to disrupt the offensive drives of the two clubs. The Prowlers, who marked up 17 first downs during the game to hold a decided advantage over the Falcons, who had seven first downs, scored a pair of touchdowns in the opening period, and added single touchdowns in the second and third periods for their 24 to 0 win.

In the opening period, with Fertile winning the toss and choosing to defend the north goal to gain the benefit of a brisk wind, the Prowlers elected to receive. Rick Jensen ran back the opening kickoff for an apparent touchdown, but the play was called back on a clipping violation, and the Prowlers scrimmaged from their 18-yard line. A Prowler fumble was recovered by Fetile on the 12-yard line, and the Falcons had an opportunity to open the scoring. But a Fertile fumble, recovered by the Prowlers' Terry Nelson, halted the threat. From the 12-yard line, Jensen dropping back to the 5-yard line, tossed a pass to left end Bob Olson, who made the catch on the touchdown. Larry Joppru's placement kick for the point was blocked, and the Prowlers had a 6 to 0 lead.

Rick Jensen

Bob Olson

Late in the opening period, with the ball on the Fertile 18-yard line Jensen, showing great speed, swept right end for a touchdown. Joppru's kick was again blocked.

The Prowlers' second period touchdown was tallied by fullback Joppru on a 4-yard plunge over left guard. Joppru's placekick try for the point was off to the left of the uprights.

A blocked kick, with Joe Taylor breaking through to smear Steve Gullickson's kick, with Curt Harris recovering the ball on the Falcons' 28-yard line. Joppru barrelled through the line for a first down on the Fertile 11-yard line. Jensen then hit Rob Olson with a pass, and the glue-fingered end drove over the south goal-line for the touchdown. Joppru's placement kick for the point, was to the right of the uprights.

Fertile, held to but two first downs by rushing, resorted to an aerial attack in the second half, and the Falcons, with Steve Gullickson throwing to receivers Bob Gullickson, Greg Gullickson, and Ken Moland, picked up three consecutive first downs in the fourth period, Mike Benke's pass interception, on the Prowler 28-yard line, halted the scoring threat.

Bemidji 'B's Trim Prowler 'B's 13-0

Local Eleven Faces East Grand Forks Wednesday

The Bemidji Lumberjacks 'B' squad, with halfback Steve Saudi scoring a pair of touchdowns, and Rich Glass tossing a pass for a conversion point, defeated the Prowler 'B' squad, 13 to 0, in a game played on the Lincoln field here Saturday afternoon.

The Prowler 'B' squad, coached by George Schlieff and Al Shaff, suffered a serious loss early last week when, during a scrimmage, Tommy Cummings, a promising quarterback prospect, fractured his left arm. Tommy, who had exhibited talents as a passer, had been relied upon to handle the 'B' team quarterbacking duties. The youngster will be sidelined for the football season, but it is expected that he will be available for the Prowler cage squad.

The Prowler 'B' squad's next game in its 1963 nine-game schedule, will be against East Grand Forks 'B' squad at East Grand Forks on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 11.

Trap Large Bear In Bee Colony at Skime Saturday

Destruction of a colony of bees owned by a Thief River Falls bee keeper was accounted for early Saturday morning with the trapping of a 310-pound black bear about three miles north of Skime. Reports indicate that only six hives in the colony had been left standing.

The bear was trapped between 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. by Frank Shares of Skime and then shot by Shares with a 30-06 rifle. It measured seven feet in length when hung up prior to skinning. While it was reported the bee colony belonged to someone from Thief River Falls, it was not known which of the several bee keepers in this city owned the hives.

It Was Encouraging

The play of the football Prowlers on Friday night, in recording a 24 to 0 win over the Fertile Falcons in a season-opening game, was encouraging to the coaching staff and the fans. While the Falcons, who were Pine-to-Prairie champions last season, did not provide the usual test that is expected from a Fertile club, the Prowlers did show evidences of developing into a capable squad. Fertile, losing eight starters, including such all-conference selections as Rod Olson, Paul Sannes, Don Mosher, and Keith Gilbertson, could not mount a consistent offense, and it was only in the latter stages of the game when quarterback Steve Gullickson took to the air (The Falcons gained five first downs by passes) that coach Chuck Johnson's club was able to move the ball.

The play of the Prowler line, both on offense and defense, was noteworthy, and it will be through the play of the forwards that this season's club will determine its standings in the district and Northwest conference competition.

Fertile's coach Johnson did single out the play of Prowler quarterback Rick Jensen as being of high caliber, Johnson expressed surprise at the speed that Jensen exhibited, and the ability that the bespectacled Rick revealed in taking advantage of his interference and blocking. Prowler fans aren't too surprised at Jensen's speed for they know that he wasn't more than a couple of strides slower than Paul Klungness.

And another plus for the Prowlers on Friday night was the play, especially on offense, of left end Bob Olson. The rangy end picked off a couple of Jensen's passes for touchdowns, and on the long gainer in the first period, Olson showed good speed of foot as he ran sixty yards for the TD after making the catch.

One of the Best

Keith Spindler, who won the 1963 Thief River Golf club title a couple of weeks ago, and who is proving to be one of the finest golfers to play out of the local club, added to his laurels on the Labor Day week-end when he won the 54-hole medal play Founders Day tournament played at Bemidji.

Keith shot a one-under-par 215 stroke total for the 54 holes to gain a four-stroke margin over runner-up Joe Mayer, who carded a 219. Bill Bakken of Minneapolis gained third place, with Pete Groschupf and Dr. Bob Harris of Roseau earning fourth and fifth places, respectively.

Over the years there have been many fine golfers playing as local club members, with such names as Jim Nordine, Vic Jung, Tom and Keith Jorde, Orv Robertson, Paul Rooney, Dick Faber, Hans Chommie, and Stan Larson coming readily to mind. And Keith, who gained the semi-finals of the Pine-to-Palm tourney this season, and has been a contender in every tourney in which he has competed, has earned a place in this lineup.

Of these players the golfer who gained the most fame, perhaps, is Jimmy Nordine. Jim reached the finals of the state amateur one year, and for a number of years he was the top contender in the Northland tournament in Duluth. Spindler's game compares favorably with Nordine's. They are both long drivers and possessed of excellent hand-action. And they both generate these booming drives out of a physique that is more willowy than burly. Vic Jung, who could belt the ball a long way, had the muscles and the weight to overpower the ball. Vic, in spite of his heavy build, and he was in the 200-pound plus class, had remarkable finesse around the greens, and was probably as consistent a putter as has been developed here.

But Spindler is one of the best golfers that has been listed as a member of the local club.

Another Toughie

It's unfortunate that the Bemidji Lumberjacks and the Moorhead Spuds do not meet on the gridiron this season, for a game between these two clubs would be a classic.

On Friday evening, playing at Hibbing, coach Red Wilson's Bemidji club defeated the Hibbing Bluejackets, 13 to 0. And in beating the highly-rated Hibbing team, the Jacks limited the Bluejackets to but four first downs and 54 yards gained. Bemidji gained much prestige by their Friday night win.

And on Saturday night, at Moorhead, coach Jim Gotta's Spuds trounced the Crookston Pirates, 48 to 0, and Crookston, by reason of their decisive opening-game win over Fertile, had been rated quite high. But it wasn't a contest. The Moorhead line, with a pair of splendid ends in Jim Hinz and Ken Gifford, completely smothered the Crookston offense. And on offense the Spuds flashed a versatile backfield, with dashman Dave Lokken taking care of the wide stuff, and Mitch Rasmas and John Gidmark chewing up the yardage through the line. As Shockey Strand, the Spuds' popular basketball coach said, "I believe we'll be as strong as last season's club."

Pheasant Season to Run Oct. 26 to Nov. 30

Minnesota hunters will have a 36 day season on pheasants this fall, the conservation department announced Wednesday.

The season will run from Oct. 26 through Nov. 30. Shooting hours will be from 10:00 a. m. to sunset except for the opening day when hunters must wait until 12:00 noon.

Bag limits will be three roosters daily and six in possession. As usual, hens will be protected to insure future production.

A season on Hungarian partridge will run concurrently with the pheasant season. Bag limits on Huns will also be three and six.

Hunters will find pheasants more plentiful in many areas this year than they were in 1962, according to the department's game and fish division. Roadside counts in 52 counties in August showed a 30 per cent increase in pheasant numbers over last year when 900,000 roosters were taken.

The increase is credited to a less severe winter and improved hatching conditions this spring. The largest increases are in the west-central and central counties.

Parts of south-central and southwestern counties were hit by heavy rains and hail shortly after the pheasant chicks hatched, resulting in some loss of young birds. This means hunters in these particular counties can expect little improvement over last season when hunting results were just fair.

A high percentage (85 per cent) of the hens observed on the census routes this year had broods and the average brood size was normal at six chicks.

Department game officials expect more than 200,000 pheasant hunters in the field this fall and believe that over one million pheasant hens and roosters will be taken. Weather and cover conditions have a great influence on hunting success, however.

Since good moisture conditions this year have encouraged vegetative growth, it is anticipated that hunters will find heavy cover in some areas. The pheasant—a wily, sporty bird—will often hide in heavy cover and refuse to fly unless forced to do so.

Hunters with dogs will have a real advantage under these conditions, both in flushing the birds and in finding and retrieving downed pheasants.

A cottonwood tree eight feet in diameter is the largest entry so far in the "Big Tree" contest sponsored by the Minnesota division of the Izaak Walton League.

Fifty species of native Minnesota trees are being judged in the contest with prizes of 500 seedlings going to persons who turn in the top entry for any specie. The contest ends Oct. 31.

Only entry that has been verified by forestry personnel to date is a 5 foot 5 inch white pine growing in the Pine Island state forest northwest of Big Falls in Koochiching county.

Although none of the other candidates for big tree honors have been verified as yet, here are some of the large entries received so far and their location:

State Fair Draws Near Record Total

Rain Labor Day Prevents Setting New High Total

A rain-dampened Minnesota State Fair closed Monday in St. Paul, less than 12,000 short of an all-time attendance record, but an assured financial success.

With a rainy morning and a cool damp evening, Monday's crowd totaled 100,511, bringing the 10-day total to 1,181,845. That's 11,816 under the 1958 record of 1,193,661, but 111,641 above last year's count.

John E. Libby, general manager said revenue exceeding the previous high of $1,567,016 last year is assured. Exact figures will not be available until the fiscal year audit Nov. 30.

"We know that our financial results were better than any previous year in virtually every category," Libby said. Showing increases were outside gate admissions, grandstand and hippodrome ticket sales, concession and exhibit space sales and income from the midway.

The 10-day fair in 1964 will open Aug. 29 and run through Labor Day, Sept. 7.

Timber Sales by State Rise in '63

268,973 Cords of Wood Sold Past Fiscal Year

The conservation department's division of forestry reported today that the volume of timber cut from state lands in fiscal year 1963 exceeded the two previous years and also exceeded the average cut for the past five years.

Not counting Christmas trees and boughs, the volume amounted to 268,973 cords of wood. A forestry official said this would make a pile eight feet wide and four feet high 222 miles long, the distance from St. Paul to Cass Lake.

In addition to this volume of wood 574,885 Christmas trees were cut from stagnant spruce swamp stands or thinned from plantations or natural stands.

The tree harvest created employment in the woods as well as in the mills and processing plants and returned to the state treasury the sum of $800,587.

The report states that the harvest was well within the recommended cut compatable with good timber management.

The United States Department of Agriculture calculated recently that for the nation as a whole the value of forest products increased 25 times between the stump and delivery of the finished product to the final consumer. If this was true in Minnesota, the final value of forest products cut in fiscal year 1963 from state lands was equal to 20 million dollars, the report pointed out.

Langen Asks Halt in CCC Flax Sales

Says Practice Affects Market for 1963 Crop

Congressman Odin Langen wrote the Secretary of Agriculture Thursday, and asked why the Commodity Credit Corporation is dumping flax on the market. "On August 19th," said Langen, "400,000 bushels of CCC flax was offered for sale, with more to come."

Langen criticized the timing of the flax sales. "Commodity Credit stocks are being dumped on the market at the very moment when the new flax crop is being harvested," he explained, "and this can succeed in doing nothing except depress prices. It seems to me that the CCC should avoid dumping stocks of flax at a time when the new crop is moving to market."

Langen noted that Minnesota and North Dakota produce about half of all the flax raised in the United States.

"Life owes us little; we owe it everything. The only true happiness comes from squandering ourselves for a purpose."

John Mason Brown

Another Right Vote

Congressman Odin Langen voted with the majority of the House in supporting a cut of $585 million in the administration's foreign aid bill. This foreign aid program has a great deal of emotional appeal. There are needy people throughout the world, and to whatever extent we can help them to improve their own lot we should be generous.

But the indisputable record of wasteful spending and irresponsible leadership in this field justifies a second look at the entire program and a cut back in spending until we are reasonably certain that our contributions are serving a good purpose and are being administered wisely. The Langen vote was in the best interests of a sound foreign aid policy and program.

We All Will Contribute

The Morris Tribune commends Congressman Odin Langen for speaking out strongly against the policies and practices of the Area Redevelopment Administration. Says the Tribune:

> "ARA is an agency of the federal government set up to lend assistance to so-called depressed areas. While ARA has failed to remedy the causes of depressed areas, it has done quite a job of trying to establish the need for its services.
> "When the program was initiated two years ago, 103 areas in the United States were listed officially as "depressed". Today this sophisticated spoils system includes 1,000 eligible areas and the list is growing."

It is true of course that the ARA is an agency of the federal government created presumably to lend assistance to so-called depressed areas, but it probably also is true that the primary purpose of this federal agency is to do whatever it can do to assure the present administration of another four years in power.

During the coming year many millions of the taxpayers' dollars are going to be distributed to buy votes for the administration. In this way even those of us who do not like the administration will be forced to contribute to it's reelection.

Pay Raise Time Again

President Kennedy has made the usual campaign-year request for across-the-board pay increases for federal employees. This has proven to be an effective way to buy votes with taxpayers' dollars. Such pay increases appeal not only to the run-of-the-mill federal employees, but to a large percentage of all public employees, hopeful that the states will follow the pattern set by the federal government and that their pattern will in turn be followed by the cities and other local units of government.

From our observation there has been no justification for the across-the-board pay increases granted in recent years nor is there justification for any across-the-board pay increase now. Some merit pay increases no doubt can be justified. The unfortunate thing about these regular across-the-board pay increases is that they provide only temporary gains for those who receive them. As the spiral progresses the cost of living gradually increases and the net result, too often, is that most of us eventually get more dollars that have less buying power. Any administration that encourages this sort of thing is basically dishonest.

The following observations by the Oak Ridger of Oak Park, Tennessee, deserve the consideration of all citizens, and especially the public employees:

> "The chairman of the Civil Service Commission has gone before Congress urging that it approve another pay raise for federal employes. This would be an implementation of the federal pay raise provisions enacted last year which stipulate that federal salaries be adjusted annually to make sure that they are equivalent to salaries paid by private industry.
> "We begrudge no federal employe his just due. We do question, however, whether it necessarily follows that just because some industry pays some worker a certain amount, some federal employe should get the same. The names of the jobs may be identical but the jobs are inherently different by the mere fact that one is for a private employer and one is for a public employe.
> "We would also question just what is "industry?" We are certain that if one looks, he can surely find many employes in industry who are paid considerably less than federal employes.
> "Whtat worreis us perhaps most of all, however, is that the "industry" that may be being used as a barometer for determining salaries of federal employes is actually not so much "industry" as it is industry doing work for the federal government—industry fattened by big government contracts and, therefore, perhaps paying salaries considerably higher than it might if it had to make its own ends meet.
> "We hate to be old spoilsports about federal salaries, particularly in a city where they are so very important to the economy. Nevertheless, it is becoming a bit frightening the way the economy is more and more related to federal budgets and payrolls and this particular proposal begins to sound like a vicious circle to us federal pay up because industry pay is up, industry pay up because federal contracts are bigger, etc."

Khruschev and Tito

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's recent visit to Yugoslavia strengthens the position of those who believe Russia is moving toward the right and away from Communism. In Yugoslavia Khrushchev found much to his liking, if we may believe what he said. Under the leadership of President Tito, Yugoslavia has moved in the direction of European Socialism which comes closer to being Capitalism than Communism. Commenting on this development the New York Times states:

> "The Yugoslav "socialism" Khrushchev now praises includes, it is well to remember, an agriculture consisting primarily of individual peasant farms, not collectives. And Yugoslavia has what technicians call a "socialist market economy," which has largely done away with centralized economic planning and relies to a great extent upon the market forces of competition and of supply and demand to regulate the economy.
> "If Premier Khrushchev carries forward the attitude he is now expressing, it could ultimately produce great changes in Moscow's economic organization. Yugoslavia has borrowed so many ideas from the West that it may play the role of a transmission belt, bringing Western economic ideas to the East."

It is easy to be skeptical about the sincerity of any statements Khrushchev may make, but the circumstances justify some acceptance. His new position on many questions, and his inquiring approach to possible changes that are definitely opposed to the Communism of Stalin, are not being beamed exclusively to us. They are being broadcast to all of the world and to the new countires that are still struggling with the question of which way to go.

Let's not overlook the possibility that both Khrushchev and Tito, now old men, too old to have ambitions for world conquest, may be more interested in making an important contribution to world peace than to a war that might destroy civilization. Our guess is that in this area of world conflict the prospects are brightening.

The Ailing Dollar

The leaders in Washington who still have their feet on the ground in monetary matters, are concerned about the ailing American dollar. In a recent appearance before the House Committee on Banking and Currency, William Martin, Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board for more than a decade, states frankly that there are some danger signals that cannot be dismissed lightly.

As reported by Barron's Financial Weekly, "pressed by the lawmakers to comment on the persistent outflow of gold from these shores and its possible consequences, Mr. Martin somberly replied:

> "I hope and pray that the time won't come when we would have to devlaue the dollar. It would not be the end of the world, but it would take years to recover. . ."

Following a discussion of what Mr. Martin's "strangely unguarded" response means and how it should be interpreted, Barron's comes up with the following conclusions:

> "What the circumstances call for is clear. As the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis notes, the "orthodox prescription" for countries plagued by persistent balance of payments deficits is the imposition of monetary and fiscal restraints on the total demand for goods and services. In other words tighter credit and a balanced budget. While unpalatable, especially to officials who equate them with outmoded shibboleths and myths, the stern doctrines of classical economics can boast at least one virtue: they generally work. The Administration will reject them at its own — and the nation's risk."

While that does not make for pleasant reading, it is high time that we start recognizing the facts of life. This concept of what must be done if we are to avoid financial shipwreck is just the opposite of what a few college professors are recommending in their program for recovery which is based on the pleasant theory that we can spend ourselves rich. Our vote of confidence goes to Mr. Martin.

From the Saskatchewan Commonwealth we get the nformation that the Alcohol and Tax Division of the U. S. Treasury Department has issued a special directive that makes wine tax free if it is consumed in a fallout shelter during an atomic attack. It is reasonable to assume that the government will now arrange for the speedy delivery of tax free wine in an emergency.

IT'S THAT TIME OF YEAR AGAIN. By this we mean that the time has come to hold another of the annual purebred ram sales at the Pennington county fairgrounds. Today's event marks the 15th year of the show and sale which was originated to provide area sheep producers with a source of top quality rams with which to improve their flocks. To a large extent, the effort has been successful.

There is no question that rams consigned to the sale have been top quality. Many breeders have offered rams which were prize winners at county or state fairs or other sheep shows. Most of the consignors are in the business of raising breeding stock in addition to sale of wool and lambs on the market.

While it is certainly a worth-while endeavor, the sale may have missed its mark to a minor degree. Owners of sheep flocks which could use the improved breeding the most are not represented at the sale. This is not the fault of the sale. There is considerable interchange of rams at the sale, through the regular auction procedure, among the better sheep breeders in the area.

Perhaps the greatest value to the sheep industry locally is the promotional aspect of the sale. Producers of top quality rams became known and their sheep are in demand during the course of the year. Some farmers may become interested in the profits to be made from sheep and are stimulated by the sale to become sheep growers. Record analysis locally has shown sheep to be a profitable enterprise under good management.

Sheep have a considerable impact on the economy of the area—and could be even more significant. This area lends itself to sheep production with ability to produce forage and feed grain and some relatively cheap land for pasture. As for the rest of us—how about boosting the industry? Mark down lamb on the shopping list and treat the family to a real food treat.

The man pushing the grocery cart was speaking softly as the infant boy in the cart whined, fussed, cried and bellowed. "Don't get excited, Johnny," he said. "Don't yell, Johnny. 'Please don't shout Johnny." A woman shopper, wise in the ways of youngsters, smiled her sympathy. "You don't seem to be having much success with Johnny," she said. "Madam," the man muttered, "I'm Johnny!"

The following clipping could be a good code for most of us:

Teach me that 60 minutes make an hour, 16 ounces a pound, and 100 cents a dollar. Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience and unhaunted by the faces of those to whom I may have brought pain. Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in earning it I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me. Deafen me to the tingle of tainted money.

Blind me to the faults of other fellows and reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic so as to be considerate of old age. And comes the day of darkening shades, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here lies a man."

THERE IS A REASON

Do not ponder, gentle reader,
Why our pages seem in error;
There is ample explanation
For this typographic terror.

For throughout this family journal
We print items meant for all;
Some prefer the sporting section—
Want to see who hit the ball;

Ladies like the local items;
Men prefer the classifed;
Articles in every issue
Show who's born or wed or died.

In our search to please you readers
We can offer what it takes;
We can interest everybody—
Some folks like to find mistakes.

BEACON OF ELECTRIC PROGRESS

Mercury Vapor Lights Bring Illumination to the Farm

There's a "new look" taking place after dark on the farms of Minnkota - Land. As you drive down the highway — or watch from the window of an airplane — you'll see the warm twinkle of yard lights, illuminating farm yards during the dark hours of the night. In recent months, hundreds and hundreds of farm homes have installed mercury vapor lights. These photo-electrically controlled lights flood the area with brilliance.

Many Advantages Gained from Night Lighting

The mercury vapor lighting enables the farm family to finish up after-dark chores, acts as a safety measure against prowlers, and serves as a silent welcome sign to friends and neighbors.

Protection and Convenience

The mercury vapor lights are symbols of rural electric progress, giving the farm family the same protection and convenience of illumination that is enjoyed by city folks.

Dependable Rural Electricity Has Brought Progress to Minnkota-Land

You'll find other "signs of progress" throughout the area of Minnesota and North Dakota being served by Minnkota Power Cooperative and its twelve member distribution cooperation cooperatives. The modern farm home of 1963 has the advantages of work-saving tools and appliances, even electric heating, and all is made possible by dependable rural power and electricity.

There have been great strides of progress since the creation of Minnkota Power Cooperative, Inc. in 1940. Mercury vapor night lights are but one of the many symbols of progress that "light the way" to a brighter tomorrow on the farms of this area.

Junior high school enrollment showed increases in grade seven (up from 179 to 192) and grade eight (up from 182 to 184) while grade nine declined from 236 to 224.

School Board Ok's Spanish in Grades

Fifth and Sixth Graders Offered Foreign Language

Approval of a Spanish teaching program for fifth and sixth grade pupils in Thief River Falls elementary schools was given by the board of education at its regular session Monday evening. Miss Joyce Ramserran, Spanish teacher at Lincoln high school, will direct the program with details to be arranged through George Stockman, director of elementary education.

Present plans call for offering Spanish to all students in grades five and six, possibly as a supplement to social studies classes. The classes will be on an experimental basis this year. Scheduling can be arranged so that cost of the program to the district is estimated at less than $100.

Approval was also given by the board to plans and specifications on new school construction which were not ready for the special meeting held with the architect on September 3. Supt. M. R. Hankerson reported that legal procedures in connection with the call for bids on the new elementary and junior high schools were moving ahead on schedule.

A request from the city for an easement to permit a water line to cross school property at the new school site was denied upon a split vote of the board. Morris Owen and Lloyd Hovick favored the easement with John Burtness, Robert Bredeson, Rufus Olson and Howard Hoel objecting and K. Russell Anderson abstaining.

Acceptance of board terms was acknowledged in a letter from the union representing school bus drivers. One request from the union, asking that mileage be increased from eight cents to nine cents for drivers with their own buses was rejected by the board.

Reports on their respective departments were given by Arnt Aune, director of the area vocational-technical school, and Ralph Skay, athletic director. The annual agreement for practical nursing training at Oakland Park Nursing Home was also approved for signature.

A request from Carl Lee to purchase school property on Third street near the Washington elementary school was turned down by the board. Announcement was made of the Minnesota School Boards association meeting to be held September 18 at Fertile.

Mr. and Mrs. George Prigge of Grafton, N. D. were Sunday visitors at the Evelyn Prigge home in this city.

Nancy Glass Writes About Peace Corps in Philippines

by Flora Allison

Evaluation of the year which she has completed as a member of the Peace Corps was made in a letter from Nancy Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland "Cy" Glass of this city, received by the Times this week.

She begins by saying that she is "entirely too close to the situation to be objective about it," but has, she says, adjusted amazingly well to completely different surroundings than those of her native Minnesota. In the process she has learned just how little she really knew of the Philippines when she first arrived there, and how much she still has to learn of this exotic culture.

The people she describes as wearing "a veneer of the West, where they have really not decided which way. . .East or West. . they want to go."

"Peace Corps," she went on, "is not the glamor, adventure or romance that many people believe it to be. It is not glamorous to ride eight hours on a bus to travel 20 miles because of poor roads. . .it is not glamorous to be in a hospital with dysentery for a week. The romance wears off when you see so many starving people, children with no shoes, no clothes and having very little chance for an education. You must face up to what the country is and what its needs are if you are going to be effective in Peace Corps; you must see the reality of the suffering so common in the world.

"It means getting down to work . . .and the work is often very demanding," she affirms. (Miss Glass teaches at a college in Tacloban, Leyte.) The institution trains teachers and the problem centers around the fact that many of the students do not really want to be teachers, but since they do not have the means to get into other fields, they come to the Leyte normal school. Many are there because their parents chose that profession for them.

Tacloban is famed as the place where General MacArthur landed and still today he is revered as "the god of Leyte". The people, she feels, still live in the past. . . there is still much talk of the war.

Americans Treated As Guests

For six months she lived with a native family, later moving into a vacant room downstairs where a married daughter and her husband reside. Living with the family gave her an opportunity to see at first hand and observe at close range the kind of people the natives are. She said she learned to love them dearly.

"A blond is a novelty here in Leyte," she writes. "They have seen few Americans here." Children follow her around, touching her fair skin and hair, calling her fond names in a native dialect. (It is different in Manila, where Americans are a common sight.)

There are 93 dialects, and it is hoped to teach English as a means of mass communication among all Filipinos, to break down the language barrier which the existence of so many dialects creates.

"The people are genuinely warm and friendly," she finds, "and willing to offer friendship, but it took a year to feel a genuine kinship with their culture." They treating the Americans as guests and she says it was one of her moments of greatest achievement to enter a room and not have anyone jump up to offer her a chair or push someone else off a chair to make room for her. It took much time and effort to convince the people that the Americans wanted to live with them and not merely among them, to be treated as one of their own.

There are only two seasons in the Philippines, she explained. . . "the dry season which lasts generally from November until January. . .and the rainy season". Adjusting to the climate, however, was a minor adjustment compared with the others to be made.

One of Many

According to the official Peace Corps magazine, "As of May 31, there were 621 Peace Corps workers in the Philippines alone, with a grand total of 4,824 including those in training and those overseas."

"Volunteers there have started cottage industries, conducted waterseal toilet campaigns to cut into the high incidence of disease engendered by the lack of sanitation so prevalent there; have started community libraries, or adult-education programs. . .several have performed emergency operations, several have saved lives by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, others have run camps for underpriveleged children. All volunteers eat and drink the food and drink of the Filipinos, sleep on hard beds or on mats under mosquito netting, wade through mud to reach the schools, are daily exposed to amoebas or active TB.

"They do not consider their achievements to be heroic. . . only part of the job. They feel that they are themselves learning much more than they can ever give or teach. They are puzzled over the inability of outsiders to understand their situation, but deep in their guts they feel mighty right about Peace Corps and their part in it."

Miss Glass seems to have entered into the spirit of the Corps, as evidenced by her letters home. She would not be anywhere else on earth, than the place where she serves the cause of freedom; she would not do anything else in preference to what she is now doing.

Like her co-workers in the Corps, she professes undying faith in its effectiveness, adding with finality that she feels that it is the voice which will some day help sound the death knell to communism. She believes that it is the sound of hope to those parts of the world which have known poverty and hopelessness for too long.

16 Million Homes Goal For 1960s

BY W. EVANS BUCHANAN

President, National Association of Home Builders

Model homes on display during National Home Week, Sept. 8-15, will be tangible evidence of the building industry's progress in producing better homes for American families.

This year an estimated 1,450,000 new homes will be built at a cost of more than 23 billion dollars. The total of new homes needed during the 1960s will reach about 16 million. One of the prime goals of the National Association of Home Builders is to see that this need is met with quality housing at the lowest cost.

Buchanan

Under the NAHB research program, new as well as proven materials are tested, and engineers constantly search for new construction techniques that will help builders to produce better houses in less time and at lower costs.

Recently, NAHB built a new test house in Rockville, Md., under the FHA's experimental housing program. This raises to five the number of test houses built by NAHB.

Conditions today are favorable for the home-buying public. Not only is there a wide selection of new homes from which they may choose, but mortgage money is readily available at reasonable interest rates. The longer mortgage period and low interest rates mean that the monthly payments made on a new home are about what a family would expect to pay out in rent.

Carlson Herd Heads Pennington DHIA Test

Topping the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association for the month of August was the herd of Myron Carlson of Angus. His cattle averaged 1,216 pounds of milk and 45.2 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 3.72 per cent.

In August there were 26 herds on test with a total of 748 cows for an average of 28.8 cows per herd. A total of 82 per cent of the cows were milking and averaged 826 pounds of milk, 3.61 per cent butterfat and 29.8 pounds of butterfat per cow. There were 13 owner-sampler herds on test with a total of 288 cows, 71 per cent of which were milking.

Amount of milk and butterfat is averaged out over all the cows in the herds, giving the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. The number of dry cows in the herd affects the herd averages. If too many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

Prepared by Orville Peters, supervisor, the list of top ten herds is as follows:

	Milk Avg.	Fat Avg.	Test Avg.
Myron Carlson	1216	45.2	3.72
Dale Svendsgaard	1113	43.2	3.88
C. Christensen	1100	40.2	3.10
A. Peterson	1120	35.7	3.19
W. & L. Hamrick	977	31.8	3.24
O. Threvestad & Son	902	31.2	3.79
Harold Sabe	978	33.8	3.47
C. Finstad & Son	931	33.2	3.49
Martin Hanson	937	32.7	3.48
Mehrkens Farms, Inc.	888	31.3	3.53
Wallace Relerson	908	31.3	3.45

Eleven cows also completed their testing year with 500 pounds or more of butterfat in 365 days or less. Dairymen and the records of these cows are as follows: Darrow Lundeen, 527 pounds of butterfat; Mondy Morrison, 551; John Burtness, 513, 582 and 507; Wallace Relerson, 547 and 520; Dale Svendsgaard, 616 and 506; Curtis Johnson, 593; and Donald Erickson, 509.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Where but in print can you get so close to the advertising messages that interest you? Where else can a woman clip the coupons and recipes that intrigue her? Or tear out tips to try on leftovers? Or mark, for future marketing, any of the colorful food ideas which strike her fancy? And where else can she circle and compare the colors and styles of clothing and furnishings that appeal to her? Where else, in fact, can any message be re-run at will by an interested audience? So make sure a good part of your advertising message gets into print. Let somebody's eyes linger over it as long as they like. Let somebody's scissors clip it free of competition. And then watch someone's pocket or purse carry it to the place of purchase. Print makes sense because print makes sales.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Another High-average League

Over the past several seasons it has been the Tuesday night Business league that has produced the city's high average bowlers. But if the first week of play is any criterion it could be that the Business league will have to share honors as the city's "Premier" league with the Thursday night Commercial league. The Commercial league began bowling on Thursday night, and it required a 180-pin average to make the league's "top five".

And taking over first place in the league standings, by reason of picking up four points apiece, were the Hartz Warehouse and the Northern Chevrolet. The Hartz took four points from the National Guard, and the Chevys gained their four points at the expense of the Len Brekke's St. Hilaire Locker plant.

This Hartz Wholesale squad could be the team to beat for the league title as they have picked up some bowling talent during the off season. Added to the team are a pair of "singles" hitters in Art Langseth and John Jaranson, and they will give some aid to 'clean-up' man Lloyd Samuelson. Art is making a come-back (from where I don't know), and City John intends to make a charge at the team's high-average trophy. Langseth averaged a steady 168 for the opening series.

Oh yes, the 'color' team of the league will probably be the Ekeren Pharmacy squad of Bob and Nick Carlson, Frank Knd, Bob Craik, Lloyd Brunsberg, and Sid Jelinek. The Pharmacy had a 3-point match on Thursday.

The Conference Opener

The Northwest football conference, perhaps the top conference in northwestern Minnesota and primarily because of the presence of the Bemidji Lumberjacks in the circuit, will begin play on its 1963 schedule on Friday afternoon.

Coach Kenneth (Red) Wilson's club, last season's champions with a four wins and no loss mark, will meet coach Ron Thompson's East East Grand Forks. And Bemidji, with a 13 to 0 win over a highly-rated Hibbing team last Friday night, will be the odds on favorite to defeat coach Thompson's youthful East Siders.

In winning the conference title last season (and it was the third win for the Jacks in the eight-year existence of the conference) Bemidji rolled up a total of 118 points. The Lumberjacks defeated East Grand Forks, 27 to 7; Roseau, 32 to 12; Crookston, 32 to 0; and Thief River Falls, 27 to 13. Defensively the Bemidji club gave up 32 points, for one of the better marks in the conference records.

The Jacks, losing such capable touchdown potentials as Dennis Aguiar and Roger Johnson by graduation, are not expected to flash the offensive power, especially the long gainers, that featured last season's eleven. But on defense, Bemidji, with the line play of guard Bob Fortier of all-state caliber, will be sturdy. Hibbing, in last Friday night's game, could garner but four first downs against the Bemidji defense.

A New Champion Probable

It appears probable that, come November 30th, there will be a new Grey Cup champion in Canadian football. Coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, champions of Canadian professional football for the past couple of seasons, are having their troubles getting started this season. At this time, with the schedule in mid-season, the Bombers have a so-so record of four wins and four losses. And last Sunday afternoon, playing at Montreal, the Bombers were trounced, 30 to 1, for one of the most lop-sided games that a Grant-coached team has ever absorbed.

But if Bud Grant's club is in difficulty, and so it seems, it is pleasant to report that coach Dave Skrien's Vancouver team is leading the Western division of Canadian football. Both Grand and Skrien are former Minnesota Gopher stars, and it's a pleasing chore to report their success. And both coaches are supplied with former Minnesota players on their respective rosters. Playing starring roles for the Vancouver club, on the defensive unit, are Tom Brown and Bill Munsey, with Brown being given the added responsibility of being the defensive captain and directing the defensive alignment from his middle linebacker spot.

Tosses Three Touchdown Passes to Help Nordics Win Friday by 27-0 Tally

The passing of quarterback Jerry Strandquist featured the play of the Newfolden Nordics on Friday as coach Sheldon Elseth's club registered a 27 to 0 win over the Goodridge Huskies in a football game played on the Goodridge field.

Jerry Strandquist threw three touchdown passes, with two of the successful aerials being to twin brother Terry Strandquist, and the other to end Ken Carlson. Fullback Merlin Anderson, on a running play, accounted for the fourth Nordic TD. Strandquist, from his quarterback position, picked up 151 yards by passing and running.

Coach Elseth termed the game a great team effort, and was pleased by the performance of the squad. The defensive bulwark of the Newfolden team proved to be Keith Grandstrand, who was credited with 16 tackles, two pass interceptions, and one blocked punt from his middle linebacker post.

The Nordics move into the first of their seven-game "Top-of-State" conferences on Friday when they travel to Baudette for an 8:00 P.M. game against the well-rated Bears. On Sept. 20, the Nordics will open their home schedule by meeting the Argyle Eagles on the Newfolden field.

New Wildlife Area Map Is Prepared

All State-owned Public Hunting Grounds Shown

A new map showing the location of all state-owned wildlife management areas is now available from the Minnesota conservation department, it was announced today.

Dave Vesall, supervisor of game, said the new map shows the location of state-owned public hunting grounds contained in 476 individual wildlife management areas.

The wildlife areas, located in 76 counties, are managed to encourage maximum production of both waterfowl and upland game and to provide hunting opportunities for sportsmen.

Vesall pointed out that in many intensively cultivated parts of the state, the areas provide the only remaining winter cover and food source for pheasants and other small game.

The areas were purchased with funds raised from state hunters' license revenue, the $1.00 surcharge on the small game hunting license, and Federal aid funds.

State-owned public hunting grounds can be identified in the field by signs posted marking the boundaries. The signs read: "Wildlife Management Area — Minnesota Conservation Department — Division of Game and Fish."

Some of the larger wildlife areas also contain clearly posted refuges within their boundaries on which no hunting is permitted as a game management measure.

The map may be obtained without cost by contacting the Minnesota Conservation Department, Bureau of Information, 350 Centennial Office Bldg., St. Paul.

Trapping Season for Mink, Muskrat

Open Statewide from November 2 to Dec. 15

The trapping season on mink, muskrat, badger and racoon was announced today by the Minnesota conservation department.

The season will run from Nov. 2-Dec. 15 on a statewide basis with no limits. Two changes in regulations from previous years will be in effect this season, the announcement said.

Trapping will be permitted in muskrat houses this year, but the regulations state than any opening made in a muskrat house for trapping purposes must be plugged by replacing all removed material and wetting down in order to prevent freezing within the structure.

No person shall tend or set any trap between the hours 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

Another change in the rules this year is that no person shall be accompanied by a dog or dogs while engaged in tending or setting traps for these species.

Last season, trappers took 55,700 mink, 452,000 muskrat, 820 badger and 24,000 raccoon.

3rd Installment of '63 Estimated Tax Due Sept. 16

Taxpayers were reminded today by George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue in St. Paul, that the third installment of the tax owing on the 1963 estimated income is due and payable by September 16. Payments placed in the mail and postmarked September 16 will be considered timely filed, Mr. Lethert stated, inasmuch as the due date of September 15 falls on a Sunday.

Declarations of estimated tax are required from taxpayers whose income is not subject to tax withholding. If a person's income has changed since filing the declaration in April, taxpayers should file an amended return at this time, Mr. Lethert said. A form for use as an amended return is printed on the back of the statement which taxpayers receive for payment of this installment.

Regardless of amount or source of income, if the estimated tax liability is less than $40.00, a declaration is not required and payments need not be made, Mr. Lethert declared.

State Highway Dept. Checks on Bridges

If you happen to wonder about the safety of the next highway bridge you drive across, the Minnesota highway department has a word of encouragement.

Keeping the more than 3,300 bridges on Minnesota's trunk highway system in safe condition is one of the many tasks of the maintenance forces and the special task of the bridge maintenance unit. When the Interstate system is completed, there will be more than 4,000 bridges to maintain.

For bridge maintenance operations the state is presently divided into three regions each containing about 1,100 bridges: the northern, central and southern regions. Two crews consisting of a foreman and six men are assigned to each zone and work under a bridge maintenance supervisor. There is also a bridge paint crew that operates throughout the state keeping the trunk highway metal bridges burnished and protected. Overall operations are coordinated from the St. Paul central offices.

Initial inspections in each of the state's nine construction districts are handled by personnel experienced in bridge construction assigned by the district and area engineers. These inspections are made on all bridges annually in the fall and forwarded to the bridge maintenance supervisor of the respective zone and the St. Paul central offices. Fall inspections enable scheduling of the work during the winter for the following construction season.

Maintenance personnel are constantly on the alert for signs of trouble at bridges and report at once to their supervisors for further investigation. In case of emergencies, such as high water or traffic damage, immediate inspections are made and necessary repairs initiated.

Inspections are thorough and include all parts of a bridge, such as abutments, piers, beams, girders, trusses and floors. Major maintenance problems are caused by abutments that crowd toward the center of the bridge inhibiting proper expansion and placing excessive stress on sections of the bridge.

Undermining and settlement of footings, rust and corrosion of metals, timber decay and deterioration of concrete due to frost and salt action are other problems which confront the maintenance forces. A good deal of effort and money is being channelled in overcoming these difficulties and current research projects seeking materials and methods to assist are numerous.

Frequently, when a bridge is damaged by a driver's carelessness, claims can be made and substantial recoveries are possible.

Even though more than half a million dollars a year is spent on bridge maintenance, bridge men are a conservative group with eyes alert to salvaging a piece of steel from the scrap pile or even an entire bridge on occasion. In this way a good deal of material is reused at considerable savings in the public interest.

Firm Lays Mile of Concrete Paving One Day Recently

Speed in placing concrete has come to be quite a factor in highway building and the reports of new records are related by news media almost as though there is a real contest—which perhaps there is.

One of the honors has come to a Minnesota firm, Woodrich Construction Co., Hopkins, which becomes the twenty-third contractor in the nation to pave a mile or more of concrete in one working day. It was the first time that a mile of concrete pavement was placed in a day in Minnesota.

Three Koehring mixers were used in a 13-hour working day June 26 when the firm laid 5,338 linear feet of nine-inch reinforced concrete on TH 90 in Mower county. Eighteen trucks transported dry batch aggregate and cement about five miles to the mixers at the paving site.

$2.7 Million Road Bids Are Accepted

Project Near Two Harbors Let at Cost of $1,890,000

Apparent low bids totaling $2,722,183 were submitted on 10 trunk highway construction projects at the Aug. 30 letting at the Minnesota highway department central offices, St. Paul, the department announces.

A total of 49 bids were submitted on the projects, which call for road work on 16½ miles, consturction of two bridges, fencing of 44 miles of highways, building removal, pavement marking and installation of traffic signals.

On the biggest project, involving base and concrete paving of 9.3 miles of TH 61 between Palmers and Two Harbors in St. Louis and Lake counties, Arcon Construction Co., Inc., Morn, submitted the apparent low bid of $1,890,333. Work is to start by May 18, 1964 and be completed in 110 working days.

Sorenson Bros. Inc., Albert Lea, was apparent low bidder on another big project calling for grading and construction of a bridge on TH 212 in Carver and McLeod counties, with a bid of $358,820. The project involves 7.3 miles of grading between Glencoe and the west junction of TH 5, and a bridge over Buffalo creek.

"I do not despise genius — indeed I wish I had a basketful of it instead of a brain, but yet, after a great deal of experience and observation, I have become convinced that industry is a better horse to ride than genius. It may never carry any one man as far as genius has carried individuals, but industry — patient, steady, intelligent industry — will carry thousands into comfort and even into celebrity, and this it does with absolute certainty; whereas genius often refuses to be tamed and managed, and often goes with wretched morals. If you are to wish for either, wish for industry."

Shelters Again

Congress is giving serious consideration to another fallout shelter bill that would authorize the spending of $202 million for the construction of a national network of community shelter facilities. That would be another effective way of buying votes in a campaign year. The Civil Defense lobby is a persistent group.

The proposed $202 million appropriation is, of course, a nickel and dime deal in terms of wasting federal funds. It would serve merely as a door-opener, to be followed by much more extravagant spending in later years as long as the government's credit lasts. Do you know of any other country in the world that is putting money into fallout shelters?

Unemployment

When the government decided that International Business Machines Corporation was getting too large a share of the nation's punch card business, it secured a court order forcing the company to reduce its volume to 50 per cent of the nation's total. So International sold some of its machines to other companies but five of the presses went to Europe, where they are providing employment for Europeans.

It would be interesting to get the figures on how much of our unemployment problem here in our country can be attributed to the stupidity of those whom we laughingly refer to as our political leaders. Too often, in trying to solve one problem, they create ten more.

For The Farmers?

The Farm Home Administration is a federal agency that was created to assist farmers with loans for buying livestock and machinery and meeting other expenses, providing other credit faccilities were not available. That was the beginning of this agency of government.

But the FHA is no longer limited to helping needy farmers. Almost any voter may now qualify for assistance under this program. For instance, FHA recently approved a $91,500 loan to improve a golf course at Arcadia, a town of less than 2,500 population in Wisconsin. The Arcadia Country Club will use the borrowed funds for replacing sand greens with grass greens, adding a well and irrigation system, remodelling and enlarging its clubhouse, and for refinancing a private loan it made earlier this year.

The Wisconsin state FHA director justified the loan as "an example of good rural area development." Which raises the question as to how many golf courses the taxpayers can afford to finance.

Faster and Noisier

Our country seems to be committed to a race with Britain, France and the Soviet Union in the development of supersonic air liners for commercial purposes. President Kennedy has requested a large appropriation to subsidize such a development in our country. It is strange that more opposition to this type of air transportation has not been registered. One English authority, Dr. S. G. Hooker, in a recent discussion on faster-than-sound airships, did admit that the noise the public now has to suffer from modern aircraft engines is "near the limits of endurance."

From the Manchester, England, Guardian, we get the following interesting reactions:

"Noise is one reason for viewing the introduction of supersonic airliners with considerable reserve, for these aircraft, once they have passed the speed of sound, will carry with them a supersonic boom. This sound, like a double gunshot, will mark the passing of the aircraft overhead, and will be audible along a band from 25 miles to perhaps as much as 100 miles wide. The intensity of the bang varies with the height and weight of the aircraft, the climatic conditions, and nature of the ground surface. The noise diminishes with height, but increases with the weight of the aircraft.

"Once supersonic air liners were in service there would be several hundred flights daily leaving a trail of service there would be several hundred flights daily leaving a trail of sonic bangs over populated land areas for it would defeat the advantages of the supersonic air liner to restrict it to subsonic speeds over land. The flights would be over a variety of routes, so that in any one place the number of sonic booms would be relatively few and infrequent — but correspondingly few places would be immune.

"It seems then that the mark of a fully developed country will be to have its days and nights punctuated by bangs loud enough to wake a sleeping person, and exceptionally to crack a window pane or dislodge a tile. There is a great prize in being first in the field with a supersonic air liner, Dr. Hooker said last week. And a price to pay in the way of a built-in cannonade."

Mexican Progress

President Lopez Mateos' recent state of the union message to the people of Mexico was a hopeful report to a Latin American nation that has survived a long period of revolution and achieved political stability and outstanding economic progress. Commenting on this good record, the New York Times states:

> Mexicans are justly proud of their great social revolution, which began in 1910. Having had its upheaval, Mexico is like the fortunate person who had a disease and is now immune. No nation in Latin America has such political stability; few have done so much to give a formerly backward, oppressed people social justice.
> The mystique of the revolution lives on and animates much of Mexican thinking and the way of life. President Lopez Mateos is proud of the amount of land that his Government has distributed to peasants. The rural education program, although still far short of its goal, represents a remarkable, continuing revolutionary program."

Possibly Mexico should be used more extensively as a pattern for development in other areas of Latin America. Mexico did not achieve political stability and economic progress by large grants of aid from our country. As we understand it, American dollars were helpful in that great Mexican achievement, but they were investor dollars that presumably benefited both Mexico and our country.

At any rate it is an interesting story that probably deserves more attention than it has received. It is encouraging to know that our neighbors to the south of us, as well as the neighbors to the north of us, are doing well.

Conservative—Yes.

A California State Senate Fact-Finding Subcommittee on un-American activities has checked on the membership and activities of the John Birch Society, and, according to the Pasadena Star-News, "The conclusions appear to be reasoned and in accordance with what was observable. In a nutshell, the extremism bordering on irrationality that has alarmed many appears to characterize mainly the leadership of the society."

Which raises the question, why people who do not share the more extreme views expressed by the organization's leaders, become affiliated with the society, and the Star-News makes the following observation:

> "It is only fair to state that within the Birch Society, and among its sympathizers, are comparatively large segments of relative moderates. It is reasonable to assume that while they do not subscribe to all of the more extreme positions taken by the leadership, they nonetheless feel that outspoken criticism of men and policies is healthy for the nation. They must know, however, that groups are inevitably judged by their spokesmen."

That seems to be a sensible conclusion. Any person who becomes a member of an organization must assume a share in the responsibility for what that organization stands for and the program it advocates.

The fact that within the Birch Society, and among its sympathizers, there are large segments of "relative moderates", probably indicates that for many conservatives there is no other place to go, their only choice being between the reactionary Birchers and a too-liberal Republican party. The logical answer, it would seem, would be to get the Republican party established again as the conservative party.

We need two strong political parties in our country, one conservative and one liberal, and with two strong parties we don't have to worry about the lunatic fringe of either of them, the extreme rightists and the extreme leftists. We can get too much of either liberalism or conservatism. If we keep swinging to either the right or the left too long, we will find ourselves going backwards and that is the direction we are moving in now.

We are suffering from too many years of liberalism, ignoring some of the fundamentals of good government. We are providing for our people the good things of life on credit, mortgaging the future in order that we may enjoy the present. We are not being fair to the younger generation that follows us.

And so it is high time that we return to a period of conservative government and sound management of our fiscal affairs. We need a period of conservative management of our government at all levels, the federal, the state and the local. The longer we put it off the more painful the adjustment back to common sense practices will be.

Blue Berry Ranch

A clipping was received recently from the Columbian newspaper about Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Johnson of Wash. Both were formerly of St. Hilaire. It states that the yield of blueberry bushes is light the first 10 years. Large bushes have been known to yield as much as 30 pounds, but the average is about 10 pounds for 10 to 20 year old plants. E. O. Johnson says his acre of bushes show increased yields each year. His blueberries were planted in 1950. He says they grow on acid soil, peat and muck soil. Each bush is picked four or five times during the season. Mature bushes will be taller, but most bushes are kept at about 6 feet. Between 20 to 25 per cent of the blueberry crop is sold fresh at the farm, with the balance being shipped to large population centers. Some are sent to canneries and for making pies. Birds and insects are a problem, and some growers had to fence their patches to protect them from the deer. Mr. Johnson is the brother of Mrs. Oscar Haugen and Mrs. Nels Johnson. THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Fifty-two Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Thursday, Sept. 12, 1963 Number Seventy-three

They're at it again! John Wayne and Lee Marvin play two ex-war buddies who can never resist the opportunity to clobber each other in John Word's Technicllor production of "Donovan's Reef" which opens Sunday at the Falls Theatre. Watching the mayhem in the comedy-adventure are Elizabeth Allen, Jack Warden, Cesar Romero and Dorothy Lamour.

Highway Paint Lines Aid in Driver Safety

Paint lines — or, more accurately, striping — on highways are recognized as "life lines," one of the most effective safety devices for highways. The Minnesota Highway Department tells of this activity as performed by its maintenance section.

During the calendar year 1962 a total of 21,903 miles were striped on Minnesota highways, almost twice the 11,904 miles of trunk highways in the state. Some highways have to be striped with single and double lines and edge stripes, plus messages, such as "stop", "crosswalk" and "pedestrian lanes."

Last year, the highway department used 177,300 gallons of white, yellow and black paint, of which 118,500 gallons were white, 43,500 yellow and 15,250 black. The cost of this undertaking totaled $725,500, which included labor materials and equipment — or $.0045 per linear foot.

So far in 1963, as of Aug. 15, a total of 12,857 miles of highways have been striped. This total includes 8,922 miles of center line, 2,902 miles of edge striping and 1,033 miles of lip curb striping. The indication of an increase in striping over the 1962 total is because of the lip curb striping which is measured by the highway mileage length instead of by the actual footage of curbs which are striped.

Some 119,000 gallons of white, yellow and black paint have been used this season, with several months remaining for additional painting to be done. The white and yellow paint is ready-mixed with an average of 4½ pounds of bead per gallon for reflectorizing. No beads are used in the black.

Striping costs money but highway authorities seem to agree it is well spent on what they term "the very best safety precaution."

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Bear Valley watershed farmers in Goodhue and Wabasha Counties are witnessing the result of their efforts to develop the 46-square mile watershed. The watershed, which was organized in 1954, will undergo certain major changes in 1963 inan effort to reduce gully erosion and sediment and flood damages: 1) 12 concrete gully control structures 2) three detention dams, and 3) five miles of grass waterways.

The 1 Million-Acre decrease in Minnesota's total farmland for the years 1954-59 was the largest for any U. S. Farm Census period since 1945. It left Minnesota's total farm land acreage at 30.8 million acres for 1959. The July issue of "Minnesota Farm Business Notes," a University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension publication contains these facts.

Twelve-Foot Gullies were robbing Goodhue County SWCD cooperator Morris Melhouse, of crop-producing land. Melhouse has built three diversions on his 383-acre farm near Kenyon to halt the spread of five large gullies. He has planted his corn on the contour above the diversions and plans to build field terraces, a grass waterway and a gully control structure yet this year.

Grade Control structures have solved gullying problems for Dan Edwards, Blue Earth County. Edwards built his first structure with the assistance of SCS technicians at Mankato, and cost-sharing help under the CP Program. Now his plans are to build another grade control structure to supplement his first one which provides a stable outlet for surface water coming from almost a whole section of land. In addition, the structure has served as an excellent tile outlet.

Yard 'n' Garden

Rejuvenate Your House Plants. Early fall is a good time to rejuvenate and transplant house plants. Often during summer house plants tend to become overgrown and need to be repropagated. The transplanting and repropagating can be done now.

Any plant which is infected with a disease should either be repropagated or discarded. Don't take a chance on spreading diseases and insects to healthy plants. If a portion of the plant is diseased, it may be possible to propagate from healthy tissues. Most house plant insects can be controlled with a malathion spray for house plants.

Pot-bound plants should be shifted to larger sized pots. When repotting, use a good potting mix such as 3 parts garden soil, 2 parts organic matter and 1 part coarse sand. Add to this mixture 1 cup of superphosphate per bushel of mixture.

Most foliage plants such as philodendron, pothos and ivy can be repropogated with tip cuttings. Make cuttings about 4 inches long and place them in sand or vermiculite. Cover the container with a plastic bag to maintain the humidity. Cuttings will root in 4 to 6 weeks. Then put in a good house plant soil.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BIG DAY

It's an odd feeling when children start to school. As a parent, you are tremendously proud and excited. But you are also a little afraid.

For the first time, your Johnnie and Susie are going off on their own. Suddenly, they look smaller than they have since they were babies, and you have an irresistible impulse to run after them. But it's too late for that—so you let them go, with a smile on your lips and a fervent prayer in your heart.

Later, when the first rush of emotion passes and reason returns, you laugh at yourself. For the truth is that Johnnie and Susie are exactly where they've always been; in God's care, whether at home, in school, at play, or in church. And, grateful to the Church for this truth, you remind yourself that next Sunday you'll remember to thank God for that care . . . a little more than usual.

Eight Women Join Heart-of-Home Class Wednesday

First Session Deals With Correct Heights For Working in the Home

Homemakers who feel that meal preparation takes too much time might check their cupboard arrangements. Most kitchens are adequate in the number of appliances, but often the arrangement is step-wasting instead of step-saving.

This information was provided to eight women attending the first in a series of four classes which deal with ways to save time and energy in the kitchen. Heart-of-the-Home classes are offered through the extension service.

Determining the most easily-reached storage places for the commonly used kitchen utensils is the subject of the Heart-of-the-Home class to be held on Wednesday at the Northwestern hospital cafeteria in Thief River Falls, according to Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

The first class dealt with the correct heights for working. Suggestions for making the working heights correct for various women were the lengthening of chair legs or setting a stool on a wooden stand that is on wheels. This stand could also be used for supplies when women are washing the floors. Good posture also enables people to work longer without getting tired.

Mrs. Marion Melrose, home economics specialist in rehabilitation, with the University of Minnesota extension service, told the women that for home work they were to rest for 10 minutes out of every hour. Her theory was that it is easier to prevent fatigue than to overcome fatigue.

Heart-of-the-Home classes are sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Health, the Agricultural Extension service of the University of Minnesota and the Minnesota Heart association. Women who are interested may still join the class, according to Miss Offerdahl.

He said that his Number one objective for the year is a ten per cent increase in membership in district clubs.

Sannes also presented James Parkins with a pin in recognition of 23 consecutive years of perfect attendance in the local club, and gave Secretary Philip Kays a pin for four years of 100 per cent attendance.

B. Wichterman Named on Jr. College Board

Governor Appoints Plummer Resident, Former Legislator

Ben Wichterman of Plummer Saturday was appointed by Governor Karl Rolvaag to serve a three-year term on the five-member state junior college board created by the 1963 Minnesota legislature.

Wichterman is a former member of the lower house of the legislature, serving as chairman of the education committee, and in 1962 was an unsuccessful candidate for the DFL nomination for congress in the Seventh district. He is currently serving with the state office of the ASCS.

Others named by the governor were Frederick L. Deming of Minneapolis, president of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank; Elno A. Jyring, Hibbing architect; Monsignor James P. Shannon, president of St. Thomas college; and Raymond A. Crippen, Jr., Worthington newspaper editor.

Appointment of the board sets in motion a new law and a new concept of operating Minnesota public junior colleges.

The 11 existing institutions are operated by local school districts, with state aid, but the new board has power to take over and operate any or all existing college's—and up to a total of 15 two-year institutions in all.

The law provides that board members be selected "for their knowledge of and interest in junior colleges in Minnesota."

One of their specific charges, besides determining locations for the state-operated institutions, is to place three colleges within the five-county Twin Cities metropolitan area. Groups already have organized to press for a junior college for various communities or regions.

One Traffic Death in Pennington Co. in First Quarter

No traffic fatalities were recorded in Thief River Falls during the first quarter of 1963, but nine persons were injured in eight mishaps, the Minnesota Safety Councilr eported this week. A total of 47 traffic accidents were recorded in the city, with property damage resulting from 39 of them.

One traffic death marred the Pennington county record for the first three months of the year, while three persons lost their lives in two accidents in Red Lake county. Marshall, Roseau, Polk, Kittson and Clearwater counties reported no deaths during the three-months period.

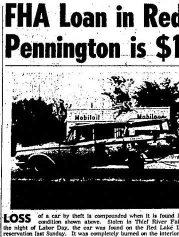
FHA Loan in Red Lake and Pennington is $1,059,030



LOSS of a car by theft is compounded when it is found in the condition shown above. Stolen in Thief River Falls on the night of Labor Day, the car was found on the Red Lake Indian reservation last Sunday. It was completely burned on the interior with only twisted metal parts remaining. The windshield had melted into a pool of glass on the charred remains of the dashboard. Owner of the car was Arthur Johnson of Bemidji.

Loans made and insured by the Farmers Home Administration in Pennington and Red Lake Counties during the 1963 fiscal year totaled $1,059,030, a record high and 42 per cent more than the funds advanced during the previous one-year period, according to Joel P. Rosengren, county FHA supervisor.

A total of 226 farmers and rural residents received loan assistance during the year or continued to use credit obtained in prior years.

New Credit Services

Two new credit services were offered during the year. Recreation loans are available for establishing recreational facilities.

Loans are also available to provide housing adapted to the needs of senior citizens in rural areas. The credit advanced for this purpose helps elderly farmers and rural residents live comfortably in their home communities near friends and relatives, increases the attractiveness of rural communities and provides employment for local workmen.

Rosengren noted that despite the substantial increase in the volume of business, the size of the agency's staff remains essentially the same. He said that the major portion of the agency's funds now come from private sources on an insured basis, or from collections on outstanding debts.

"Farmers Home administration programs have an impact on urban as well as rural families," Rosengren said. "A borrowers' survey shows their farm and home operating expenses and capital expenditures average between $10,000 and $12,000 annually. These dollars for the most part are used to buy goods and services processed or produced in the towns and cities. The average assets of borrowers surveyed was $29,000. These assets, built with supervised credit, strengthen the tax base that supports community facilities and reduces the tax burden on nonfarmers."

Of the $1,059,030 loaned and insured by the Farmers Home administration in fiscal 1963, approximately $203,920 went to 27 farmers to pay for equipment, feed, seed, livestock, fertilizer and for other farm and home operating needs. In addition to this, emergency loans amounting to $295,150 were made to 140 farmers to assist in maintaining normal farming operations following disasters such as droughts, floods and storms.

Farm ownership loans totaling $337,460 were used by 32 farmers to enlarge, develop and buy farms not larger than family size, and to refinance debts. Private lenders advanced over 90 per cent of these funds through the Farmers Home administration insured loan program.

Rural housing loans totaling $219,530 were made to 24 farmers and rural residents. Bulk of this total was for construction and repair of homes and essential farm buildings.

All FHA loans are accompanied by technical advice on farm and financial management. Loans are made only to applicants who are unable to obtain needed credit from conventional lenders.

Sleepless Slumber Party

Moonlight Madness Slated Wednesday

Madness by moonlight will take place in Thief River Falls Wednesday when the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce sponsors its Moonlight Madness promotion. The three-hour promotion will take place on Wednesday only and special bargain prices on quality merchandise will be in effect only during those hours.

Retail stores will close at 4 p. m. Wednesday and remain closed until 8 p. m. Stores will then reopen until 11 p. m. for the Moonlight Madness sale. Personnel of the stores will be garbed in night attire including pajamas, night shirts, night caps and slippers.

Similar promotions in other cities have met with popular reception by shoppers, according to Phil Hess, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce retail committee. Clarence Waldera and Gordon Johnson are co-chairmen of the Wednesday night promotion.

During the time from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m., merchants will be busy behind locked doors arranging merchandise and slashing prices for the three-hour sale. Shoppers are assured of some excellent buys. Time and effort can be saved by shopping the Moonlight Madness advertising messages contained in today's issue of the Times before shopping the stores Wednesday evening.

Moonlight Madness can be called a clandestine condensation of Crazy Days—a promotion which becomes increasingly popular each year. Exceptions to the 4 p. m. closing will be the grocery stores and drug stores which will remain open all day until 11 p. m.

Hinrichs-Wheeler Vows Spoken at Brainerd, Minn.

Miss Lorraine Hinrichs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hinrichs of Red Lake Falls, became the bride of James R. Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton S. Wheeler of rural Brainerd on August 31, at First Lutheran Church of Brainerd. The 7 o'clock evening service was conducted amid the glow of candlelight in a setting of gold altar vases of pink gladioli and aisle candlabra trimmed with white ribbon bows and ivy. Rev. Dallas Young performed the double-ring ceremony, while wedding music was furnished by Bob Stafford at the organ, and vocal soloist Claudia Kaspar, who sang, "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was attired in a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace, and featuring long, tapered sleeves and a Sabrina neckline accented with iridescent sequins. The skirt was designed with an over-drape of lace over tulle, the back tiers flowing into a long train. A cluster of nylon organza flower accented with iridescent crystals held the silk illusion veil. Her jewelry was a pair of crystal earrings. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanitis with fashion fern and smilax.

Lenea Wheeler, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Judy Hinrichs, sister of the bride, was her bridesmaid. Their street-length dresses were of willow green peau satin, with cap sleeves, round scoop necklines and apron-style skirts. They wore floral cluster veils to match, and matching accessories and carried colonial boquets of white mums and pink gladioli.

Orlando Hinrichs, brother of the bride, was best man; groomsman was Clinton Wheeler, brother of the groom. Serving as ushers were Ernest Hinrichs Jr., brother of the bride, and Burton Wheeler, the groom's brother.

Mrs. Hinrichs wore a blue jersey sheath dress with beige accessories, and the mother of the groom was in a blue and white silk dress with black accessories. Their corsages were of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given for the newlyweds at the Moose hall in Brainerd. Hostesses were Mrs. Leslie Patrick and Mrs. Mae Zelka. Mrs. Gladys Cantwell of Minneapolis, aunt of the bride, poured. Mrs. George Lundby of Brainerd, the groom's aunt, cut the wedding cake, which was five layers, pillared, and trimmed with pink roses. Gifts were opened and displayed by Mrs. Don Bedwar, Andy Sorenson, and Janice Cantwell. Mrs. Hugo Sobuckner, Gloria Cassavan and Burnell Sorenson served as waitresses. Pat Hinrichs, sister of the bride, registered the guests, who attended from Pequot Lakes, Nisswa, Deerwood, Fosston, Minneapolis, Anoka, Duluth, Tamarack, Gonvick, Longville, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and from Illinois, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Eleva Wisconsin.

The groom attended Washington high school at Brainerd, and is employed by the Northwest paper Company in Brainerd. His bride attended Lincoln high school here and is also employed at the paper mill. They are at home in Brainerd, on Route 4. Photo by Oz Wik Studios, Brainerd.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

JeNelle Thronson Weds Gary J. Foldet at Trail

Sand Valley Lutheran Church in Trail was the scene for the double-ring marriage ceremony uniting Miss JeNelle Virlene Thronson and Gary John Foldet recently the Rev. Roger Olson officiating at the 8:00 candlelight service. Altar decorations were dahlias and baskets of gladioli.

Ushers were Bradlee Bruhjell of Duluth, cousin of the groom, and Kermit Larson of Aurora, friend of couple.

Mrs. Dennis Halverson played the traditional wedding marches and also accompanied the vocal soloist, Mrs. Orvis Bjerkle.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of bridal taffeta, featuring a full skirt and chapel train. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a modified scoop neckline trimmed with Chantilly lace, sequins, and pearls. It had long Mary Sturat sleeves. The shoulder-length veil was of silk illusion net and secured by a crown of seed pearls. Her jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, gifts of the groom, and her bouquet was of pink roses.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her niece, Bonnie Whitson of Grand Forks, North Dakota. Bridesmaid was Carolyn Foldet of Gonvick, sister of the groom. They wore identically designed street length dresses of turquoise taffeta featuring bell skirts with soft front pleats. Short-sleeved jackets covered spaghetti-strapped bodices. The attendants wore white hats and gloves, and pearl earrings. Each carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a pink rose, the flowers arranged on a white lace fan.

Best man James Foldet of Hillsboro, N. Dak., brother of the groom, and groomsman LaVerne Whitson of Grand Forks, wore white dinner jackets with dark trousers, as did the groom.

Flower girl Debbie Thronson of Flint Michigan, niece of the bride, wore a pale pink nylon dress with white hat and gloves, and carried baskets of white mums.

Rickey Thronson of Flint Michigan, nephew of the bride, was the ring-bearer. He wore a light sport coat with black trousers.

For the wedding of her daughter Mrs. Thronson chose a blue dress with silver grey jacket ensemble with black accessories, and Mrs. Foldet was attired in a beige three-piece suit with orange accessories. Both wore corsages of white mums.

Approximately 200 guests attended the reception held in the church parlors and given by the bride's parents. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the serving table. The cake, trimmed with pink roses and topped by a bridal pair in miniature, was baked and decorated by Mrs. John Nelson. It was cut and served by Mrs. Harry Thronson of Casselton, North Dakota, aunt of the bride, and Esther Bruhjelle of Duluth, aunt of the groom. Mrs. Carroll Hetland of Hoyt Lakes and Mrs. William Whitson of Grand Forks, sisters of the groom and bride, respectively, poured. Waitresses were Betty Torkelson and Beverly Anderson.

Assisting in the kitchen were Mmes. Knute Flatland, Bennie Torkelson, Johnny Handy, Vernon Hovelsrud, Herb Samson and Miss Ann Torstenson. Displaying the gifts were Mrs. Jim Knutson of Mayville North Dakota, and Brenda Brovold, Gully. Guests were registered by Sonia Thorenson of Grand Forks, and attended from many towns in Minnesota and Grand Forks, Litchville, Hillsboro, Mayville, Casselton North Dakota, and Flint Michigan, and Pampa, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thronson of Trail and is a graduate of Gonvick high school and was employed in Grand Forks during the past year. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Foldet of Gonvick and is employed by Steenerson Bros. Lumber Company in Gonvick.

The couple honeymooned in Canada and along the North Shore. For travel, the bride chose a brown three-piece suit with beige accessories and a corsage of pink tea roses.

Mrs. Bernard Lanska and Mrs. Ruth Dahl of Virginia, Minn., arrived on Friday to visit at the Don Brown home. They were guests there until Sunday afternoon.

Russ Embury's American Hardware Mutual golf squad won the 1963 city golf league championship on Wednesday afternoon when, in a playoff match against the Soo Line team, they defeated the railroaders by eight strokes, winning by a 140 to 148 score.

A brisk and chill north wind swept over the course during the match with the result that the scoring by the team members was in the high 30's and low 40's. A pair of 37's, by Jon Larson and Ron Kvikstad, earned the low gross honors, being one-over-par.

For the winners, Steve Embury carded a gross 41 and net 38, Larson had a gross 37 and a net 34. The other team member, Ron Solheim had a gross 40 and net 39.

RLF Eleven Loses to Prowlers Friday 12-7

Coach Bill Herzog's football Prowlers erupted for a pair of touchdowns in the first half of play on Friday night at Red Lake Falls, gaining a 12 to 7 first-half lead, and then were forced to play sturdy defensive ball in the second half to turn back the ever-trying Eagles and defeat coach Oliver Czech's Red Lake Falls club, 12 to 7. The Prowlers, with a record of two wins and no losses, will begin Northwest conference competition on Friday afternoon when they journey to East Grand Forks for a game against coach Ron Thompson's Green Wave. Game time is slated for 2:30 P. M. on the River Heights field at East Grand Forks.

In Friday night's game at Red Lake Falls the Prowlers, exploding a "bomb", scored on the first play from scrimmage. The Prowlers, defending the west goal, received the game-opening kickoff with Don Mathieu making a 22-yard return to the Prowler 32-yard line. From the scrimmage, on the first play, quarterback Rick Jensen tossed a pass to end Bob Olson, who made the catch near the south sideline on the Eagles' 40-yard, and he scampered for the touchdown. Larry Joppru's placement kick for the point just missed as the ball hit the upright and bounced away from the cross-bar.

The Prowlers moved into a 12 to lead early in the second period when, capping a drive that started on the Prowlers' 2-yard line and which gained momentum and resulted in five successive first downs. The scoring play, from the 21-yard line of the Eagles, was a sweep of right end by Jensen. Joppru's placement kick was low and the Prowlers held a 12 to 0 advantage.

The Eagles capitalized on a Prowler fumble, which was recovered by John Roy on the Prowlers' 29-yard line, to score their lone touchdown. From the 29-yard line, quarterback Andy Derosier found right end Roy for a 9-yard gain on a pass play. Frank Knott, who was a threat as a ball carrier throughout the game, was held for no gain, but then Derosier, on pass over the middle, hit end Bernard Demarais, and the lanky Eagles ran for the touchdown on an 18-yard gainer. Knott hit left tackle for the point, and the Eagles trailed by a 12 to 7 score at the intermission.

In a dramatic second half, the Prowlers were forced to out on a pair of goal-line stands to hold off the threatening Eagles. The most serious threat occurred early in the fourth period when Red Lake Falls had a first-and-goal situation from the Prowler 5-yard line, but the Prowlers held four downs and took possession on the 8-yard line. Moments later a Prowler fumble gave the Eagles the ball on the Prowlers' 32-yard line. This threat was halted when Joe Taylor intercepted an Andy Derosier pass on the Prowler 22-yard line. Taylor, after making a 9-yard gain at right tackle fumbled the ball, but was agile and strong enough to regain possession of the ball on the 31-yard line. The Prowlers, picking up a first down, retained the ball as the waning minutes of the game ticked off.

During the game, the Prowlers, who gained 293 yards from scrimmage, had fourteen first downs to nine first downs by the Eagles, who picked up 137 yards from scrimmage. The Eagles, who exhibited a strong passing attack, gained 77 yards via the air. The Prowlers, with the 68-yard opening play being the big gainer, had 110 yards on passing.

Sad News

To those of us who were given the privilege of playing our high school athletics under his coaching, the news item out of Green Bay, Wisconsin, telling of the sudden death of Leonard (Lars) Thune, was saddening and shocking. Thune, who was vice principal of Green Bay West high school, was stricken while at school on Thursday. His funeral is being held in Green Bay today, Monday.

Local sports fans are in agreement that it was with the advent of Leonard Thune that Prowler high school athletics, particularly basketball, had its resurgence. The 1916 high school team, coached by Al Johnson, won the district basketball title, but from that time until Thune's arrival here, there was a drought in district basketball championships for the Prowlers.

Thune, who had been a star athlete at Albert Lea, and had been a member of the Albert Lea state high school cage champions in 1919, attended South Dakota State college. Following his graduation from State, in 1923, Thune was named as football and basketball coach here. Incidentally, Thune, while at South Dakota State, was an all-conference center for the powerful Rabbits.

In the four years that Thune was directing basketball here, the Prowlers, in 1925 and 1926, won a pair of district cage titles. And the locals posted an over-all record of thirty-eight wins and twenty-three losses. Thune was an exponent of the short-pass "rolling" offense, with emphasis on ball control, and his teams were extremely well-drilled on fundamentals.

There are a number of us — Cliff Bjorkman, Walt Larson, Roy Langevin, Lloyd Bennes, Roy Oen, Chuck Booren, Ray Wengeler, Emil Dostal, and others — who have fond memories of our high school days and being coached by Lars Thune.

One of the amusing incidents, and an event that is discussed whenever we have an informal gathering, occurred during the 1925 basketball season. Thune was a strict disciplinarian and brooked no back talk or rebellion. Well, on the cage squad that year was lanky Lawrence Mulry, and he resented Thune's remarks and rebukes. The result was that Mulry challenged Thune to an exchange of blows, with boxing gloves. The mat was one-sided, with Thune raising a "goose egg" on Mulry's head. Later it was learned that Thune, during his days at college, had been South Dakota State's light-heavyweight boxing champion! Mulry didn't learn that fact until after the match.

Information for Bob Craik

Stan Musial participated in the World's Series, as a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, in 1943, 1944, and 1946. In 1943, which saw the New York Yankees win the Series, four games to one, Musial had five hits in 18 trips to the plate. In the 1944 Series, Musial hit one of the three homeruns belted by the Cards as they won the Series, four games to two, over the St. Louis Browns.

In 1946, when Musial was named to the Major Leagues' All - Star squad as a first baseman, the Cardinals defeated the Boston Red Sox in the Series, four games to three.

But it would be fine if Musial could conclude his Major league career by playing in another World's Series, and the majority of the fans are hoping that the Cards will overtake the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers.

Minnesota's Baseball Hall of Fame

In conjunction with the state amateur baseball tournament that was played in St. Cloud last week, an "Old Timers" banquet was held. And at this banquet thirty-one names were announced as charter members of the Minnesota Amateur Baseball Hall of Fame and among the Minnesotans given this honor was Melvin (Shorty) Dekko of Gary.

Shorty, when he isn't barbering in Gary, is busy with baseball, and for the past fifty-four years the popular Norman county resident has been active in promoting amateur baseball.

In the early 1920's the Gary baseball teams, with such players as Ole and Joe Heiberg and Al Brevik and others on the squad, was one of the best in northwestern Minnesota, and Shorty was the manager.

Local fans can recall Shorty Dekko as being the manager of the Thieves in the 1930's. In those depression years, when the fielding of a baseball team was difficult, Dekko brought several players from Gary and, with a few of the local players to complete the line-up, the Thieves played a representative schedule, and posted a creditable record.

Shorty was the only selection to the Hall of Fame from northwestern Minnesota, and he richly deserves the honor.

Lake Superior Circle Trip Is Spectacular

A top scenic attraction in your own backyard merits consideration for your next travel destination, either this fall, next spring or summer, says the Minnesota State Automobile association.

It's the Lake Superior Circle trip, a spectacular, scenery-packed drive that circles famed Lake Superior.

The 1,750 mile trip around the big lake has only been in existence three years. On September 17, 1960 a road between Marathon, Ontario, on the eastern north shore over to the Agawa River along the east shore was dedicated. Prior to that, there was a 120-mile gap between the above-mentioned points, making it impossible to drive the entire lake route.

Now, however, you can take the complete circle drive in your car—the older roads have been renovated and more improvements are being made. It's a good idea to allow about seven or eight days for the trip, though if your time is limited you may be able to make it in five or six. But you'll sacrifice a lot of sightseeing.

Accommodations along the circle drive are good, but they're not particularly plentiful in Canada between Port Arthur and Sault St. Marie. Your trip will be cheaper if you plan to camp out.

From any point in the state it's best to start from Duluth, where you can tour the harbor.

From there you take the famed North Shore Drive, stopping at Gooseberry Falls and Split Rock Light House. You'll enter Canada the same day and you can, perhaps, plan an overnight at Port Arthur, Ontario.

Before proceeding to Nipigon, Ont., you may want to take a boat trip on the Port Arthur Harbor. Your second overnight stop could be Terrace Bay, where you may visit the Kimberly-Clark Mill.

The next day's stops might include Wawa, Ontario where the highway was dedicated; finally Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, following sightseeing on Lake Superior's eastern shore. Point of interest in this Michigan locality are the Soo Locks, which carry more traffic than the Panama and Suez Canals combined.

Then you'll want to hit St. Ignace, Michigan, from where you can board a ferry for Mackinac Island. Or you might want to go from Sault Ste. Marie to Hulbert, Michigan, where you can cruise up the Taquahmenon River. You can leave your car in Hulbert and pick it up after the cruise. Be sure to drive to St. Ignace for a nighttime view of the Mackinac Bridge.

Superior's south shore will be your next destination; then the Copper Peninsula and a look through the interesting copper mining country of Keweenaw County. You'll also be able to take in Porcupine Mountains State Park, with its good view of Lake of the Clouds.

Your return home can be made via the Indianhead country in the northern part of Wisconsin, and if it's on your way home, you can pass through Interstate Park near Taylor's Falls.

The Superior Circle Drive is strictly adaptable to your time and interest requirements, but for all it's a scenic, enjoyable trip.

1,862,861 in State Licensed to Drive

Represents Increase of 26,609 over Year Ago

By the end of 1962, there were 1,862,861 persons licensed to drive in Minnesota, according to AAA, an increase of 26,609 over the previous year.

"For the nation as a whole," said Hugh M. Craig, executive secretary of the motoring organization, "there were 92 million licensed drivers on our streets and highways by the end of last year, an increase of 3.5 per cent over the 88.9 million drivers in 1961."

California leads all states in number of licensed motor vehicle operators with 9.7 million, followed by New York with 7.3 million, Pennsylvania with 5.8 million and Ohio with 5.1 million. Illinois, Michigan and Texas all register more than 4 million drivers. These seven states account for 45 per cent of the nation's total number of drivers.

Operators licenses are issued for varying periods of time by states. In 24 states licenses are issued for two years; but three states issue them for one year only, 11 states for three years and five for four years (including Minnesota.) Eight states have indefinite licensing periods.

U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which supplied the driving statistics, estimated there are 1.2 licensed operators for each registered motor vehicle in the nation.

No. Central Lines Produces Film on Flying and Sports

Flying, pheasant hunting, and fishing highlight North Central Airlines' newly released 23-minute 16 mm color motion picture, "Northliner." Stephen W. Haugen, North Central district traffic and sales representative, announced that he will show the film and answer questions for any interested group. He may be contacted at 126 South Seventh Street, Minneapolis.

Featured in the film are some "behind the scenes" shots of the airline's precision maintenance and overhaul operations, and the rapid reservations processing that links together North Central's 10-state, 91-city system. Fishing and pheasant hunting action in areas along Northliner routes are also shown in some dramatic footage.

The movie was produced for the airline by Wren Films, Inc., of St. Paul, Minnesota. Sherm Booen, popular Minneapolis, St. Paul television and aviation personality, narrated.

Think, Plan Ahead, Social Security Agency Advises

"Think" — "Plan Ahead". These two signs are often used in plants and offices to encourage sound work planning.

The words apply to social security planning as well. Everyone should "think" and "plan ahead" for retirement.

If you are near retirement age you should find out:

(1) What benefit amount you can expect

(2) What papers you will need to bring with you when you apply for benefits.

You can get this information by writing your social security district office at Grand Forks, North Dakota, or visiting the agent when he is stationed Tuesdays in Thief River Falls.

2½-Week-Old Baby Cuts Teeth

Bruce Gerardy will apparently soon be looking for something to get his teeth into. The 2½-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gerardy of Thief River Falls has cut a bottom tooth. A second tooth is also about to emerge and the parents report that it looks as though one tooth on either side of the first two will soon follow.

Dutch Elm Disease Enters Minnesota

Has Been Discovered in 14 Southeastern Counties

Disease and insects are not responsible for all tree problems, a University of Minnesota horticulturist declared. Many tree problems can be overcome by proper cultural practices, Donald B. White told the group attending the annual shade tree maintenance short course on the University's St. Paul campus September 16.

Donald Coe, director of the division of plant industry, state department of agriculture, reported that the European elm bark beetle which spreads the Dutch elm disease has been found in 14 southeastern counties. In the Twin Cities area, Dutch elm disease has been located in one tree in South St. Paul, four in Minneapolis, seven in St. Paul and 31 in Monticello. All these trees have been removed and destroyed. Coe said his division has received excellent cooperation from cities and individuals in cleaning up elmwood which may serve as breeding place for the elm bark beetle.

As replacements for the elm, L. C. Snyder, head of the horticultural science department of the University of Minnesota, recomended for Minnesota planting selected varieties of sugar, red or Norway Maple, green, white, or blue ash, basswood or linden, especially American, Little Leaf or Redmon varieties; Kentucky coffee tree; and the hackberry. Schwedler and Crimson King are among Norway maples suitable for Minnesota planting.

Survival Parley Set in Minneapolis

Industrial Conference Scheduled October 3 and 4

Governor Karl Rolvaag today endorsed the first Minnesota Business and Industrial Survival Conference, October 3 and 4 at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis. In support of the conference, Gov. Rolvaag said that Minnesota businessmen and industrialists are taking a forward step in preparing to operate effectively under a national defense emergency.

The conference, co-sponsored by statewide business, industry and labor associations and the Minnesota Department of Civil Defense, will deal with management problems of pre-attack planning and preparedness and post-attack recovery in an emergency. Roy V. Aune, acting director of the Minnesota Department of Civil Defense, is general chairman of the conference. The Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce is arranging advance conference registrations.

Designed for businesses of all sizes, the first day program will include discussions by defense specialists from government and industry on protection from radioactive fallout and government responsibility for survival. An afternoon panel of Minnesota businessmen will outline their company's plans for disaster. Luncheon speaker, Frank J. Keeler, vice president of Chase-Manhattan Bank, New York, will discuss the possibility of attack on plants and the protection of plant facilities.

Second day speakers will cover government controls for recovery, economic stabilization, resource management, and control of materials. Major General James P. Lambert, luncheon speaker superintendent of West Point Military Academy, will explain the role of the military in an emergency.

Editorials . . .

"Except a living man, there is nothing more wonderful than a book; a message to us from the dead—from human souls we never saw, who lived, perhaps thousands of miles away. And yet these in those little sheets of paper, speak to us, arouse us, terrify us, teach us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers."

—Charles Kingsley

Suit Justifiable?

Whenever our metropolitan papers run out of front page news they dig up a story on the Strontium-90 fallout content in milk. The figures in the first several paragraphs are frightening, but, sometimes in the middle of the story and often in the last paragraph, the reader is assured that there is no cause for alarm. In the fourth paragraph of such a story in the Sunday Tribune, the reader was given the following assurance:

> "The council said last May that the fallout levels this year would probably be substantially increased over those in 1962 but would still be, in relative terms, far short of the figures which would cause concern of justify countermeasures."

If there is no cause for concern, then why the scare headlines. Our guess is that the dairy industry of Minnesota and Wisconsin would be justified in taking this matter to court, asking the metropolitan press to reimburse the dairymen several million dollars for defamation of their product.

DeGaulle Intervenes

President de Gaulle of France is stepping into the tense South Vietnam situation, not for the purpose of helping us but rather for the purpose of strengthening the South Vietnam government and restoring peace in the area. As reported by Robert Trumbull to the New York Times:

> "Roger Lalouette, the French Ambassador to South Vietnam, is reliably reported to have approached other Western embassies in an effort to persuade Henry Cabot Lodge, the new United States Ambassador, to try to soften Washington's criticism of the government. Mr. Lalouette is understood to have gained support from the embassies of West Germany and Italy and from the diplomatic representatives of the Vatican."

This development apparently is not pleasing to President Kennedy, but we can see no good reason why we should not be happy to turn this Southeastern Asia mess over to our friends in Europe who have had more experience in that area. We don't know what business it was of ours in the first place. If the area needed policing that should have been an assignment for the United Nations.

Those Idle Funds

With the election of Governor Rolvaag the DFL party gained majority membership on the state's executive Council, the minority members being State Auditor Staff King and State Treasurer Val Bjornson. Presumably speaking for the majority, Attorney General Mondale is making an issue of the manner in which the state's idle cash is being invested.

Inasmuch as we are not any better informed on this problem than is Mr. Mondale, we will not enter into the argument on the questions raised directly by him. We do know that Val Bjornson and Staff King have requested and received legislative authority to invest a large portion of the state's idle millions, and under their leadership the state has collected millions of dollars in interest through the investment of such funds. They deserve much of the credit for what has been accomplished in this field.

Obviously not all idle funds can be invested. There must be adequate balances in all active funds and no doubt the size of those balances will vary from day to day and from month to month. There no doubt is room for reasonable disagreement as to how large those balances should be. A fair approach to this problem would be a comparison of our practices here in Minnesota with the practices in other states. In view of the charges that have been made such a check might properly be conducted under the direction of the Legislature's standing research committee.

Bribery, Pure and Simple

(Sleepy Eye Herald-Dispatch)

If you paid a senator or representative in Congress $100, $1,000 or $10,000 to use his influence in getting a certain piece of legislation passed, you would be prosecuted for bribery and he for accepting a bribe—if you were caught.

Another form of bribery is quite common at the nation's capitol. It is called "arm-twisting" and refers to measures an administration can and frequently does use to induce a legislator to vote against his best judgement.

Consider the poor congressman or senator who is opposed to a measure sponsored by the national administration. He can stand up and fight, realizing that if he does, federal funds, which normally would come to his district will go elsewhere, attorneys he favors for judicial appointment, will be passed over, with appointment going to others.

Or, he can ignore the pricks of conscience which annoy him, go along with what the administration desires . . . and get the federal funds he wants alloted to his district and the attorneys he thinks best qualified appointed to office.

It's bribery, pure and simple, and its practice isn't limited to any one administration, although some make more use of it than others.

Power Pool

There is much to be said in favor of the 10-state electric power pool that has been proposed by a large group of private, public and rural cooperative power companies. The economies that would be possible both in the production and distribution of power by such a joint effort would be tremendous.

One phase of such a proposal that has not received the attention it deserves, however, is the need for a more equitable system of taxation for the various types of organizations that would operate within such a pool. Here in Thief River Falls, served by a municipal plant, we contribute nothing toward the cost of county, state and federal government through our light and power bills. REA customers make a slight contribution but their operation up to this point has been heavily subsidized by the contributions of other taxpayers who do not use the service. The consumer served by a private company contributes to the support of practically all government units.

To establish a system that would eliminate all inequities would be impossible, but in the interests of an integrated operation on an equitable basis, this problem of taxation deserves immediate consideration.

NFO and Dairymen

The Twin City Milk Producers Association, the marketing cooperative that serves most of the milk producers whose dairy products are sold in the Minneapolis and St. Paul area, mailed a questionnaire to its 3,147 members asking them, among other things, if they were members of NFO, an organization that proposes to increase the market price of farm products by withholding the products from the market. Of 1,973 cards returned by August 23, 1,707 of the members indicated that they had not joined the new organization.

It would seem therefor that any attempt to raise milk prices in the Twin City area by the NFO plan would have little chance for success. Nor does it seem likely that the plan would be effective for any farm product in any market. From what information we have on the plan, it has too many notable shortcomings to be successful.

The withholding plan in itself has considerable merit. The fruit growers have used it successfully for many years. The Red River Valley Potato Growers have helped themselves by controlling to some extent their marketing. A dairymans' marketing association, organized on a national scale, we think would have a good chance to succeed, but the organization would have to be large enough to control the national production, and to distribute the cost of the disposal of surpluses on an equitable basis.

Couldn't-Care-Less

(Baltimore Sun)

The seed was planted and the golden grain was harvested, 40 million bushels of it. It was shipped off to the grain elevators and the farmers got their subsidy for it. Later it was carried to the ports and loaded onto ships. Ship after ship started forth over a period of four years with its cargo of surplus grain consigned to Austria—part of one of those barter deals that the governments engage in.

Of all the thousands involved in this transaction, no one ever bothered to inquire whether the grain got there. Then around last Christmas, as we got the story, an agricultural attache in the United States Embassy in Vienna happened to glance through a batch of reports of grain shipments consigned from the United States to Austria. The total came to 40 million bushels, which seemed just a bit out of scale since it amounted to six bushels for every man, woman, child and new-born infant in Austria. He asked someone about it ..ad so in time it developed that 24 million of these 40 million bushels had disappeared en route and never got there.

So the State Department and the Department of Agriculture sat on the story for six months. How did the story finally leak? We don't know, but we can guess that some jobholder in on the secret thought it just too good a joke to keep to himself.

Another National Holiday?

(Art Suel in New Prague Times)

The creation of new national holidays bids fair to become a new national pasttime.

This observation is prompted by a resolution adopted by the U. S. Senate which would designate every September 17 as Constitution Day.

Now no one but no one has greater respect and reverence for the Constitution of the United States than this newspaper.

But, The Times questions whether the designation of another holiday would accomplish the purpose intended. This newspaper holds to the opinion that 365 days of the year, (and in leap years, 366 days), should be dedicated to honoring and upholding the Constitution.

Instead of designating more new holidays, it would be helpful to revise the schedule of existing holidays like Memorial Day to come on Fridays or Mondays so that long weekends would not interfere too greatly with work schedules.

IN THE JOURNALISM FIELD there is a term used in regard to editorializing. This term is "Afghanistanism." It applies to the bold writing of editorial comment about issues quite far removed from the home scene and generally not subject to local criticism or debate. Editorial comment is carried in this column and at times this columnist has been guilty of "Afghanistanism."

One of this nation's problems which has been constantly in the news for some time is the racial issue. This fuel has provided flame for editorial fire throughout the nation—and has caused international fingers to be pointed at the United States in a gesture of "solve your own problems before you tell us what's wrong with our country."

While there is much deep-rooted sincerity in much of the battle for integration by the nation's negro people, there is also much superficial clamor. It is impossible for such an issue to be devoid of purely political implications, and professional politicians in both the South and the North have seized upon it in the hope of strengthening their positions.

In our area we know little of the race "problem" in the South or in some of the larger northern cities. We pass judgment by what we see and hear and believe to understand. It is easy to be "objective" in our thinking when we are not actually faced with integration to the extent that it makes any difference.

Concerning the negro as a race, we see mostly the "cream of the crop." We see and hear the outstanding athletes, the gifted speakers, the talented doctors and scientists, the noted musicians and the forceful writers. It is a mistake to believe that all negroes would be as those we see if given equal opportunity, for many have been given equal opportunity and have done nothing to take advantage of it.

I do not believe that most Americans would want to deny negroes their basic rights as fellow Americans. It must be difficult, however, for southern whites to accept the negro as an equal citizen. I believe that much of the integration opposition does not come from the upper class of whites, but from the lower class—the class which, in grasping for some status, believes it needs another class to look down upon.

Abject poverty in the south is not restricted to the negroes, nor is education offered only to the whites. Intervention by the federal government in forcing integration is succeeding only in compounding the problems and reinforcing the racial barriers which do exist. Telling people who they may and may not hire in private industry is an unforgivable act by the government. This is playing political football with human beings getting kicked around.

No matter what legislation is enacted or what laws are enforced there will stilll be segregation. There may be integration in education but there will be segregation in the minds of students. There may be integration in the churches, but there will be segregation in the hearts of parishoners. This will exist until, through the passage of time, the negro has proven himself to be equal in all ways andl this equality is accepted as fact.

Any crash programs until that time will be only words, wasted effort, politics and propaganda. It is not possible to change people by changing laws overnight.

The life of a minister must be frustrating at times. In his "Chaff" column in the Warren Sheaf, Neil Mattson tells of a traveling preacher who stopped to speak to a farmer who was working at the edge of a field.

"Are you laboring in the vineyard of the Lord, my good man?" he asked. "No," the farmer replied, "them is soybeans."

"You don't understand me," the parson said. "Are you a Christian?"

"Name's Smith," the farmer said. "Jim Christian lives down the road about a mile on the right."

The minister tried again. "Are you lost?" The farmer stood erect. "Not on your life, mister, I've lived in these parts better than 40 years."

"Are you prepared for the resurrection?" the minister asked. "When is it," the farmer queried. At last making some progress, the parson beamed. "It could be today, tomorrow or the next day," he said.

"Well, in that case," the farmer said, slapping the reins on the backs of his horses, "if you stop down by the house, don't mention it to the wife. She'll want to go all three days."

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—A recent VA letter about converting a World War II NSLI term policy to a permanent plan used examples for men aged 40 who carried their insurance up to age 75. Any special reason those ages were used?

A—Probably because the average age of the World War II veteran today is 43. The latest mortality table says if a man reaches 43, he can expect to live another 31-plus years. That same table says women outlive men, so most of us will need insurance up to age 75. We should be prepared in advance and know what we can expect to have to pay for insurance over that span of time.

Q—In my new job I will be traveling for months at a time. Can I have my VA check sent to my bank?

A—Yes, if you follow two steps. One - get forms from any VA office for use in appointing the bank as your power of attorney. Two - notify the VA of your new bank address for check-mailing purposes.

Q—Do all veterans get pensions at age 65?

A—Not all. The veteran must have had 90 days service and a discharge under other than dishonorable conditions. He must meet certain disability requirements, varying with age, and must be considered unemployable. His income must fall within certain limitations.

Toasts 'n Tidings BY Your Minnesota Hostess

Here's a pleasant fact, recorded this Summer in a publication called "International Nickel's Corrosion Reporter." When you sip beer, you can be certain it was produced under superior sanitary conditions. Said the magazine, "Breweries have taken Louis Pasteur's admonitions as closely to heart as any well-run hospital. They are probably the cleanest food plants in the world."

When Men Shop

A recent report in the "Wall Street Journal" says "impulse buying" rises nine percent when husbands join their wives at the supermarket. What are the men's favorite purchases? Frozen foods . . . and beer!

Blender Beer Dip

When I demonstrate beer cookery for the Albert Lea Jaycee's and Mrs. Jaycee's next month, I'll make this delicious dip: In blender, combine one 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese and ½ cup beer. Cover; blend at high speed 8 seconds. Add ¼ cup beer, ½ lb. cubed cheddar cheese, one small clove garlic. Cover, blend till smooth. Add 12 small gherkin pickles and 1 tsp. poppy seeds. Cover, blend 2 seconds and serve with crackers or chips . . . Send a postcard to "Minnesota Hostess," 333 WCCO Bldg., Minneapolis 2, Minn., and I'll send you my free recipe book.

IT'S A FACT! MINNESOTANS LIKE BEER BETTER THAN EVER! FIGURES FOR THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1963 SHOW A SLIGHT DROP IN THE CONSUMPTION OF DISTILLED SPIRITS... BUT A RISE IN MINNESOTA BEER CONSUMPTION. IN THE FIRST THREE MONTHS OF '63, MINNESOTANS DRANK 356,319 BARRELS OF BEER... 1,379 MORE BARRELS THAN WERE CONSUMED IN THE SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR!

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor KARL ROLVAAG

This past week I had the pleasure of welcoming to Minnesota over 300 members of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners meeting in convention in Minneapolis. In my greeting to them I informed them that our state is no longer the land of 10,000 lakes. Our Division of Waters recently completed a survey which shows that Minnesota has 13,871 lakes of 10 or more acres in size. But a proposal I made at this convention has received much more attention.

Conservation Hall of Fame

It seems to me that a good deal of time, effort and money is spent in memorializing groups or individuals who have contributed much to our way of life. It is certainly proper that this be done. But I have often wondered why the conservationists who gave their efforts and lives work to the development and management of our vast resources have been so neglected in the honors our nation so richly bestows. I was indeed happy for the opportunity to discuss before these influential conservationists my idea for a North American Conservation Hall of Fame, located in Minnesota.

Baseball Has Hall

One of the most famous memorials in this nation is the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in Cooperstown, New York. Since its dedication June 12, 1936, the museum, which contains a noted collection of baseball souvenirs, photographs and trophies, has become renowned the world over. Eighty-six stars of the past and present have been memorialized and accorded the national pastime's highest honor. Thousands of people annually visit the museum, for it is a mecca for the followers of the sport and the touring public as well. It has put Cooperstown on the map—permanently.

Reward for Conservationists

Today there is a need to memorialize another group of citizens, great men and great conservationists. It is my belief that we can not do less than the contribution of the great conservationists-Living and dead-can be measured in terms of a better life that millions enjoy in this country, and in the growing natural resource heritage of generations yet unborn. We should reward the work, and sustain the memory of great men like Gifford Pinchot, Theodore Roosevelt, Aldo Leopold, Ding Darling, Audubon, and Hugh H. Bennett, the father of the Soil Conservation Service. But no such facility as a Conservation Hall of Fame exists in this country although a conservation library has been started in Denver, chiefly to preserve old books, publications and manuscripts in the field of conservation.

Fort Snelling Shrine?

As Governor of Minnesota, I look to historic and hallowed ground, to a few acres located high on a bluff at the junction of the Mississippi and Minnesota rivers, to old Fort Snelling, as a fitting place for the establishment of this historic shrine. I am pleased to report that I have already made inquiries — a sounding out of support — for this proposal in the Nation's Capitol. The idea has met with nothing but enthusiastic response.

Unanimous Resolution

It has been extremely heartwarming to watch the reaction to the proposal for this Conservation Hall of Fame. Before they adjourned, delegates to the conservation convention unanimously voted for a resolution pledging support for my proposal. This response from over 300 conservation leaders, from all parts of the North American continent, was rather unexpected for I am certain that they would like to have a similar museum located in their respective home districts. But I believe that the people of Minnesota want such a shrine here and will support the efforts of this administration to bring this about.

Numedal . . .

Mrs. Irving Iverson, Carol and Alan and Mrs. Randal Carpenter and Roxann accompanied JoAnn Iverson to Grand Forks Monday were Miss Iverson is employed.

And Good Students Go Together

In the home as well as in the school, good lighting for young eyes is very important. Most of our newer schools have taken this into consideration and have the best lighting systems available. Some of the older schools may need a little boost from the parents to bring their lighting systems up to par . . . but in general, the schools in Minnkota-Land have done a wonderful job in protecting our youngsters' eyes.

Now how about your home? Does your youngster have a well-lighted place to study and read and work? It's such a simple matter to check the wattage in his lamp . . . or even pick up a small desk lamp for his personal use. Check your home today . . . the days are getting shorter and good lighting becomes more important than ever in the months ahead.

14 Years for Ballingrud, Wold

Partners Note Progress in T. R. Falls Grocery Business

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Establishment of a partnership in October of 1949 has resulted in 14 years of business growth for Gordon Ballingrud and Otis Wold, owners of the Piggly-Wiggly Supermarket in Thief River Falls. This week they are observing the remodeling and construction of a new addition with a remodeling sale at the store.

Both partners had extensive experience in the grocery business prior to becoming business associates in 1949. Ballingrud's association with the present store site is the most enduring. He began working part time for A. M. Magnuson at the Independent Supermarket in 1933 as a stock boy and from 1939 to 1949 served as assistant manager.

In 1933 the store consisted of the west half of the present building and it was expanded in the late 1930's. Prior to becoming assistant manager, Gordon worked at the order desk of the Nash-Finch company for 18 months—his only break with being associated at the present store.

Otis Wold began his career in the retail foods field by purchasing bankrupt stock in the Riverside Grocery in 1929. He maintained that store until 1952 when it was sold to the late Stan Sandvig. In

The two men have been partners in the grocery business for 14 years, recently purchasing the Piggly-Wiggly Supermarket building from Gordon's former employer, Andy Magnuson.

Few Cases Tried In Municipal Court

Traffic Violations Most Numerous of Offenses

Relatively few cases were tried in Thief River Falls municipal court on Monday although the state highway patrol, sheriff's office and city police department all had cases for trial before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson.

In the lone highway patrol case, Anthony Morin of International Falls was fined $75 for driving after suspension of his driver's license and his license plates and title card were impounded.

In the only sheriff's department case, Earl Carpenter forfeited bond of $20 on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check and make restitution of the check.

Police cases included Morris Flattum, city, speed, $16 fine with $4 suspended; Maynard Wedul, city, speed, $15 bond forfeited; Lester Walton, Strandquist, illegal passing, fined $15; and Dwight Myhrer, rt. 4, TRF, improper U turn, found guilty and fined $15 with $7.50 suspended. There was also one dismissal during the court session.

HS Adopts Change In Reporting Form

Hearing Set Oct. 8 on Levy for Fair

The county board has scheduled a public hearing in the court house Tuesday morning, October 8, at 10:30 on the request of the Pennington County Fair association for an increase in the tax levy for the county fair from the present figure of .68 mill to a full mill, which would provide $5,148.

The board of the new fair association stated that the additional revenue is required to help retire the current debt of about $6,000 inherited from the old Pennington County Agricultural society, which is now being liquidated.

If the increased levy is not made available, it was indicated, there is a question whether the fair can be continued.

New Report Cards Contain Greater Personal Record

New report cards will be utilized at Lincoln junior and senior high school this year, according to Francis Hamerlinck and Richard Edlund, respective junior and senior high principals. It is believed the cards will provide a more complete and better report from the school to the home.

At the end of each six-weeks period, students will receive separate report slips from each of their classroom teachers. This will provide a separate record on grade, citizen and attendance for each class as well as teacher comment.

For instance, junior and senior high school students carrying five subjects will receive five separate report slips. Since a duplicating form is used, teachers will maintain permanent records and slips sent home with parents ARE NOT TO BE RETURNED to the school.

Since it is not required for parents to sign the report cards and return them, the school will have no record of which cards actually get home to the parents. As a guide for parents to know when to expect the cards at home, the following schedule has been prepared by the school:

Six-Week Period Ends	Report Cards Out
Oct. 9	Oct. 17
Nov. 22	Nov. 27
Jan. 17	Jan. 23
Feb. 28	Mar. 5
Apr. 17	Apr. 23
May 29	May 29

"We would encourage the parents to clip the schedule or mark their calendars so that they know when report cards are due at home," Edlund said. "We believe that this form of reporting will be a better report to the parent than a simple alphabetical grade. It will also help the parent to evaluate reasons why students are having trouble in particular subjects or will indicate why students excel in some subjects."

At the conclusion of the school year, the cards retained by classroom teachers will become part of the permanent records maintained by the school. A sample card will appear in the Times shortly before the first report cards will be issued on October 17.

Adventist Welfare Center To Open

Discusses Airports, Awards Contract At Meet Tuesday

Approval of 24 building permits totaling $185,150, letting of a contract for water and sewer extension and discussion of airport situations took place at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls city council Tuesday evening.

J. A. Shaw Construction company of Fargo was awarded the contract for water and sewer extension on Brooks, Spruce and Oak avenues for a bid of $30,156. Since the Shaw company was low among five bidders, the council also approved an additional 20 days on the contract completion date to receive a five per cent discount from the company. This will make the bid price a total of $28,648.

Considerable discussion was held on the purchase of land from C. D. Gustafson for airport expansion. A motion to pay $19,000 as requested by the property owner was defeated with aldermen Donald M. Olson, Milton Reierson and Roy Jorgenson in favor and Arthur Christianson, Roy Lee, Dr. A. E. Jacobson and Elmer Benson opposed.

A counter motion presented following the defeat of the original motion was carried with only Donald Olson and Roy Jorgenson dissenting. This called for payment of the appraisal price of $17,925 and allowing the present owner to cut whatever amount of timber he desires on the property. The city clerk was instructed to contact the owner and advise him of the council action.

It was also noted that a meeting with state and federal aviation personnel had been arranged for September 25 in Minneapolis in regard to the local airport plans. D. H. Stewart, city engineer, Mayor Orin Green and one councilman were authorized to attend this meeting.

Elmer Benson was appointed chairman of a committee to study the entry of new Northwestern Trailer Court property into the city and the obligations of the property owners and the city under such action. Les Snetting and Dan Helle appeared before the council, stating they would have the property annexed to the city and asking questions about city services.

Lease of airport property to Eugene Rondorf at a price of $400 per year was again approved with the lease to be effective for two years. Upon the request of the Pennington County Sportsmens

Seeger-Fladeland Vows Spoken Sept. 6th in RLF

An exchange of vows at Bethany Lutheran Church in Red Lake Falls on September 6 united in marriage Miss Kathleen Seeger of Duluth and John O. Fladeland, stationed at Bangor, Maine, with the Air Force.

Miss Seeger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Seeger of Red Lake Falls, while Mr. Fladeland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Fladeland of St. Hilaire.

Rev. C. G. Erickson used the double-ring ceremony in a candlelit setting, with bow-and-ivy trimmed candles decorating the windows, and candelabra flanking the altar which was decorated with orchid and white gladioli and baskets of white, red and pink fall flowers. Organist Mrs. Maurice Bjorgan of Red Lake Falls played Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" and accompanied Mrs. Leslie Seeger who sang "O Perfect Love", and "The Lord's Prayer". About 150 guests were present at the ceremony. Steven Seeger, brother of the bride, lit the candles.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a white bridal gown of peau de soie, fashioned with a lace-appliqued bodice dewed with seed pearls. The long train was similarly trimmed. A large bow held the veil of silk illusion in place. Her bouquet was of white Fuji mums and ivy.

Flower girl Cindy Beiswenger of Fisher was in a white chiffon over moss green dress, styled with matching cummerbund and headpiece. Her miniature bouquet was composed of flowers like those carried by the bridesmaids.

Carrying the rings was the bride's brother, Bradley Seeger. Robert Fladeland of St. Hilaire served as best man. Michael Seeger, brother of the bride, was groomsman, and Bruce Russell and John Sannes were ushers.

Mrs. Seeger chose a velvet dress in autumn bronze, with matching accessories, for the wedding of her daughter. The groom's mother wore a dark green ensemble with beige accessories. Their corsages were of yellow roses and bronze mums. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Waldal of Plummer, was also honored with a corsage. It was composed of fall-colored blooms.

The couple received about 150 guests at the reception which followed the wedding, was given by the bride's parents, and held in the church parlors, which were decorated in fall shades of yellow and orange, with ivy accents, and moss green and white streamers. Punch was served by Mrs. Clayton Larson of Plummer, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. George Spong Jr. of St. Hilaire, the bride's cousin Marsha Dale was at the guest book, and Mrs. Darrell Hinrichs and Mrs. Wesley Myhre opened the gifts. Mary Ryan and Mary Kiland served as waitresses.

Mrs. Gil Sannes baked and decorated the wedding cake. Frosted in white, it featured a spiral staircase on one side, with a lighted church at the top and a bride and groom at the base and pairs of bridal attendants descending. It was trimmed in green leaves and yellow roses. Cutting it was Mrs. Alvin Waldal, the bride's aunt. Mrs. Leslie Seeger, the bride's cousin, and Mrs. Paul Sullivan, aunt of the groom, poured.

The bride, a graduate of Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls, also graduated as a histologist from St. Luke's hospital in Duluth and was employed there in that capacity. Her husband, A2c John Fladeland, graduated from Lincoln high school of this city in 1962, and has been with the Air Force since July of last year.

The couple left immediately after the reception for Duluth, Chicago, Ill., and Boston, Mass., before he returns to Bangor, Maine, to Dow AFB. The bride wore a 3-piece gold and black knit ensemble with black accessories. They will reside in Bangor.

Thomas Gabrielson of Little Norway Church near Fertile, where the couple grew up and were married, brought greetings from his church. The Odin male chorus of Fertile sang three selections and was enthusiastically received. Mr. Erickson is a charter member of this chorus and was its president for 14 years.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. ED BELLAND

It's your turn to play hostess to your church group or club, and you want to serve something just a little different from the usual dessert luncheon. Yet you want to be a trifle fancy and imaginative. This should just about fill the requirements. Mrs. Belland also likes to serve this for Sunday night supper. It utilizes the chicken left over from dinner, or that which has been cooked the day before. The other ingredients can usually be found in most refrigerators, all but the cream puffs or pastry shells in which the salad is to be served. And these take little time in preparation, especially for the experienced cook. The resultant salad is almost a meal in itself.

CHICKEN SALAD

½ cup stuffed olives, sliced
1½ to 2 cups finely minced celery
½ cup slivered almonds
½ cup ripe olives

Combine the above ingredients with the following dressing:
Mix one cup mayonnaise with ½ cup cream. Mix lightly, and add to the chicken mixture. Chill. Serve in cream puffs or pastry shells.
Mix one cup mayonnaise with ½ cup cream. Mix lightly. Chill. Serve

Mrs. Belland's family of seven children is quite grown now. Vernon is a graduate of cosmetology school; David is a Sophomore at the UND *at Grand Forks, N.D.; Norma Jean is with Barzen Seed Co. in Min*neapolis. The rest are married; two live in California, one in Minot, N.D., and one in Bemidji. There are four grandchildren, and they provide their grandmother with an outlet for her creative instinct in sewing their clothes. She is well-experienced in this line, having sewn most of the clothes for her own growing family. Canning and entertaining are also on the agenda frequently for Mrs. Belland. She confesses to a great love for TV, "too much, possibly," especially programs of the musical variety.

As a family they went on many picnics to the park, and Itasca Park was a favorite haunt, especially in the fall when it explodes with vivid color.

Mr. Belland is manager of the Cities Service station on 8th street. Like many other men, he hunted with his sons as they grew up, and still enjoys it.

MEMORIES of her days in the field of education are fond ones for Miss Lyda Batten of Thief Rver Falls. She taught school or served as principal for 53 years—43 of them in this city. In the above photo she is shown as she received an award for her service to education at the Minnesota State fair in 1955. 55 Years in ducation

Pioneer Educator Relives Teaching Experience Here

By Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

With practially all of the young people of our land back in the classroom, it seems fitting to pay tribute to one of the pioneer educators in Thief River Falls.

A name that is practically synonymous with Education here is that of Miss Lyda Batten, who has devoted 55 years to the cause of youth, all but 10 of them here. The list, of her former pupils reads somewhat like a condensed version of the Business and Professional Directory of our town, since she taught so many of our leading citizens. Coming here in 1913, she first spent four or five years in the Central school which at that time had only the lower grades.

Upon completion of the Northrup school, she taught there for a year, and then transferred to Central school, which thereafter was a junior high school, housing only seventh and eighth grades. It stood on the site of the present city parking lot located between Horace and LaBree Avenues on 4th street.

Born in southern Wisconsin, Miss Batten received her education in southern Minnesota, Moorhead State college, and in various summer school sessions.

She became principal of Central in 1923. In 1939, she was transferred to Lincoln high school when old Central was razed. "And sad was the day when I closed that door for the last time," she sighed. "That school was so much a part of me! I knew every child personally." There were eight teachers at old Central, and an enrollment of about 200 pupils.

"It was an interesting life, to say the least," Miss Batten twinkled. "If things got a bit dull, we would invite the parents in for afternoon 'coffee'. Some of the pupils would present a program on those occasions, and the rest were dismissed for the day. I can recall the operettas we used to put on. Occasionally one of the boys would get conveniently 'sick to the stomach' just before curtain time, but I reminded him firmly that this was no time for stomach aches, he was due on stage at any moment—and you know, it worked! They all survived.

"Certain of the board members were much interested in sending to our school speakers whom they felt would interest the pupils, and they made some excellent choices. One was a traveler from the Far East, another had traveled widely in Canada; there were educators from the universities, and sometimes members of the high school faculty would speak. The variety of speakers was very wide, indeed, each with a different kind of story to tell, It was a thrill to see the concentration, the communication between 200 shining-eyed youngsters and the person on stage. It was most gratifying."

Observing the sparkle and enthusiasm, the glow of interest on her face, it was quite apparent that their spirit was a reflection of her own. "The building might have been a little dull on the outside," she went on, "but it was never dull on the inside."

As a principal, her advice to the teachers under her would be, "You may not know everything, but you have a broader general knowledge than your pupils, so get 'that look' in your eyes, and you will get that point across to them."

"One of the highlights of each year," she went on, "was the 8th grade commencement. It was held on the forenoon in order that the services of the speaker who would address the high school graduates that evening might be utilized. An unforgettable sight," she said, "100 or more youngsters, the girls looking like a flower garden from a little distance, with their pastel-colored organdy dresses, the boys in their new suits and shiny shoes squeaking with newness... The valedictorian and salutatorian, under the able coaching of Miss Bessie Sedlacek, who now lives at Warren, gave scholarly and flawless speeches, and the graduate who had made the most progress in spelling during the year was awarded a handsome fountain pen, an award which was much coveted.

Her face alight with memories, Miss Batten contunued, "And oh, the picnic. THERE was a day to remember!"

Recognition...Rewards

One of 81 veterans educators in the state, she was awarded a silver pitcher and platter in 1955 at the Minnesota State Fair. Each year a different group of teachers is honored; that year, she was the oldest in terms of service among the principals in the state.

"Of great satisfaction to me is the fact that some of the teachers who started their careers under me have also gone on to positions of prominence. One of them is the president of a teachers college in New York state; one has become the art director in a college in Ames, Iowa, many have gone on to teach in fine big schools in many places...As for me, I always wanted to be a teacher. Even as a small girl, we played school and I was never satisfied to be a pupil. Teaching held a fascination for me throughout my lifetime. I don't care what the problems were, and there were many of them over the years...I would still look forward to each Monday morning with anticipation."

Here she paused. "I must pay tribute to the fine superintendents under whom it was always my good fortune to work. They helped me all the way."

Teaching was not her only interest, however; over the years, Miss Batten was president of the local Women's Club, the PTA, member of the delegate assembly of the Minnesota Education Association, head of the Junior Red Cross at the school and held many positions on committees of the MEA, to mention only a few of her contributions.

Although she would have enjoyed traveling, the extent of her travels was always between the confines of the covers of books, and since her retirement in 1957, she has assumed a new (and for her, strange) role, that of homemaker.

Among her cherished mementos are letters from former pupils, and from some of their parents as well. And among things she most enjoys is the class reunions. But most priceless of all are her memories, which are a reward in themselves.

Draft of Married Men Is Curtailed

Deferment Order Issued by Kennedy Wednesday

President Kennedy Wednesday ordered the halt to drafting of married men so long as enough single men are available to maintain the strength of the armed forces.

Kennedy signed an executive order which provides that married men shall be inducted only after all single men in the 19-25 age group have been drafted.

Military sources said that, for the foreseeable future, enough single men will be available so that there will be no need to draft husbands.

Only a major increase in military strength, they said, would again place married men within the scope of the draft.

Lt. General Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, estimated that about one out of every five men now classified as 1A-available for service -- is married and without children.

4H Animal Sale at Middle River Has $3,359.16 Total

beef steers—Lowell Sedlacek and Harvey Sedlacek, Comstock; wether lambs—Peggy and John Larson, West Prairie and Courtney Abel, Happy Corner; and barrow—Charles Edgar, McCrea.

All trip winners received cash award prizes from the sponsor of the event, Middle River Lions club, to be used to help defray trip expenses.

Showmanship winners were Harvey Sedlacek, Comstock, beef; John Larson, West Prairie, sheep; and Lynn Marek, Boxville, pig.

Forty-nine of the 55 exhibits were sold at the public auction. Carl Spong of Central Livestock association was judge for the show and Donald Steinhauer of Holt was auctioneer.

Ballingrud, Wold Note 14 Years In Partnership

1939 he added the St. Paul Avenue Grocery to his holdings and it was later sold to Danny Hanson.

In July of 1949, Gordon gave up his employment with Andy Magnuson and started looking for a store. He joined Otis in October in the purchase of a grocery business in the building now occupied by Larson Music company and the area vocational school practical nursing classes. The store was known as the B & W Supermarket.

Purchase Business

On August 13, 1951, the partners purchased the grocery business of Gordon's former boss, A. M. Magnuson, at the present site. In April of 1954 they became affiliated with the Piggly-Wiggly chain of independent food stores. This year they purchased the building and constructed a 25x75 foot addition at the rear of the store. This makes the building 75x115 feet in size and provides for expanded refrigeration and freezer units as well as more rapid handing of stock.

While only several employees were needed at the B & W Supermarket when the partnership began in 1949, the store personnel now numbers 24 people.

Grocery Dep't.—Clifford Vigness, grocery manager; Clifford Habedank, assistant manager; Christ Saustad, maintenance; John Stromberg, Dave Ballingrud, Roy Nelson, James Robinson, Leon Borchert, David Gustafson, Gary Nereson and Bryce Ernst, stock boys;

Meat Dept.—Kenneth Liden, market manager; Lyle Liden, Mrs. Joyce Reese and Mrs. Harvey Droppo;

Produce Dep't.—Mrs. Clifford Vigness, Mrs. Alfred Lunde and Mrs. Alice Habedank;

Cashiers—Mrs. Al Stokke, Mrs. Lester Ringstrand, Mrs. Erling Olson, Mrs. Lillian Kainz, Mrs. John Stenseth and Miss Jane Ballingrud.

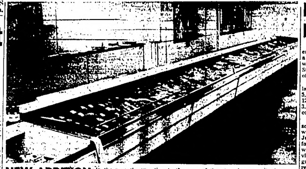
Serve Community

Vitally interested in the retail food business, Otis served 10 years on the board of the Minnesota Food Retailers association before heading the association for two years as its president in 1960 and 1961. He was president of the Oakland Park Sanatorium board and vice president of the Sunnyrest Sanatorium board when the tuberculosis treatment centers were consolidated. He has also been a member of the school board for 8 years and on the board of Carnegie public Library.

Gordon has served on the board of directors of the local Chamber of Commerce and was its president in 1957. He has served on the board of deacons and the board of trustees at Trinity Lutheran church and for three years was president of the congregation. He is also a member of Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion.

Remodeling and expansion of the store in recent years has provided a new floor, air conditioning, new heating system and interior and exterior painting. Use of the new addition allows the use of an expanded self-service meat counter as well as new freezer and refrigeration units.

Through the years the partners have become very familiar with all phases of the grocery business. Gordon generally handles the grocery department and advertising while Otis supervises the produce department and accounting. Each can fill in, for the other when needed, however, to keep the operation functioning smoothly.



NEW ADDITION in the recently expanded and remodeled Piggly Wiggly Supermarket in this city is this self-service meat counter. Construction of an addition to the rear of the store has permitted expansion of the meat department, installation of new freezer and refrigeration units and better storage for easier and faster handling of stock.

Employment Reaches Record High in State

Nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota reached a record high during August, it was reported today by Frank T. Starkey, Minnesota Commissioner of employment security.

The 1,019,200 workers employed last month represented a gain of 5,400 over July. The figure was 12,900 higher than a year ago, and 3,800 higher than the previous record set last September.

Manufacturing employment also set a new record, Starkey said, with a gain of 3,400 workers from July. This gain put the total manufacturing employment at 250,700 which was 500 higher than the previous high of last September. The gain over last month was the net result of an increase of approximately 4,300 in non-durable goods firms and a decrease of some 800 in durable good manufacturing.

The employment gain in nondurable goods firms was due to a seasonal increase of 3,200 in food processing, and a gain of 1,100 in the paper and the printing and publishing industries. Within the durable goods group a decrease of 1,200 in employment in transportation equipment firms was partially offset by gains in other industries. The employment drop in transportation equipment was caused by temporary seasonal layoffs because of a model changeover.

Nonmanufacturing employment increased by 2,000 between July and August, according to Starkey. The gains in construction (1,200) trade (1,900), transportation (500), service 400) and public utilities (200) were offset by losses in finance, insurance, and real estate (200); and in government (2,100).

Total unemployment in Minnesota decreased to 55,600 in August, a decrease of 10,700 from July, but 2,000 higher than one year ago. The August unemployment rate was 3.6 per cent, compared to 4.2 per cent in July and 3.15 per cent a year ago, Starkey said.

Mt. Olive Church at Trail Notes 45 Years

When the Mt. Olive Lutheran church of Trail observes its 45th anniversary Sunday, it will have on hand two of its former pastors as main speakers for the day. They will be Prof. B. W. Teigen and Rev. John Moldstad.

Professor Teigen, president of Bethany Lutheran college in Mankato, who will preach at the 11:30 a.m. anniversary service, served the congregation from August of 1937 to January of 1941. Rev Moldstad of Thornton, Iowa, who will be the featured speaker at the anniversary program at 2:30 p.m. served the congregation from December of 1952 to April of 1955. The afternoon program will also have special music provided by members of the congregation and by the Sorenson Brothers Quartet of Fischer.

Ladies of the congregation will serve dinner to one and all at the VFW Hall at 12:30 p.m. Lunch will also be served following the afternoon program.

A part of the day's ceremonies will include a trip to the congregation's cemetary following the afternoon program, where a monument recently erected in memory of the founding fathers of the congregation will be dedicated.

The history of Mt. Olive congregation dates back to the summer and fall of 1918. When the majority of the members of Lost River congregation in Chester township of Polk county decided to join in the merger of Norwegian churches brought about in 1917, a handful of families withdrew from that congregation, because they did not wish to become part of a church body that came into existence through the compromising of God's word.

Banding together under the leadership of J. E. Thoen, the little group formally organized its own congregationin the spring of 1919, and was incorporated under the name of Chester congregation on May 10th of that year. They soon thereafter affiliated themselves with the reorganized Norwegian Synod, and remained a member of that church body to this present day, though now it is known as the Evangelical Lutheran Synod.

For many years the congregation met in a basement church, built by the group in Equality township of Red Lake county, or oftentimes held their services in homes. In the early days of its history, the congregation was served by traveling missionaries of the Norwegian Synod, notably Rev. John Hendricks of Minneapolis, who served as pastor for the congregation from 1919 — 1921, and again from 1926 — 1935.

It was in the summer of 1953 that the congregation came into possession of its own church building. This was made possible when the mission board of the Missouri Synod gave to the congregation a church, located in Star township north of Gully. The congregation proceeded to move the building into the village of Trail, where it was placed on a corner lot donated to the congregation by Carl Newton.

In the spring of 1955 the congregation took a further step when it joined with Cross Lake Congregation (rural Fosston) to purchase a parsonage in Trail, and along with that congregation then called it's first full-time pastor, Rev. Robert Preus. Rev. Preus served the congregation from 1955 to 1957. The present pastor, Norman Madson, began serving the congregation in the fall of 1957. In the fall of 1960 the congregation legally had its name changed from Chester Norwegian Lutheran congregation to Mt. Olive Lutheran church.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

With tomatoes being plentiful this fall, many of you have been in the office asking for a recipe for a tomato soup and how to can it. Here is one I have that may be of interest to you.

14 qts. tomatoes
7 medium-sized onions
1 stalk celery
14 sprigs parsley
3 bay leaves
14 T. flour
14 T. butter
3 T. salt
8 T. sugar
2 t. pepper

Wash and cut up the tomatoes. Chop onions, celery, parsley and bay leaves. Add these ingredients to the tomatoes and cook until the celery is tender. Put through a sieve. Rub the flour and the butter into a smooth paste thinned with tomato juice. Add this paste to the boiling soup and stir to prevent scorching. Add the salt, sugar and pepper. For a smoother consistency, put it through a sieve again. Fill the jars to within an inch of the top of the jar. Put on the cap and screw the band tight. Process in a water bath for 15 minutes.

Maybe you would like to dry some flowers before the frost comes and destroys the last of your pretty blooms. The methods that can be used are sand drying, hanging, glycerine and pressing.

The flowers that are left in your gardens at this time will dry best by hanging. This method you may be interested in knowing is the one that is the most widely used. It is also used for drying of weeds and grains as well as for flowers.

The place that is best for drying is in a dry, warm and not-too-light place. A suggested place would be an attic. Never use the basement for that is too damp.

All plants to be dried should be defoliaged immediately after cutting. Then tie them together, but avoid crowding and crushing, and hang with the heads down. Strawflowers should be picked in the bud and allowed to open as they dry.

Good luck in the drying of your pretty flowers!

Auto Race Driver Presents Program for Rotary Club

Tells Rotarians About "Indianapolis 500" Race And Safety Precautions

Duane Carter of Indianapolis, Ind. 12-year veteran of the "Indianapolis 500" auto race, presented the program at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday. He also presented a safety program at Lincoln high school Monday morning.

Carter is one of eight racing drivers representing the Champion spark plug company on the safety tour. Since 1955 the program has been conducted by the company and this year Carter is scheduled to appear in 58 communities in Minnesota and Wisconsin from now through the month of December.

Stressing safety on the highway through research conducted on the racing track, Carter said that many precautions are taken to protect race drivers and spectators. The Champion program for street and highway drivers stresses coutesy, attitude and care of the vehicle, he added.

All drivers competing at the Indianapolis 500 for the first time must pass a rookie driver test. This consists of two days of testing at speeds from 120 to 135 miles per hour with 100 miles of driving in all. Drivers must maintain the speed set for a particular test and are given a tolerance of one m.p.h. under or 3 m.p.h. over that speed.

Using a car with a modified V-8 Chevrolet engine, 12-inch wheels and tires and weight of 1,100 pounds last year, Carter qualified for the race at 148 miles per hour. He said it takes about four sets of tires for a "500" race, running each set down to the cords, and three pit stops are usually needed. This is about 125 miles on a set of tires.

At a pit stop there is refueling, complete change of tires, cleaning of the windshield and a new pair of goggles for the driver in less than 30 seconds. Synthetic alcohol is used for fuel in virtually all cars.

All commercial products claimed to be used in the cars are used, Carter added. The sponsoring organization purchases these commercial products off dealer shelves and puts them in the cars themselves to be assured there is no substitution. Cars are also inspected by the organization to be sure items advertised are being used.

Four area youths escaped injury about 1:15 a. m. Saturday when the car in which they were riding crossed highway 1 and went into a ditch along CAR 78 about one mile east of Thief River Falls.

According to the Pennington county sheriff's department, the car driven by Mark Bruggeman, rural Thief River Falls, was traveling north at the time of the accident. It crossed highway 1 and went straight ahead into the ditch. The continuation of CAR 78 across highway 1 is not aligned with the south section of the road.

'Man is incomprehensible without Nature, and Nature is incomprehensible apart from man. For the delicate loveliness of the flower is as much in the human eye as in its own fragile petals and the splendor of the heavens as much in the imagination that kindles at the touch of their glory as in the shining of countless worlds."

Unskilled—Unemployed

Farm employment during the present harvest season is at a thirty-year low according to an Agriculture Department report. Employment of family and hired workers during the last week of August totaled 7,641,000 compared to 7,993,000 for the week a year ago.

Mechanization has been the big factor in this trend and mechanization in turn has been encouraged by increasing labor costs. Our farms could provide employment for many more workers if the workers were willing to work for what the farmer could afford to pay. That is true for other activities and industries too, and is at the bottom of our national unemployment problem.

Mechanization is responsible for our abundance and our high standard of living. At the bottom of the scale is the unskilled worker. There are few skilled workers on relief. The time to learn a trade is when you ar young. Our laws should not encourage idleness among our youth.

Leader—Not Dictator

Samuel Gompers is generally recognized as the founder of the organized labor movement in our country and under his leadership the labor movement got off to a good start. Gompers was a leader but not a dictator, and it might be in the best interests of the membership if organized labor recognized the importance of that difference. There has been a trend toward control from the top down and it is interesting to know that Gompers cautioned his membership about the dangers such a trend might lead to. He stated:

"There are people in the labor movement who seem to believe that success can only come by entrusting great, yes, absolute power in the hands of an individual or an executive officer. . . .

"Autocracy is as dangerous in our movement as in the state. Mistakes may be made by the masses but they learn to do better by reason of their mistakes. The individual, on the contrary, when having absolute power, rarely makes mistakes, rather commits crime. The man who would arrogate to himself in the labor movement absolute and autocratic power would be a tyrant under other circumstances and has no place in the labor movement."

South Vietnam

James Reston, writing for the New York Times, expresses the opinion that the situation in South Vietnam is confusing to us mainly because we are not getting truthful reporting of the facts. He is not impressed with the administration's handling of the problem.

From the Financial Post, published in Toronto, Canada, we get a somewhat similar reaction. It states:

"The root of the absurd but alarming South Vietnam trouble is a lack of realism about what is actually going on. This is strictly a problem in power politics. It has nothing whatever to do with the salvation of people's immortal souls or the triumph of good over evil.

"Washington thinks that Chinese control of what used to be called Indo-China would be dangerous to American safety. Consequently, and for no other reason, the U. S. is spending $1 million a day to uphold the Diem regime in South Vietnam and help it to defeat the Communist Viet Cong in a civil war.

"As not one American in 100,000 cares a hoot what kind of government South Vietnam has, this operation has to be dressed up as a crusade."

According to the Financial Post, our government, in its representations, has been misstating the facts. It states that the Diem "outfit," a narrow family oligarchy that represents a minority of the population and is not interested in making desirable changes, has been depicted to the U. S. public as a patriotic group battling the Red devil. It charges:

"It was only when the Diems persisted in their outrageous persecution of the Buddists, 70 per cent of South Vietnam's populaton, that President Kennedy was moved to say last week that the government had got "out of touch with the people". This was the understatement of the year. The alienation of the Diems from their subjects is notorious.

"It does not occur to anyone in Washington, or indeed anywhere else, that the South Vietnamese might have an election instead of a war. Perhaps, indeed, this is a far-fetched proposition. The crucial question is not which local potentates rule the small country but which big power is their friend, protector, patron and master.

"The Americans have an agreement with the Russians, tacit but firm, about spheres of influence in Europe. When the Soviet Union suppresses rebellions in Hungary, Poland or East Germany, the U. S. puts on a horrified look but does not intervene.

"What Washington needs is a similar modus vivendi with the Chinese in Asia. But what hope of this while the U. S. perseveres in the ridiculous pretence that the government of China is not in Peking but in Taiwan?"

Campaign Gets Under Way

The Area Redevelopment Administration, which distributes grants of federal aid to areas that have been classified as "distressed," provided some Congressmen with a list of nearly 600 local Chamber of Commerce participants in the agency's program. This list presumably was passed around for the purpose of proving to the lawmakers how great a need there is for the agency's service and liberal appropriation of the taxpayers' dollars.

It is reasonable to presume that most Chambers of Commerce would favor any kind of an appropriation of federal funds to be spent in their own community. The membership of most civic organizations of this type probably would be opposed to the general idea of government grants but would go along on the theory that if the money were to be wasted anyhow, better some of it be wasted in their own back yard. Such a position, obviously wrong, is nevertheless understandable.

The ARA should be recognized for what it is and treated as such. The ARA is a government agency created to provide the Kennedy administration with a campaign-year political organization to solicit votes with public funds. During the next year there will be a large number of small grants of federal aid. The distressed areas are rapidly being expanded.

Race Trouble in St. Paul

Night football games have been ruled out by St. Paul school officials. School superintendent Forrest E. Conner announced postponement of night games normally played at Central Stadium, where, police stated, Negro youths had provoked brawls. Mayor George Vavoulis stated the police will enforce laws regardless of a suspect's race, creed or color. He said the youths in question in these incidents "have done irreparable damage to the cause of the Negro community."

These incidents indicate that the race problems in St. Paul are worsening, and they probably will continue to become increasingly serious as time goes on. The unfortunate fact is that the racial equality the Nego properly seeks is going to be slower in coming largely because of the efforts to secure immediately the changes that must come gradually.

St. Paul schools are not segregated. They were not segregated more than a half a century ago when Negroes attended the schools that we attended in that city. Those politicians, particularly those in Washington who speak for us nationally, who are encouraging speedy reform in the desegregation program are doing a disservice to both the whites and the blacks. They are primarily responsible for the unfortunate incidents that recently disrupted the St. Paul community.

Mass Demonstrations

Mass demonstrations now seem to be the order of the day. They have been approved by our political leaders. Any group that thinks it has a grievance may start marching, or obstructing normal activities by lie-downs or sit-downs. According to the Wall Street Journal, a group of distinguished law professors, headed by teachers of jurisprudence from Harvard and Yale, recently urged that the authorities have a duty to protect any such mob thus disrupting public service from any interference by the police.

The activities of adults in expressing their views in this manner has encouraged youth demonstrations thruout the country, resulting in physical injury and property damage. The newspapers of the nation have space available to report only a small number of the many distrubances of this kind that are occurring with increasing frequency throughout the country.

Which raises the question as to where does this sort of thing, encouraged by Washington, lead to? What is the end of the road? We will go along with the Wall Street Journal in the following conclusion. It says:

"To say that there is a difference between a grown-ups' purposeful parade for worthy causes and a youthful snake-dance for fun doesn't alter the fact that both are revolts against the ordered ways of society. And if it is all right to disregard personal property, to smash things or to trample over other people, in order to express one's frustration, then it is not an easy matter to explain why it is wrong to do these things out of another frustration.

"At any rate, we needn't be surprised that it is hard to explain to the young. If youth is the time of rebellion it is no less true that the youths become adults only by the preceps of their elders."
